Iowa Trucker Killed In I-94 Semi Crash

UNION PIER — A Sioux City, Iowa, truck driver attempting to repair his disabled semi rig was killed early this morning when a second semi crashed into his disabled truck on I-94 north of here.

Proounced dead at the scene of the 5 a.m. crash was Phillip Wren, 26, a driver for Westhoff company, Sioux City, according to state police from the New Buffalo post. Troopers said he suffered massive head and internal injuries.

The driver of the semi, Phillip Branch, 59, of Racine, Wis., was treated at St. Anthony's hospital, Michigan City, Ind., for minor injuries received in the crash and later released, police said.

Troopers said between 140 and 160 pigs in the semi trailer rig driven by Wren escaped after the crash on the interstate, just northeast of the Warren Woods road overpass. Police were attempting to round up the animals late this morning. The death brought this year's Berrien county traffic fatality toll to 50. Police said Wren has pulled his disabled semi rig to the side of the east lanes of the interstate, but part of the trailer remained on the highway and Branch was unable to avoid striking the fog-shrouded trailer.

Wren was under the rig at the time of the crash, apparently attempting to repair a fouled air line that had disabled the brakes to the trailer, troopers said. Troopers said the flat-bed trailer driven by Branch contained a load of steel.

Police said investigation of the crash in Chikaming township is continuing, and that no citations have been issued.

Philadelphians Elect Dead Man

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphians elected a dead man to the city council.

Francis O'Donnell, 55, who died last Thursday of a heart attack while seeking re-election as councilman-at-large, was elected Tuesday in a Democratic sweep of city offices led by Mayor Frank Rizzo.

Democrat Ekes Out Slim Win In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Democrat Cliff Finch has defeated Republican Gil Carmichael in the race for governor of Mississippi, turning back the strongest GOP challenge since Reconstruction.

With 1,751 of 2,133 precincts counted in unofficial returns, Finch had 58.6 per cent of the votes, leading Carmichael 287,336 to 265,281. Black Independent Henry Kirksey of Jackson trailed with 15,114.

Finch followed the mounting returns until the early hours of the morning, then claimed victory and went to bed. "I'm now confident that I've won," the 48-year-old Batesville lawyer said.

Carmichael, however, had refused to concede.

The constitution leaves the election of a governor to the House of Representatives if the top candidate does not get a majority of the popular vote. The modest total of Kirksey dropped both Finch and Carmichael under 50 per cent at times.

However, Finch pulled ahead early today and held his lead when the unofficial count resumed after a break of nearly four hours. In the lieutenant governor's race, Insurance Commissioner Evelyn Gandy became the first woman in the state's history to win the No. 2 post, outpolling Republican Mayor Bill Patrick of Laurel.

The latest vote count had 363,872 votes for Miss Gandy and Patrick 163,139 with 1,716 precincts counted.

The voters in both Kentucky and Mississippi picked women as lieutenant governors Tuesday. But the women's rights cause suffered a stunning setback when voters in New Jersey and New York rejected state versions of the federal Equal Rights Amendment.

With New York's fiscal problems on the minds of voters, a number of large bond issues lost, including a record $4.5 billion package in Ohio, $322 million in New Jersey and $250 million in New York.

The Democrats kept legislative control in four states: Kentucky, Mississippi, New Jersey and Virginia.

As is usual the year before a presidential election, Tuesday's widely scattered contests produced mixed results. There were no national trends and few surprises.

The Republicans had placed their major emphasis on Mississippi. Carmichael, a 48-year-old Meridian businessman, ran a strong race there against Sen. James O. Eastland in 1972. Finch, a Batesville attorney, had been the surprise winner of two rounds of Democratic primaries.

In Kentucky, Democrat Carroll easily won a full four-year term in the post he inherited when his predecessor, Wendell Ford, went to the U.S. Senate. The 44-year-old Carroll, a Paducah attorney and racial moderate, piled up big margins in predominantly Democratic rural areas and held down Republican Robert Gable's expected big margins in the suburbs surrounding Louisville.

Both candidates had deplored the court-ordered busing that

State Dems Vow They'll Block Cuts

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Democrats in the state legislature, claiming Gov. William Milliken has overestimated a pending state deficit, have made it virtually certain they will not approve Milliken's plan to cut $150 million from the budget.

House Speaker Bobby Crim, D-Davison, said the actual deficit facing the state may be up to $55 million less than the $298 million forecast by Milliken.

House and Senate appropriations committees have until Saturday to act on Milliken's order, or it will die. In any event, their assured rejection means the governor will have another month to issue a second order.

The House panel met Tuesday to discuss the fiscal situation and is slated to meet again Thursday. The Senate committee is scheduled to meet today and again on Thursday to act on the order.

Milliken has proposed coupling the $150 million in spending cuts with some $160 million saved by eliminating the Veterans Trust Fund and the state Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund and by revising the fiscal year.

Democrats, who control the legislature, object to Milliken's recommended cuts in social services and education. They indicate they will not propose new ways to meet the deficit but argue instead with his estimate of red ink.

Crim, repeating comments from leading Democrats, said the state Department of Management and Budget has "overly reacted" to the problem.

Crim said Milliken's proposal to add $130 million to welfare spending — part of the deficit — can be trimmed by some $27 million. He said the executive office overestimated the welfare caseload.

He also said he supports carrying on the state's books part of the $48 million owed the state by the federal government.

"More than ever in the past we can expect that $48 million or a goodly portion of it in the fiscal year," he said. The amount has not been carried as income because state officials said they could not credit money they were not sure of receiving.

Crim said that he would favor carrying $25 million to $30 million on the books. Crim also said now ideas may be needed to acquire monies if Milliken's other schemes fail through.

"It will be politically difficult to liquidate the Veterans Trust Fund," Crim said. "Veterans are willing to make some loans, but liquidation will draw the battle lines."

Milliken, meanwhile, said: "There is no painless way to avoid the projected deficit. There are still no serious alternatives to making the hard, tough decision on substantial budget reductions."

His budget director, Gerald Miller, said the administration would stand by the $300 million deficit figure and the $150 in budget cuts. Miller said the governor will not reduce his budget cutting order by the amounts Democrats are discussing.

Beame: Ford Offers Cop-Out, Not Cure

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York Mayor Abraham Beame accused President Ford today of offering "a cop-out, not a cure" for New York City's fiscal ills. He said the President's attacks on New York have "triggered hatred, disunity and confusion."

The mayor said Ford, in criticizing New York, ignored the city's budget-cutting record. He listed payroll deductions, halls in city construction and closings of municipal facilities. He promised further money-saving measures, including a change in the free university system's financing and more hospital closings.

The mayor made his remarks in a speech prepared for delivery before the National Press Club, one day after the disclosure that state officials had come up with enough money to avert default next week.

Beame said that he sought federal guarantees of future loans, but no tax dollars, from the government.

"New York is not asking the federal government or the public for one cent," he said. "On the other hand, default will cost America billions."

Beame's appearance at the club was designed to answer a speech Ford gave there one week ago when he outlined his plan for changing bankruptcy laws to enable the city to continue basic services in the case of a default.

Referring to that speech and other Ford attacks on New York City, Beame said, "The President's response to New York City reflects a kind of bumper sticker philosophy. 'He has used the city of New York as a foil for political slogans from Belgrade to San Francisco and back.'"

Beame added that this has set urban residents against rural Americans and Easterners against Midwesterners.

"The President's prescription for an economic and spiritual purge is a 17th Century remedy," the mayor said. "In 20th Century parlance, it's a copout, not a cure."

"Subjecting America's largest city to humiliation and indignity should be given to the city anyway."

Americans Fear Default Impact

NEW YORK (AP) — By a margin of more than 2 to 1, Americans disagree with President Ford's assertion that a fiscal default by New York City would have only local impact, according to a joint poll by the New York Times and CBS News.

Of the 778 men and women interviewed in hundreds of communities nationwide by telephone, 69 per cent told Times and CBS pollsters that they thought a default by the city would have "an important effect on the economy of the country." Sixteen per cent did not believe the national economy would be affected, and 14 per cent offered no opinion.

In his news conference Monday night, Ford said there was "no serious probability that there will be any national repercussions" from default.

The newspaper suggested that Ford's speech last Wednesday had little of the intended impact since 60 per cent of those who said they had heard the speech or seen reports about it thought aid should be given to the city anyway.

The Times said the sample of 778 persons would be enough to say with 95 per cent certainty that the results would not differ by more than 4 per cent, plus or minus, from the results that would be obtained by interviewing the nation's entire adult population.

Sixty-eight per cent of those surveyed said they thought other cities were having money problems similar to New York. (See back page, sec. 1, col. 1)

Republicans Plot Swainson Ouster

By MALCOLM JOHNSON

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Republican legislative leaders are laying the groundwork for the possible ouster of John Swainson from the state Supreme Court following Swainson's announcement he would not resign.

It was obvious some lawmakers hope Swainson will quit the court and spare the legislature the difficult task of stripping an elected official of his job. Under the state Constitution, the governor must remove a judge if two-thirds of the state House and Senate, pass a resolution of removal "for reasonable cause."

"My initial reaction is to call for Judge Swainson's removal if, after ample opportunity to resign, the justice does not do so," said House Minority Leader Dennis Cawthorne, R-Manistee. Cawthorne said Tuesday he considers a week to 10 days as ample opportunity.

Cawthorne later said the state Judicial Tenure Commission, which reviews punishments for errant judges and lawyers, should be the "prime mover in a removal proceeding."

Senate Republican Leader Robert Davis of Gaylord said he asked the Legislative Services Bureau to draft a concurrent resolution calling for the removal of Swainson, who was convicted on three counts of perjury Sunday by a federal grand jury.

Davis said drafting such a resolution is "a contingency move" and might not be used. (See back page, sec. 1, col. 4)

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Old Faces In New Places At Washington

When Old Siwash U hires a football coach or the Widgets Company engages a president, sooner or later the newcomers replace the holdover staff members of their predecessors.

The new broom may not sweep entirely clean, but eventually those previously on the scene are replaced by underlings with whom the new executive feels a personal rapport. Though his objective is probably identical to the man he supplanted, people can vary widely on how to achieve the goal. This personality difference, plus a gnawing sensation that a holdover could prove to be a fifth columnist, mean a changeover is almost inevitable.

This past week-end, in what is referred to variously as the Sunday Massacre or the Halloween Massacre, President Ford pretty well severed the last ties with the upper level people in the Nixon Administration.

Elliott Richardson comes home from London where as ambassador to England the British and he were beginning to feel mutually uncomfortable. He takes over as Commerce Secretary from Rogers Morton who wants to return to private business.

George Bush returns from a year at Peking as a liaison officer in Red China to head up the CIA. He replaces William Colby whose brief tenure as director has been devoted to minimizing as much as possible Congressional assaults on the agency for executing its intelligence mission too zealously.

Donald Rumsfeld, chief of the White House staff, takes over the Defense Department from James Schlesinger. Henry Kissinger is separated from the dual post of National Security Advisor at the White House but remains as Secretary of State and one of his proteges, Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, steps into the spot vacated by the Secretary.

Coincidental in timing and quite likely in a closer parallel than has been publicly admitted so far, Nelson Rockefeller notified the White House and the country simultaneously he will not seek renomination for the Vice Presidency next year.

Our head scratching as to the significance in this game of musical chairs is that Ford concluded some weeks ago he had too many musicians in the family band tooting discordant notes at one another and the time has arrived to restore the harmony necessary to an election campaign.

Bush and Rumsfeld are old acquaintances from Congressional days. Richardson is newer in the friendship bracket, but a person in whom Ford places confidence.

Colby and Schlesinger have been at odds for some time with Dr. Kissinger over the virtue of detente with Russia, in effect saying the Secretary of State is self hypnotized with the power of conciliation as a better safeguard for American security than a strong military posture.

Whatever thoughts the reader may harbor about Kissinger, the fact remains he is the most skillful talent available at this time to thread the country through the tricky path of avoiding a shooting war to determine which nation is No. 1 in the world.

Additionally, Colby has not been able to mute the unnecessary potshooting at the CIA and Schlesinger's blunt approach with Congress has resulted in less money for national defense.

Rockefeller's withdrawal is his pragmatic recognition that most old line Republicans still regard him as a New Dealer in G.O.P. robes. The man in the street may feel otherwise, as we also do, but Rockefeller's own surveys show most delegates to the '76 national convention would oppose him as Ford's running mate.

Rockefeller's declination should defuse the ultra conservative push under way from Ronald Reagan. At least we believe Ford's intimates hope so because Reagan's presence on the ticket next year, unless all current winds shift direction, would be a repetition of the 1964 disaster between LBJ and Barry Goldwater.

At his television news conference Monday evening, Ford stressed the need for any President to have his own team around him; that he delayed the process until now only because he felt the takeover from Nixon a year ago required a certain continuity in management for at least a minimum period.

His move is identical to those taken by Calvin Coolidge, Harry Truman and Lyndon Johnson when they advanced from Veep to President. Both went on to election in their own right.

Who'll Do That?

Who's going to investigate the CIA? the investigators investigating the CIA?

Demographers Puzzle Over Population Shifts

Population changes in the United States have demographers puzzled. Not only are trends noted a decade ago changing but some of the changes are breaking traditions long noted in earlier surveys. One switch has been highlighted in the Census Bureau's latest five-year study.

Between 1970 and 1975, the major metropolitan areas of the nation lost 1.6 million people due to migration, a sharp reversal of the gain of 352,000 found in the previous five-year period. Southern states have been the major beneficiaries of this migration, with the West coming in second.

Another surprising break with what had been a long-standing tradition was the discovery that 51.5 percent of the population in the latest survey still lived in the same houses they occupied five years earlier. That trend was first noted in the 1965-1970 period, when the figure was 52.9 percent.

Previous to that Americans had been setting some kind of world records for mobility, with about one of five changing residences each year. The mobility rates in other major industrial nations long have been considerably lower than the American experience.

Census Bureau demographers are reluctant to assess population changes now occurring, contenting themselves with just keeping up with the changes. If new patterns are merging some of them at least are not yet clear enough to pinpoint.

Business Is Too Diverse For Code, Says IBM Chief

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) —

"American business today is too diversified to operate under a universal code of business conduct," Frank T. Cary, chairman of International Business Machines Corp., said.

"More practical," he said, "would be a code of business conduct written by each company." Or perhaps, he conceded, an industry code might be possible. But an over-all standard, in his view, would be riddled with exceptions.

IBM, perhaps more than any other company, has a reputation for spirited but highly disciplined efficiency, and for establishing behavioral rules for its 290,000 employees.

A variety of social activists are calling for such a code, following accounts of illegal political contributions, payments to foreign agents to obtain preferential treatment and other scandals.

In an interview, Cary suggested that attempts to establish a common code would become bogged in details that might obscure the general intent, but he reaffirmed his belief in individual company codes.

In formulating written codes, sometimes to avoid legal pitfalls and consumer complications, some companies find they are articulating for the first time their underlying spirit and over-all goals.

IBM's code ranges from broad, idealistic statements to legally detailed commands.

Underlying all seems to be a statement in 1962 by Tom Watson Jr., son of the founder, in a McKinsey Foundation Lecture at Columbia University.

"The basic philosophy, spirit, and drive of an organization," he said, "have far more to do with its relative achievements than do technological or economic resources, organizational structure, innovation, and timing."

A top that are three "basic beliefs": Respect for the individual; the best customer service possible and "excellence" in the pursuit of goals.

Specifics are contained in an 84-page book entitled "Business Conduct Guidelines," the contents of which all managers and many others must, on a yearly basis, certify they understand.

The punch card accompanying the book requires the employee to put his signature below a phrase stating, "I recognize that any violation of these guidelines may be cause for dismissal from the company."

The fine, as Cary views it, must be stiff. And there should be no exceptions to its application, even if the individual is an officer or another essential employee.

"An ethical code must be the personal concern of the chief executive," he said. "It isn't worth much if it isn't developed at that level." The ideas might come from below, he said, but the responsibility must come from the top.

It must also be understood, "It's easy to make statements," he continued, "but then they must be communicated." If the chief executive is to have his code implemented, it must be understood that it isn't simply a pro forma document.

The Unlikeliest Victim Of My Lai

COLUMBUS, Ga. — There is a sometimes notion in this part of the republic that William Calley should go into politics. Someone at a dinner party, for example, got the idea, loudly, and laid a dream ticket on the guests: George Wallace and Rusty Calley, the all-America team, or at least all a part of that America capable of inventing such potentialities.

The suggestion is inevitably sobered by realities, however. Though Calley has given thought to politics, and almost any other way to earn a living, he is at the moment and possibly forever forbidden from doing so. As a federally convicted murderer of "not less than 22 Vietnamese civilians," in My Lai, South Vietnam, he is barred from holding public office. Besides this, neither major party here shows any interest whatsoever in promoting his candidacy.

If he could run, however, he would doubtless receive a substantial vote from that portion of the citizenry that clings to the philosophy that he is something special. Seven years after the murders, four years after his sentence to life imprisonment and a year after his eventual release from confinement, Calley remains a symbol to many, a hero to some. "I can see him as a congressman," says a Columbus councilman, "we could use more of what he stands for in Washington."

His Tennessee attorney says he is technically available for appearances if the price is right ($1,500 per speech, five figures for television), but other than this he is, almost eerily, seldom even seen anymore.

Acquaintances say Calley is hermitical for reasons of self defense. He fears media exploitation, commenting once to local newsmen Jack Swift that he resented reporters poking into such matters as his sex life. Calley told Swift the world should just "let me die." Calley has told others here that he simply wants to "build a new life." His Tennessee lawyer, J. Houston Gordon, says the one-time infantryman has run away from the gossip invasion of his person.

Until recently, according to local attorney, Kenneth Henson, Calley was working for a contracting firm. He did some manual labor and some office clerking. "But I understand the company got into financial difficulties," says Henson. Currently, Calley lives on fees paid for public appearances (one estimate is $20,000 this year). There is speculation he also receives small amounts of money from Americans who hear from time to time that he is in heavy debt (his legal bills are substantial but otherwise he is alright).

His friends say he would like to go into a partnership with a "sugar daddy," possibly the restaurant business. The same friends say he is embittered because, of the more than 100 people involved in the 1968 assault on My Lai, he alone has to hide away with little future prospect. His captain, Ernest Medina, is growing moderately wealthy in the helicopter industry; his colonel, Oren Henderson, now has a flashy job with the Pennsylvania Bicentennial Commission. Calley feels he is thus a victim of My Lai, almost as much as the dead.

He has one hope, a friend says, and it is that the Supreme Court will yet hear his petition, and reverse his conviction. That prospect, however, is faint. Thus Lt. William Calley, the best known soldier of Vietnam, continues to live in a kind of at-large prison of his past.

Doubts Growing Over Ford Future

WASHINGTON — The trouble with President Ford, some of his key advisers now believe, is that he clings to the notion he can sit in the Oval Office and order things done — and they will automatically happen.

The lack of forceful Presidential follow-through is rapidly emerging as a major problem both for his Administration and his 1976 campaign. The President insists upon cutting Federal expenditures, yet his departments grow larger and more expensive. He talks about running an open Administration, but it is less forthcoming than Lyndon Johnson's.

For the moment, this particular gap in the Ford style is most painfully apparent in his campaign. The President officially entered the contest nearly four months ago, after months of semi-announcements and semi-planning conferences. Then he proceeded to spend most of his time traveling, as if he felt he had to remind the country that he was really the President. In the meantime, nobody was doing much of anything about organizing a campaign.

Campaign advisers now concede that two wrong assumptions were made. First, the President assumed he could scare Ronald Reagan out of the race with a flurry of surface activity. Second, he assumed that his old Congressional ties would provide him with a ready-made national organization.

Neither event has occurred. In fact, the situation is now so gloomy that Ford's major advisers acknowledge that he might lose the first primary in New Hampshire and the third in Florida to Reagan.

In an effort to get his campaign moving, the President dumped his deputy campaign manager and launched a well-publicized search for a new one several weeks ago. The job is still empty.

The President's first choice for the post was Lamar Alexander, a Southerner, reflecting Ford's preoccupation with the Reagan challenge. But Alexander, who was defeated last year for Governor of Tennessee, turned him down cold, despite a cozy private lunch in the White House with just the President, campaign manager Howard Callaway, and campaign liaison and staff chief Donald Rumsfeld. Alexander later told friends he didn't want to be involved because he thinks Ford is going to lose the nomination.

The President's campaign meanwhile is in something of a holding pattern. A weekly report on the operation is sent to Rumsfeld. Callaway talks to the President every week or so. But campaign strategists feel the President isn't yet paying enough attention to the task. "Richard Nixon was on the telephone every day to somebody trying to get this or that done," one adviser observed. "We never hear from Ford."

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco had a quiet night without any significant change in his condition, his doctors reported this morning.

A medical bulletin Tuesday night said the 82-year-old Spanish leader was recovering normally from the stomach surgery performed Monday night. But it said there were signs of phlebitis — a blood clot — in his left thigh and signs of a recurrence of the abdominal dropsy which he experienced last week.

Old Faces In New Places At Washington

When Old Siwash U hires a football coach or the Widgets Company engages a president, sooner or later the newcomers replace the holdover staff members of their predecessors.

The new broom may not sweep entirely clean, but eventually those previously on the scene are replaced by underlings with whom the new executive feels a personal rapport. Though his objective is probably identical to the man he supplanted, people can vary widely on how to achieve the goal. This personality difference, plus a gnawing sensation that a holdover could prove to be a fifth columnist, mean a changeover is almost inevitable.

This past week-end, in what is referred to variously as the Sunday Massacre or the Hallowe'en Massacre, President Ford pretty well severed the last ties with the upper level people in the Nixon Administration.

Elliott Richardson comes home from London where as ambassador to England the British and he were beginning to feel mutually uncomfortable. He takes over as Commerce Secretary from Rogers Morton who wants to return to private business.

George Bush returns from a year at Peking as a liaison officer in Red China to head up the CIA. He replaces William Colby whose brief tenure as director has been devoted to minimizing as much as possible Congressional assaults on the agency for executing its intelligence mission too zealously.

Donald Rumsfeld, chief of the White House staff, takes over the Defense Department from James Schlesinger.

Henry Kissinger is separated from the dual post of National Security Advisor at the White House but remains as Secretary of State and one of his proteges, Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, steps into the spot vacated by the Secretary.

Coincidental in timing and quite likely in a closer parallel than has been publicly admitted so far, Nelson Rockefeller notified the White House and the country simultaneously he will not seek renomination for the Vice Presidency next year.

Our head scratching as to the significance in this game of musical chairs is that Ford concluded some weeks ago he had too many musicians in the family band tooting discordant notes at one another and the time has arrived to restore the harmony necessary to an election campaign.

Bush and Rumsfeld are old acquaintances from Congressional days. Richardson is newer in the friendship bracket, but a person in whom Ford places confidence.

Colby and Schlesinger have been at odds for some time with Dr. Kissinger over the virtue of detente with Russia, in effect saying the Secretary of State is self hypnotized with the power of conciliation as a better safeguard for American security than a strong military posture.

Whatever thoughts the reader may harbor about Kissinger, the fact remains he is the most skillful talent available at this time to thread the country through the tricky path of avoiding a shooting war to determine which nation is No. 1 in the world.

Additionally, Colby has not been able to mute the unnecessary potshooting at the CIA and Schlesinger's blunt approach with Congress has resulted in less money for national defense.

Rockefeller's withdrawal is his pragmatic recognition that most old line Republicans still regard him as a New Dealer in G.O.P. robes. The man in the street may feel otherwise, as we also do, but Rockefeller's own surveys show most delegates to the '76 national convention would oppose him as Ford's running mate.

Rockefeller's declination should defuse the ultra conservative push under way from Ronald Reagan. At least we believe Ford's intimates hope so because Reagan's presence on the ticket next year, unless all current winds shift direction, would be a repetition of the 1964 disaster between LBJ and Barry Goldwater.

At his television news conference Monday evening, Ford stressed the need for any President to have his own team around him; that he delayed the process until now only because he felt the takeover from Nixon a year ago required a certain continuity in management for at least a minimum period.

His move is identical to those taken by Calvin Coolidge, Harry Truman and Lyndon Johnson when they advanced from Veep to President. Both went on to election in their own right.

Who'll Do That?

Who's going to investigate the investigators investigating the CIA?

Demographers Puzzle Over Population Shifts

Population changes in the United States have demographers puzzled. Not only are trends noted a decade ago changing but some of the changes are breaking traditions long noted in earlier surveys. One switch has been highlighted in the Census Bureau's la-

Shepherd Unseats Brown

Joseph Wins Second BH Mayor Term 3-1

Benton Harbor Mayor Charles F. Joseph was elected to a second term by more than a 3-1 margin and incumbent commissioner Carl Brown was unseated by Charles Shepherd in Tuesday's municipal election.

Unofficial returns showed Joseph with 1,119 votes to 384 for challenger Wilce Cooke. Joseph outpolled Cooke in each of the city's 10 precincts.

Shepherd ousted Brown for the Second Ward commission seat by an unofficial tally of 151 to 121.

Joseph had outpolled Cooke 874 to 211 in the Aug. 5 primary election and had received the backing of world heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, who recently purchased an 80-acre estate near Berrien Springs.

Shepherd will join Barbara Huckaby as newcomers on the commission when they take office Dec. 1. Incumbents won election to four other commission seats that were contested.

Mrs. Huckaby and incumbent Charles Yarbrough won the two four-year commissioner-at-large seats up for election, each with 630 votes. Defeated were Annie Lee Robinson, with 524 votes, and Elias McGraw, with 514.

Voter turnout for the election was described as "average" with 1,587 of the city's 7,408 registered voters, or about 21 per cent, going to the polls to vote.

The election, in which a majority of the candidates aligned themselves under two party banners, dealt a blow to the Common Sense group of candidates.

Of the four candidates on the Common Sense ticket, only incumbent Commissioner Yarbrough was elected. Brown, Mrs. Robinson and Ocie Mitchell were defeated.

Mitchell was defeated by Incumbent Alfred Williams for the Fourth Ward commission seat, 133 to 78.

Four of the six candidates on the Clean Slate group were elected. Joseph, Shepherd, Mrs. Huckaby and Williams won, while Helen Ford and McGraw were defeated.

The two independents in the commission race, incumbents Edmond Eaman and Arnold Bolin were elected.

Batman defeated Mrs. Ford, 183 to 93, to retain his seat as First Ward commissioner. Mrs. Ford announced she was withdrawing from the commission race Oct. 23 to keep her seat on the Berrien county social services board but her name remained on the ballot.

Bolin, who was unopposed in the two-year commissioner-at-large race, received 776 votes. A write-in candidate for the post, Willie T. Burton, received 44 votes.

Also elected were city supervisors from each ward, who serve as the board of review, and a candidate for constable. Elected unopposed were Telles J. Carter, First Ward, with 188 votes; James Dudley, Second Ward, with 181 votes; Elizabeth Minott, Third Ward, with 312 votes, and Wilbert Smith, Fourth Ward, write-in candidate with four votes. Richard Garlanger was re-elected constable.

Shigellosis Outbreak Worries Officials

The Berrien County Health department and the City of Benton Harbor have launched a campaign to combat a rising tide of Shigellosis, a dysentery-type disease that is reaching serious proportions in the city and Benton township.

Shigellosis is a contagious disease that is transmitted because of poor sanitation and inadequate personal hygiene.

Jermine A. Erickson, acting director of the county health department, said the disease is spread when infected human feces come in contact with food or objects that are put in the mouth.

Erickson said that 57 cases of the disease have been reported in Berrien county since July this year, compared to only 7 cases during the same period in 1974. Of this year's total, 46 have been in the Benton Harbor area.

Erickson also noted that as of Oct. 17, Berrien county had more reported cases of Shigellosis than any other governmental unit in the state except the City of Detroit.

V. Harry Adronico, county environmental health director, said the health department in conjunction with the city government, will be conducting a massive education program for personal hygiene in Benton Harbor area schools. Funds will also be sought from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) in a program to improve housing and living conditions in an effort to "break the chain" of the disease.

Dr. Richard Hirschler, acting medical director for the county health department, said people can have Shigellosis without being sick, but that it often causes diarrhea, fever, vomiting and cramps. Dr. Hirschler said any person having the symptoms should contact his family doctor. All doctors are required by law to report cases of Shigellosis to the county health department.

Dr. Hirschler said about 1 per cent of the people infected with Shigellosis become seriously ill and occasionally the disease is fatal. Eighty per cent of the cases reported are children 12 years old or younger, he said.

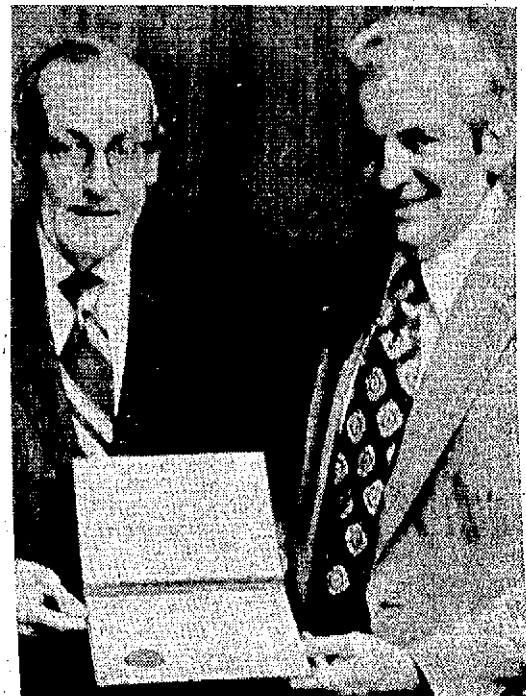

Joan Eberly, director of nurses for the health department, said the health department has conducted an exhaustive study to determine a common source of the disease, but found that the disease "appears to be transmitted on a person-to-person basis at this point."

Adronico said the health department has also studied water samples of Ox creek and the Hamilton drain to determine if water supplies were linked with the Shigellosis outbreak. Although both streams were found not to be contaminated with the disease, Adronico said the health department found both streams to contain human sewage and cautioned residents not to fish or wade in the water.

Officials from the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) are currently working with city officials to clean up the two streams, he said.

The health department concluded that Shigellosis is being spread from infected persons to non-infected persons via feces-contaminated hands, food or utensils. The health department and city officials urged the cooperation of the community to take extra precautions by following strict personal hygiene habits to include the washing of hands after changing infants' diapers, after using the toilet and before preparing food.

BH Pension Board Rejects Russell's $10,000 Appeal

William Russell's pension will remain unchanged according to a decision by the Benton Harbor general pension board yesterday.

Russell, 69, former superintendent of both the Benton Harbor water department and the Twin Cities sewage disposal plant, had appealed to the board for approximately $10,000 he said was owed to him because he was retired under the wrong pension category 16 years ago.

The board voted 5-0 to deny Russell's appeal. Russell said he would take the matter to court.

According to city records, Russell's pension was set at $374 a month when he retired in 1958 and he has been receiving that amount since that time.

The main issue at yesterday's special meeting was a letter received from Dr. William A. Decker, medical superintendent at Kalamazoo State hospital where Russell was a patient after leaving his superintendent job.

At an Oct. 14 meeting of the pension board a decision on Russell's case was postponed until written testimony from the State hospital could be verified.

An excerpt from a letter signed by Dr. Decker which came up at the meeting is as follows:

"In my opinion, the heavy weight of job responsibilities was the major factor in his (Russell's) break (illness), and that the family matters were merely 'the straw to break the camel's back'."

Russell claims he received a general pension when he retired and should have been granted a job incurred disability pension and the reason he wasn't granted the correct pension was because of mistakes made by pension board members at that time.

Russell's counsel, Atty. Robert Small, was also present at the meeting and stated the letter brought up at yesterday's hearing should present conclusive evidence "to correct the mistake" made against his client.

City Manager Charles Morrison, chairman of the pension board, said he did not think the evidence was conclusive.

Russell strongly voiced his disapproval of Morrison's handling of the whole matter.

Morrison said his decision was not based on Russell's record as an employee. He said Russell was a valuable employee and gave the city many good years, but the evidence presented was not conclusive to warrant a change in the pension.

Russell was water superintendent for 23 years in Benton Harbor and said the pension decision only involves his retirement from that position. He retired on April 1, 1958, and was ill for some years before and after his retirement. He resides at route 4, Coloma township.

Those in attendance representing the pension board and voting against Russell's pension appeal were Mayor Charles Joseph, Louise Merrill, Jack M. Mulder, Sr., current Benton Harbor water superintendent, Morrison and City Commissioner Carl Brown.

Absent from the meeting was board member City Commissioner Charles Yarbrough.

Firemen Extinguish Auto Blaze

Tri-Unit firemen early today extinguished a car fire that completely destroyed the front area of a car driven by Jill Bul-ton, 7928 Lakewood drive, Coloma township, on the Stevensville exit ramp from I-94. She told firemen she ran over what appeared to be discarded trash just before the fire started in the 1968 Cadillac. Firemen said they believe heat from the muffler ignited the trash that caught under the car. She was not injured in the blaze that occurred shortly after midnight.

Woman Is Hospitalized By Crash

A Benton Heights woman was hospitalized Tuesday as the result of injuries she received when her car hit an abutment of the bridge over Blue creek on Red Arrow highway a mile west of Euclid avenue, Benton township police said.

Listed in "serious" condition today at Mercy hospital was Helen E. Rule, 58, of 605 Gestner road. Sgt. James Lester said her car apparently went out of control. She was reported alone in the auto and no ticket was issued in the 7:25 a.m. accident, Lester said.

BH School Board Protests Cuts To Lawmakers

In a strongly-worded telegram to state lawmakers Monday, the Benton Harbor Area Schools board of education said Gov. William G. Milliken's budget cutting proposals will cause "financial chaos" for the local school district.

E. E. Bentley, President of the Board, said in the telegram that school district budget officials have estimated the possible reduction in the education budget — some $48 million statewide — would mean a loss in revenues for the Benton Harbor schools of about $300,000.

"We have adopted a tight and reasonable budget for fiscal year 1975-76, one that already reflects adjustments because of our stagnating economy and continuing inflation," said Bentley, who indicated he was speaking for the entire board. "However, the Governor's suggested budget cuts would, by our best estimates, strip us of some $300,000, a sum which cannot be absorbed in our $16 million budget without possibly eliminating some educational programs."

While requesting a review of alternatives available to the lawmakers, the Board President noted that "the alternatives provide no easy choices." "Now sources of revenue, cutbacks in state expenditures for non-essential services, and tightening of budget controls should all be examined before budget cuts leave school systems all across the state with little more than four walls for a classroom, and no revenue to support educational programs for our students."

"We must examine our priorities once again, and place our financial resources firmly behind our greatest natural resource, and our greatest hope for the future — Michigan school children."

St. Joe Business Report Due Nov. 13

An updated report on a preliminary marketing and public relations survey on needs of the St. Joseph business area will be reviewed during a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 13, at St. Joseph Holiday Inn.

The meeting will be a followup to an initial report meeting last September, and all St. Joseph commercial landlords and tenants are urged to attend.

Wayne Ransbottom, manager of the St. Joseph Business association, reminded that the survey was done for the association by Telgroup, a St. Joseph marketing and public relations firm. Ransbottom said the survey is not connected to another being done for the city commission by Barton Aschman. The Barton Aschman survey deals with city parking building structures and street patterns and was commissioned under the city's federal Community Development project.

The Telgroup preliminary survey is a start toward a broader plan aimed at improving retailing in St. Joseph.

St. Joe FOP Opposes Solicitation For Ads

The St. Joseph Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) lodge, today announced it does not endorse telephone solicitations for advertisements to be placed in a magazine called "Peace Officer Magazine."

Andrew Novikoff, president of Lodge 98, said area businesses are being contacted by representatives of the magazine seeking ads. He said the magazine is a legitimate publication of the state FOP lodge but has a circulation generally only among FOP members.

Novikoff said the solicitor allegedly "suggests that by placing an ad in the magazine, the businessman would be repaying the local police for favors received."

"The St. Joseph FOP lodge has never sanctioned this type of solicitation, and in fact has gone on record as opposing them," Novikoff stressed. He also noted the lodge's fund raising activities have been limited to a dance each spring.

Shepherd Unseats Brown

Joseph Wins Second BH Mayor Term 3-1

Benton Harbor Mayor Charles F. Joseph was elected to a second term by more than a 3-1 margin and incumbent commissioner Carl Brown was unseated by Charles Shepherd in Tuesday's municipal election.

Unofficial returns showed Joseph with 1,119 votes to 384 for challenger Wilce Cooke. Joseph outpolled Cooke in each of the city's 10 precincts.

Shepherd ousted Brown for the Second Ward commission seat by an unofficial tally of 151 to 121.

Joseph had outpolled Cooke 874 to 211 in the Aug. 5 primary election and had received the backing of world heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, who recently purchased an 80-acre estate near Berrien Springs.

Shepherd will join Barbara Huckaby as newcomers on the commission when they take office Dec. 1. Incumbents won election to four other commission seats that were contested.

Mrs. Huckaby and incumbent Charles Yarbrough won the two four-year commissioner-at-large seats up for election, each with 630 votes. Defeated were Annie Lee Robinson, with 524 votes, and Elias McGrew, with 514.

Voter turnout for the election was described as "average" with 1,567 of the city's 7,406 registered voters, or about 21 per cent, going to the polls to vote.

The election, in which a majority of the candidates aligned themselves under two party banners, dealt a blow to the Common Sense group of candidates.

Of the four candidates on the Common Sense ticket, only incumbent Commissioner Yarbrough was elected. Brown, Mrs. Robinson and Ocie Mitchell were defeated.

Mitchell was defeated by Incumbent Alfred Williams for the Fourth Ward commission seat, 133 to 78.

Four of the six candidates on the Clean Slate group were elected. Joseph, Shepherd, Mrs. Huckaby and Williams won, while Helen Ford and McGrew were defeated.

The two independents in the commission race, incumbents Edmund Eaman and Arnold Bolin were elected.

Eaman defeated Mrs. Ford, 193 to 93, to retain his seat as First Ward commissioner. Mrs. Ford announced she was withdrawing from the commission race Oct. 23 to keep her seat on the Berrien county social services board but her name remained on the ballot.

Bolin, who was unopposed in the two-year commissioner-at-large race, received 776 votes. A write-in candidate for the post, Willie T. Burton, received 44 votes.

Also elected were city supervisors from each ward, who serve as the board of review, and a candidate for constable. Elected unopposed were Telles J. Carter, First Ward, with 188 votes; James Dudley, Second Ward, with 181 votes; Elizabeth Minott, Third Ward, with 312 votes, and Wilbert Smith, Fourth Ward, write-in candidate with four votes. Richard Garlanger was re-elected constable.

MONDAY MUSICAL CLUB Scholarship Luncheon

By ARLYS DERRICK Women's Editor

The high degree in excellence of performance by area music students was emphasized at Monday Musical club's annual scholarship luncheon Nov. 3.

Both the performances by members of St. Joseph high school string orchestra and the reports of the three students awarded scholarships to music camp this past summer by Monday Musical highlighted the training available in the area.

Mrs. Elden W. Butzbaugh introduced Sue Griswold who attended Blue Lake camp near Muskegon and Tom Kelzer who attended Interlochen, and read a letter from Katie Byrns, also an Interlochen student.

The impressive work of the string orchestra included Rondo Presto, adapted from the familiar Haydn string quartet No. 72, Opus 33, 3; and Concerto Grosso in D by Geminiani with a solo string quartet of Ruth DeVries, Reinhard Brandt, Wendy Orth, and Laura Roup with Becky Rohring, accompanist, and Fred Erbach as director.

Miss DeVries and Miss Roup, violinists, performed Johann Sebastian Bach's Concerto in D Minor with Keith Vierge as accompanist and Miss DeVries with Terri Mitchell accompanying, played Philip Emmanuel Bach's Andante and Ovide Musin's Mexicana.

Monday Musical members Sally Warner and Joan Stafford, both accomplished performers, presented the rest of the program.

Mrs. Warner, charmingly costumed, beautifully sang The King Of Thule and the famous Jewel Song from Faust, and in contrast in tempo, she sang Symphony in Yellow by American impressionist composer Charles Griffes and The Buckle by Arthur Bliss, modern conservative composer. Carolyn Nickel was her accompanist.

Mrs. Stafford displayed her skill on the trumpet with two contrasting pieces: Fantaisie in Mi Flat, by J. Edward Barat, late 18th century French composer, and Leroy Anderson's popular and familiar Bugler's Holiday. She was accompanied by Georgianna Conrad.

Art work displayed included watercolors by Robert Catania and hand blown glass by Jerry Catania.

MONDAY MUSICAL CLUB

Scholarship Luncheon

By ARLYS DERRICK
Women's Editor

The high degree in excellence of performance by area music students was emphasized at Monday Musical club's annual scholarship luncheon Nov. 3.

Both the performances by members of St. Joseph high school string orchestra and the reports of the three students awarded scholarships to music camp this past summer by Monday Musical highlighted the training available in the area.

Mrs. Elden W. Butzbaugh introduced Sue Griswold who attended Blue Lake camp near Muskegon and Tom Keizer who attended Interlochen, and read a letter from Katie Byrns, also an Interlochen student.

The impressive work of the string orchestra included Rondo Presto, adapted from the familiar Haydn string quartet No. 72, Opus 33, 3, and Concerto Grosso in D by Geminiani with a solo string quartet of Ruth DeVries, Reinhard Brandt, Wendy Orth, and Laura Roop with Becky Rohring, accompanist, and Fred Erbach as director.

Miss DeVries and Miss Roop, violinists, performed Johann

Sebastian Bach's Concerto in D Minor with Keith Vierende as accompanist and Miss DeVries with Terri Mitchell accompanying, played Philip Emmanuel Bach's Andante and Ovide Musin's Mexicana.

Monday Musical members Sally Warner and Joan Stafford, both accomplished performers, presented the rest of the program.

Mrs. Warner, charmingly costumed, beautifully sang The King Of Thule and the famous Jewel Song from Faust, and in contrast in tempo, she sang Symphony in Yellow by American impressionist composer Charles Griffes and The Buckle by Arthur Bliss, modern conservative composer. Carolyn Nickel was her accompanist.

Mrs. Stafford displayed her skill on the trumpet with two contrasting pieces: Fantaisie in Mi Flat, by J. Edward Barat, late 19th century French composer, and Leroy Anderson's popular and familiar Bugler's Holiday. She was accompanied by Georgianna Conrad.

Art work displayed included watercolors by Robert Catania and hand blown glass by Jerry Catania.

Versatile Ground Beef Dominates Today's Menus

There are stuffed baked potatoes and there are stuffed baked potatoes. Meat-filled potato halves make a main dish that is complete, with a fresh green salad and a treat such as a deep dish apple pie. The potato filling includes ground beef, American cheese, chives and dill.

DOUBLE DECK POTATO BOATS

3 large baking potatoes
1 pound ground beef
1 cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
1/2 cup catsup
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dill weed
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup grated American cheese

1 teaspoon chopped chives
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Wash potatoes and cut in half lengthwise. From each half cut a lengthwise v-shaped wedge leaving about one quarter-inch of potato around top edge. Wrap each half in foil; wrap cut-out centers together. Place in shallow baking pan and bake in preheated 375 degree oven for 20 minutes. Meanwhile combine beef, oats, catsup, mustard, salt, dill weed and pepper in bowls; mix well. Shape to form six logs about three and one-half inches long.

Place meat log in center of each potato; close foil over meat and continue baking 40 minutes or until potatoes are soft and meat is cooked. To serve, mash cooked potato centers. Add cheese, chives and butter; mix well. Open each potato-meat log package. Top each serving with mashed potato mixture. Return to oven a few minutes to warm topping, if desired. Remove from foil and garnish with a "cheese flag."

(NOTE: Potatoes and meat may be prepared over grill. Baking times will vary.) Makes six servings.

If you're tired of ground beef in hamburgers or meat loaf, try Polynesian Meatballs for a pleasant change of pace. These savory balls of beef combine the flavors and textures of beef, enriched bread cubes, onion, almonds and soy.

Couple that with their versatility, and you've got it made. Make large meatballs for dinner; small meatballs for appetizers. The sauce is something else — and all good — perked up with green pepper and pineapple chunks.

Another advantage of Polynesian Meatballs is that they provide good nutrition at down-to-earth prices. Served as an entrée, all you need to add is your choice of rice or noodles and a vegetable or green salad.

POLYNESIAN MEATBALLS

4 to 6 servings
1 pound lean ground beef
1 1/2 cups enriched bread cubes
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped almonds
3 tablespoons soy sauce, in two parts

1 tablespoon water
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon oil
1 can (13 1/4-oz.) crushed pineapple

1 to 2 tablespoons vinegar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1 green pepper, chopped

Rice

Combine ground beef, bread cubes, eggs, onion, almonds, one tablespoon of the soy sauce, water and pepper. Shape into balls about 1 1/2-inches in diameter. Brown quickly in hot oil; reduce heat and simmer about 15 minutes, turning frequently. Remove from pan. Drain fat. Drain juice from pineapple and add enough water to make 1 1/2 cups liquid. Heat pineapple juice with vinegar. Combine cornstarch and two tablespoons soy sauce; add to pineapple mixture. Stir constantly until mixture is bubbly and thickened. Gently stir in pineapple, green pepper and meatballs; heat thoroughly. Serve over hot rice.

Note: For more of a texture variety, use pineapple chunks and cut the green pepper into slivers.

Build a buffet menu around hearty meatball sandwiches. Recipe for Berliner meatballs is right out of a San Francisco delicatessen and has that characteristic sweet-sour flavor so popular in German cooking. It calls for both natural dark and golden raisins and the meatballs require little attention as they bake, without pre-browning, in stewed tomatoes. Serve warm or cold.

BERLINER MEATBALL SANDWICH

1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
1/4 cup each natural dark and golden raisins

1 egg, slightly beaten
Salt and pepper
1 can (1-lb.) stewed tomatoes
2 tablespoons brown sugar
6 large round rolls

Butter
German-style mustard
Dill pickle slices
Shape six large meatballs with ground meat, bread crumbs, raisins, egg and seasoning. Place in greased casserole. Pour stewed tomatoes over meatballs and sprinkle with brown sugar. Bake, uncovered, at 400 degrees 45 minutes. Split buns and hollow some of the bread from centers. Spread with butter and mustard and set a meatball in each roll. Top with a little of the sauce left in the baking dish and a slice of pickle. Makes six sandwiches.

It used to be woman's place was in the home. It's not true anymore. Now many women work outside the home.

If you're one of them, you probably need all the help you can get at mealtime. With a little planning and day-ahead preparation, you can have dinner on the table with a minimum of effort.

The Working Woman's Meat Loaf was developed with this in mind. It's a special meat loaf because it has a spiraled stuffing of colorful vegetables and zesty cheese. Shredded wheat bite-sized biscuits help stretch the meat portion. Prepare the loaf the evening before and chill in the pan. You may want to leave baking instructions if you're not the first to arrive home.

THE WORKING WOMAN'S MEAT LOAF

2 pounds ground beef chuck
2 cups shredded wheat bite-sized biscuits, finely rolled (about 1 cup crumbs)
1/2 cup ketchup
1/4 cup grated onion
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper

1 (10-oz.) package frozen mixed vegetables, cooked and drained
3 ounces Cheddar cheese, grated (3/4 cup)

Mix first seven ingredients lightly but thoroughly. On piece of wax paper, pat mixture evenly into a 16 by 10-inch rectangle. Spoon vegetables over surface to within one inch of edges; top with grated cheese. Starting from narrow edge, lift wax paper and roll meat jelly-roll fashion. Seal ends and seam by pinching together. Place seam side down on piece of aluminum foil 18 inches long; lower into a nine by five by three-inch loaf pan. (If desired, seal edges of foil over loaf and chill. Before baking, unwrap foil.) Fold foil back over outside of pan. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) about one hour and 15 minutes, or until done. Let stand in pan 10 to 15 minutes. Use foil to lift onto serving platter; remove foil. Makes eight (about 6 1/2-oz.) servings.

The English always have been known for their frugality. And, a shepherd's pie with its mixture of leftover beef or lamb, surrounded or topped with mashed potatoes and baked a golden brown certainly is a way to stretch pennies.

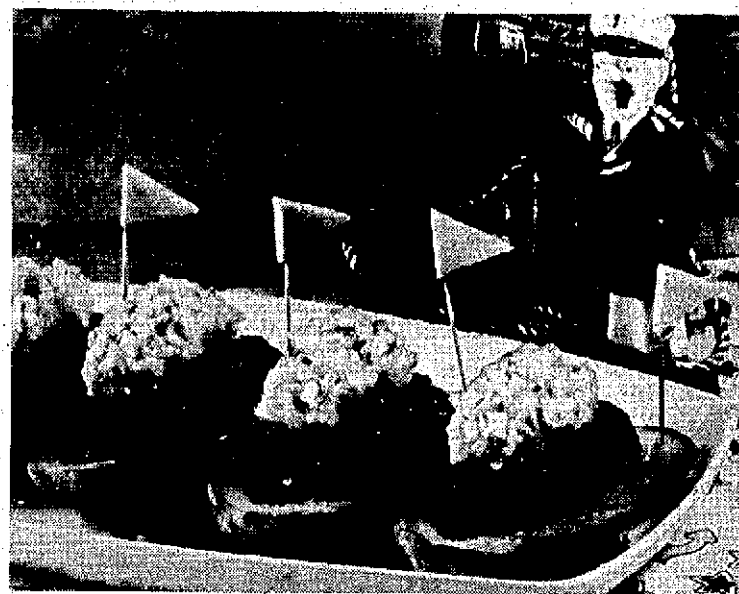

VERY ENGLISH SHEPHERD'S PIE

2 tablespoons beef drippings or salad oil

1/2 cup chopped onion
1 1/2 pounds ground lean beef
1 can (8-oz.) tomato sauce
1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons water
1 envelope instant mashed potatoes or three cups mashed potatoes

In a large skillet heat drippings. Add onion; saute for 1 minute. Add ground beef. Cook and stir until browned; about 5 minutes. Stir in tomato sauce, Worcestershire sauce, parsley and salt. Bring to boiling point. Blend flour with water. Blend into beef mixture. Cook and stir until mixture thickens slightly, about one minute. Pour into 1 to 1.5-quart casserole; set aside. Prepare mashed potatoes as label directs. Spread over beef mixture. Score top of potatoes with tines of fork. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until potatoes are lightly browned, about 10 minutes. Makes 6 portions.

Better Diet Aids Heart

Times and customs change. But many people do not realize that our diet patterns change along with other factors.

Dr. George Christakis, epidemiologist and nutritionist, is vitally interested today in the effect of nutritional excesses and deprivation on heart disease. He believes that times have changed greatly but that few people realize that diets are changing, too.

"Diet and heart disease are related in many ways," he says. "Coronary heart disease has swept this country like a plague. It kills more people than anything else we suffer from. But recently, the picture has changed. It is not caused by any one factor, but rather by a complex of factors," he explains.

Formerly professor of Community Medicine at Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York, and now clinical professor of epidemiology at Miami School of Medicine, he is deep in studies of the effect of what we eat on our coronary system.

"The concept of risk factors in coronary heart disease, a new theory, must be understood by every male in the country. Women past 50 come into the picture, too. But not enough people are aware of it. And that includes many professionals in the health professions."

Here is an oversimplified picture of risk factors that may induce coronary heart disease, according to Dr. Christakis. Factor: Age and Sex, level of blood pressure, level of serum cholesterol, predisposition to diabetes, exercise status, family history of heart disease, personality type, smoking, level of serum triglyceride, weight status, and yet to be discovered variables associated with coronary heart disease.

Dr. Christakis explains the inter relationship between all the factors. Not one, not two, but several of them together affect the system depending on the individual.

Each of us has a coefficient that is inserted with each variable and defines the relative potency of that specific factor in the coronary heart disease equation. Thus, if the co-level of cholesterol is .9 (high for a particular individual) it may serve to "crystallize" the other factors in a critical mass with sufficient impetus to trigger the induction of heart disease, he explains.

He lays considerable responsibility on high serum cholesterol. He says it has become generally recognized as one of the major risk factors. He sees a gradual downgrading of the risk effects of diet, with emphasis on cholesterol. He sees a changing eating pattern through shifts to nutritional chemistry in our foods.

"This entire subject of the risk factors — all of them involved in coronary heart attack — needs a vast informational campaign. It must reach the housewife and her family; the medical profession and other public health people. It is the wave of the future," he concludes.

Make Own Snacks

When a food shopper complains about the cost of a full marketbasket, does she separate the food from the non-food items? Or, does the shopper even consider or total up the cost each day or each week of such snacks as pretzels, crackers, chips, candies?

Try totaling the amount spent for these each week and you will be in for a shocking revelation. It costs less to make your own snacks. Popcorn, for example, is less expensive to pop at home and you also can make your own crackers.

This latter is something few have done in decades. For those who must follow a low-cholesterol diet, making your own snacks is a big encouragement. At least, you know what the ingredients are. Homemade crackers also may have as many seasonings as you want.

CAREFREE PROMISES

3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup (1/2 pound) margarine
1 cup (1/2 pound) creamed cottage cheese

In a large bowl mix flour and salt. Add margarine and cottage cheese, cut in with a pastry blender until well blended. Wrap dough in waxed paper and chill at least one hour. On a well-floured board roll out dough one-eighth-inch thick. Cut out dough with a two-inch cookie cutter and place on an ungreased baking sheet. Prick each cracker with a fork. Bake in a 450-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes until lightly browned. Remove from baking sheet and cool on a rack. Makes about 100 crackers.

VARIATIONS:

Caraway Crackers: Add 4 teaspoons sesame seed and 4 teaspoons grated onion to dough.

Poppy Seed Crackers: Add 2 teaspoons poppy seeds to dough.

Herb Crackers: Add 4 teaspoons chopped parsley, 4 teaspoons snipped chives and one-half teaspoon dried dill weed to dough.

Shape six large meatballs with ground meat, bread crumbs, raisins, egg and seasoning. Place in greased casserole. Pour stewed tomatoes over meatballs and sprinkle with brown sugar. Bake, uncovered, at 400 degrees 45 minutes. Split buns and hollow some of the bread from centers. Spread with butter and mustard and set a meatball in each roll. Top with a little of the sauce left in the baking dish and a slice of pickle. Makes six sandwiches.

It used to be woman's place was in the home. It's not true anymore. Now many women work outside the home.

If you're one of them, you probably need all the help you can get at mealtime. With a little planning and day-ahead preparation, you can have dinner on the table with a minimum of effort.

The Working Woman's Meat Loaf was developed with this in mind. It's a special meat loaf because it has a spiraled stuffing of colorful vegetables and zesty cheese. Shredded wheat bite-sized biscuits help stretch the meat portion. Prepare the loaf the evening before and chill in the pan. You may want to leave baking instructions if you're not the first to arrive home.

THE WORKING WOMAN'S MEAT LOAF

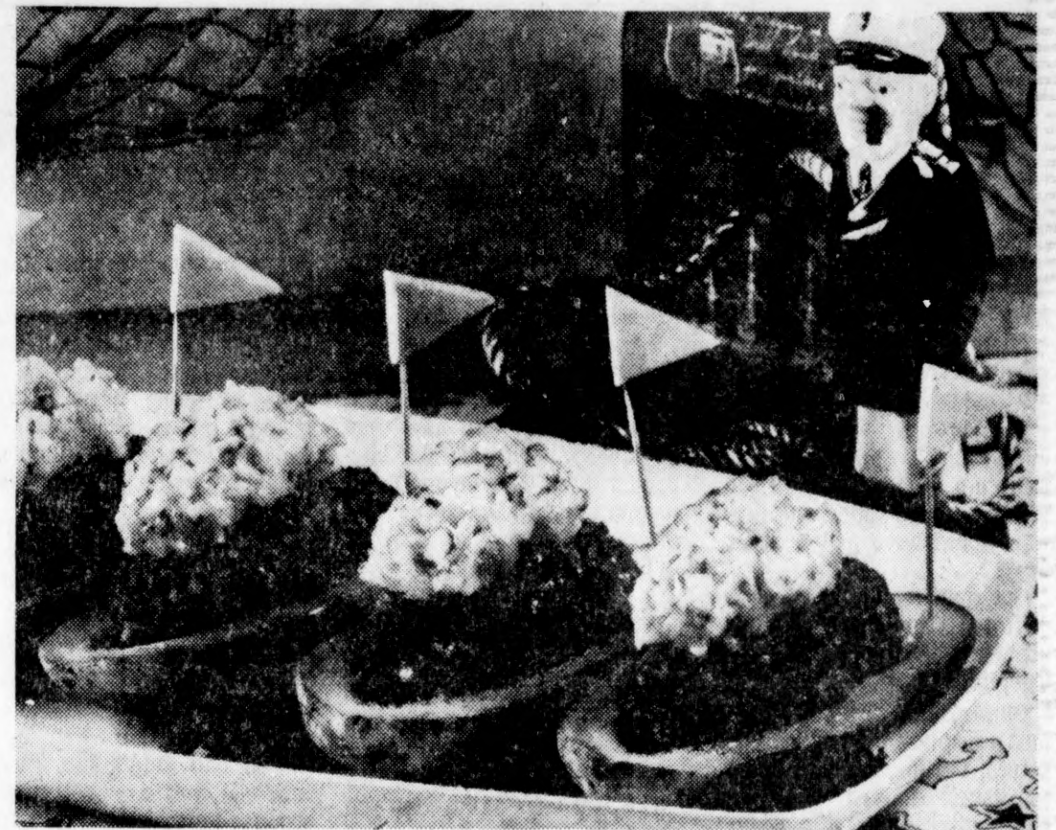

2 pounds ground beef chuck
2 cups shredded wheat bite-sized biscuits, finely rolled (about 1 cup crumbs)
1/2 cup ketchup
1/4 cup grated onion
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 (10-oz.) package frozen mixed vegetables, cooked and drained
3 ounces Cheddar cheese, grated (3/4 cup)
Mix first seven ingredients lightly but thoroughly. On piece of wax paper, pat mixture evenly into a 16 by 10-inch rectangle. Spoon vegetables over surface to within one inch of edges; top with grated cheese. Starting from narrow edge, lift wax paper and roll meat jelly-roll fashion. Seal ends and seam by pinching together. Place seam side down on piece of aluminum foil 18 inches long; lower into a nine by five by three-inch loaf pan. (If desired, seal edges of foil over loaf and chill. Before baking, unwrap foil.) Fold foil back over outside of pan. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) about one hour and 15 minutes, or until done. Let stand in pan 10 to 15 minutes. Use foil to lift onto serving platter; remove foil. Makes eight (about 6 1/2-oz.) servings.

The English always have been known for their frugality. And, a shepherd's pie with its mixture of leftover beef or lamb, surrounded or topped with mashed potatoes and baked a golden brown certainly is a way to stretch pennies.

VERY ENGLISH SHEPHERD'S PIE

2 tablespoons beef drippings or salad oil
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 1/2 pounds ground lean beef
1 can (8-oz.) tomato sauce
1/8 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons water
1 envelope instant mashed potatoes or three cups mashed potatoes.

In a large skillet heat drippings. Add onion; saute for 1 minute. Add ground beef. Cook and stir until browned, about 5 minutes. Stir in tomato sauce, Worcestershire sauce, parsley and salt. Bring to boiling point. Blend flour with water. Blend into beef mixture. Cook and stir until mixture thickens slightly, about one minute. Pour into 1 to 1 1/2-quart casserole; set aside. Prepare mashed potatoes as label directs. Spread over beef mixture. Score top of potatoes with tines of fork. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until potatoes are lightly browned, about 10 minutes. Makes 6 portions.

Better Diet Aids Heart

Times and customs change. But many people do not realize that our diet patterns change along with other factors.

Dr. George Christakis, epidemiologist and nutritionist, is vitally interested today in the effect of nutritional excesses and deprivation on heart disease. He believes that times have changed greatly but that few people realize that diets are changing, too.

"Diet and heart disease are related in many ways," he says. "Coronary heart disease has swept this country like a plague. It kills more people than anything else we suffer from. But recently, the picture has changed. It is not caused by any one factor, but rather by a complex of factors," he explains.

Formerly professor of Community Medicine at Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York, and now clinical professor of epidemiology at Miami School of Medicine, he is deep in studies of the effect of what we eat on our coronary system.

"The concept of risk factors in coronary heart disease, a new theory, must be understood by every male in the country. Women past 50 come into the picture, too. But not enough people are aware of it. And that includes many professionals in the health professions."

Here is an oversimplified picture of risk factors that may induce coronary heart disease, according to Dr. Christakis. Factor: Age and Sex, level of blood pressure, level of serum cholesterol, predisposition to diabetes, exercise status, family history of heart disease, personality type, smoking, level of serum triglyceride, weight status, and yet to be discovered variables associated with coronary heart disease.

Dr. Christakis explains the inter relationship between all the factors. Not one, not two, but several of them together affect the system depending on the individual.

Each of us has a coefficient that is inserted with each variable and defines the relative potency of that specific factor in the coronary heart disease equation. Thus, if the co-level of cholesterol is .9 (high for a particular individual) it may serve to "crystallize" the other factors in a critical mass with sufficient impetus to trigger the induction of heart disease, he explains.

He lays considerable responsibility on high serum cholesterol. He says it has become generally recognized as one of the major risk factors. He sees a gradual downgrading of the risk effects of diet, with emphasis on cholesterol. He sees a changing eating pattern through shifts to nutritional chemistry in our foods.

"This entire subject of the risk factors — all of them involved in coronary heart attack — needs a vast informational campaign. It must reach the housewife and her family, the medical profession and other public health people. It is the wave of the future," he concludes.

Make Own Snacks

When a food shopper complains about the cost of a full marketbasket, does she separate the food from the non-food items? Or, does the shopper even consider or total up the cost each day or each week of such snacks as pretzels, crackers, chips, candies?

Try totaling the amount spent for these each week and you will be in for a shocking revelation. It costs less to make your own snacks. Popcorn, for example, is less expensive to pop at home and you also can make your own crackers.

This latter is something few have done in decades. For those who must follow a low-cholesterol diet, making your own snacks is a big encouragement. At least, you know what the ingredients are. Homemade crackers also may have as many seasonings as you want.

CAREFREE PROMISES

3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup (1/2 pound) margarine
1 cup (1/2 pound) creamed cottage cheese

In a large bowl mix flour and salt. Add margarine and cottage cheese, cut in with a pastry blender until well blended. Wrap dough in waxed paper and chill at least one hour. On a well-floured board roll out dough one-eighth-inch thick. Cut out dough with a two-inch cookie cutter and place on an ungreased baking sheet. Prick each cracker with a fork. Bake in a 450-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes until lightly browned. Remove from baking sheet and cool on a rack. Makes about 100 crackers.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Not All 'Neutered' By Time

Dear Ann Landers: Many of your readers in their 60s and 70s have been neutered by time. We tend to look back at the grotesqueries of sex with mild amazement. As the Bible says, "There's a season for everything," and certainly there's a season for the flesh. When we were young and lusty who would have had it otherwise?

But your column seems to deal too frequently with sex problems that no longer have meaning to us.

Please, Ann, give us older fans a respite from the domestic satires, the impotent, the gays, the truck drivers who wear panty girdles and the Funny Uncles. I promise you won't lose a reader.

Want to open a wasp's nest? As a suggested topic, why not ask how many professional men who were put through college by their wives, supported through their doctorates by a woman laboring at a boring job, kept THEIR promise to let HER go back to college when their education was completed so that she might have her turn.

I know many physicians, dentists, lawyers, professors and engineers whose wives put them through school and now they don't seem to fit into their husband's lives. They are too dull — don't speak the same language, etc. How about it, Ann? — Grumpwhitch In Atlanta

Dear Grump: First, sorry you've been "neutered by time." If you hadn't skipped over these letters on sex, you'd know that time needn't "neuter" anybody. But that's another subject.

O.K. I'll ask the question you want answered. How many women who put their husbands through professional school now feel left behind socially and intellectually? Are you sorry you made the sacrifice? Let's hear from those who did it.

Offers Cheer

Dear Ann Landers: The other day in your column there was a letter from S.J.P., whose neighbor "opened her yap" and told her 11-year-old daughter she was adopted. Now all the kid does is moan around. The adopted girl is depressed. She feels her adoptive parents did a terrible thing by not telling her.

I agree they should have told her. But what's done is done. Maybe I, also an adopted child, can help cheer that girl up.

Being adopted is a beautiful thing. You've got a family that cares. You have a chance to get a good education. You were chosen and didn't just "happen." If you are still upset because your mom didn't tell you you were adopted, why not, instead of being mad, talk to her and ask her why she kept it from you? Moping around and being miserable won't help.

I'm 15 and have many friends who were adopted. Not one of us is complaining. So get with it. We are the lucky ones. — Val

Dear V.: Bravo, girl! Thanks

for sitting in my chair today!

In A Word

Dear Ann Landers: You've probably had it up to here with arguments both pro and con from housewives who think they've earned the title "Domestic Engineer." I hope you can find room for one more letter, Ann.

The Greeks had a word for it and Mr. Webster HAS a word for it. The word is serene, dignified and aristocratic. It's "Oikologist." Definition: "housekeeper or housewife."

No foolin', Ann. Look in one of the big dictionaries and you'll find it. — Savannah Sleuth

Dear Savvy: How big does the dictionary have to be? I looked in two enormous, unabridged tomes and was unable to find the word. I have a hunch your "big" dictionary came from a bookstore in Athens.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious — lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers's booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120. Copyright 1975 Field Enterprises, Inc.

By Oswald & James Jacoby.

If Patrick Henry had been a bridge player, he might well have said: "Give me the spade suit or give me death."

Then if Patrick Henry had held today's East hand from the spring charity game, he would have passed in second seat; passed a second time after North responded one no-trump to South's one-heart opening bid, but backed into action after South's two-heart rebid was passed by North.

A two-spade call would be dangerous. However, if you aren't willing to take chances you shouldn't play bridge.

If East does back in with two spades he will get a shock. West will take him right to four spades. The shock will be only temporary. One look at dummy and East will smile happily and go about the business of making his game with one or two overtricks.

We don't show East bidding the two spades. Our East in the box was one of the many players who let South play at two hearts. South would have no trouble at that contract. He would be sure of eight tricks and probably come home with nine, because at most tables West would win the first two tricks with the king and queen of clubs. East would go to bed with his ace and South make an overtrick.

Ask the Jacobys

A Missouri reader wants to know why most American experts like to use two-clubs as their only forcing bid.

The answer to that one is that you don't get a hand of game or near game strength very often and therefore, it is a great waste to use four opening bids (five if you add three no-trump) to cover such hands. Use two clubs as your only force and you can put the other two bids to work.

Dr. Lester Coleman

"I have colitis" is a common complaint that patients offer to their doctors, without really knowing what colitis means. It seems to be a word that is bandied about frequently.

Occasional bouts of intestinal upset, marked constipation or diarrhea cannot necessarily be labeled "colitis."

The term "colitis" should be reserved for an actual inflammation or infection of the colon, or large intestine. This part of the lower intestinal tract can become inflamed by the parasites that cause amoebic dysentery and by viruses and bacteria.

It is also well established that severe emotional distress and psychological disturbances play an important role in the production and the persistence of colitis.

Chronic constipation and severe allergy to food can also cause the irritation and inflammation of the delicate lining of the large intestine.

The diagnosis of colitis requires intensive study. X-rays of the lower bowel and microscopic examination of the stool for blood, parasites and bacteria can establish the diagnosis if the condition is really present.

Sometimes it is necessary to use an instrument, the proctoscope, for direct viewing of the lining of the lower bowel.

Chronic ulcerative colitis, a disease of major importance, can now be treated effectively with cortisone, ACTH, the sulfa drugs and the antibiotics.

We have entered into a new era of hope for patients who formerly might be permanently invalidated by this condition.

In addition to these established means of treatment, readjustment of living patterns is also recommended.

Can a tattoo be removed by plastic surgery?

Mr. JF., La.

Dear Mr. F.: Surgery, abrasion techniques and chemicals have been tried, without great success, to remove these telltale evidences of youthful errors.

Many people who regret their adolescent impulse to submit to tattooing seek, in later years, to have these marks removed.

Despite the fact that tattooing is illegal in many states, there are still those people who will

Erma Bombeck

Memo To Mayor

Memo To: Abraham Beame, Mayor, New York City. From: Bill Bombeck. Re: New York City's Financial Plight.

God knows my wife has done what she could to help you people get on your feet again.

She did for you what she has done for stumping economies in Miami, San Francisco, Boston, Dallas, Freeport, and Disneyworld... spent more money than I am making.

Last week as she sat reading the newspaper, she looked up, her eyes misting, and said, "New York needs me."

With that, she pucked a few things in a large bag (an old Save-the-Economy trick) and headed for Fun-less City.

It is not easy living with a crusader who is single-handedly fighting the battle of supply and demand.

She has a credit card for Al's Bail Shop.

She goes to a hospital to have surgery and brings home presents for everyone.

She checks out $50 worth of stuff at the supermarket and does not have one edible item in the cart.

She carries a "deferred account" at the bakery.

For the last five years, she has been going to garage sales. We own four garages — one of them in New Jersey.

She can buy for her entire Christmas list in a tool & die shop.

She is the first woman ever to suffer finger burns from a smoking American Express card.

The other night in a restaurant she said, "Give me $5. I am going to the restroom."

"What do you need with $5 in a restroom?"

"I might see something I want to buy."

"There is nothing to buy in a restroom."

"You said that at the mortuary."

As a man with deep feelings of gratitude, you are, I suspect, thrashing about for some way of repaying my wife for her services to New York City. May I suggest when you make out the fiscal budget in two weeks you go without her support.

She is in deep depression over the W. T. Grant Company and cries constantly, "Where was I when they needed me?"

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Not All 'Neutered' By Time

Dear Ann Landers: Many of your readers in their 60s and 70s have been neutered by time. We tend to look back at the grotesqueries of sex with mild amazement. As the Bible says, "There's a season for everything," and certainly there's a season for the flesh. When we're young and lusty who would have had it otherwise?

But your column seems to deal too frequently with sex problems that no longer have meaning to us.

Please, Ann, give us older fans a respite from the domestic satires, the impotent, the gays, the truck drivers who wear panty girdles and the Funny Uncles. I promise you won't lose a reader.

Want to open a wasp's nest? As a suggested topic, why not ask how many professional men who were put through college by their wives, supported through their doctorates by a woman laboring at a boring job, kept THEIR promise to let HER go back to college when their education was completed so that she might have her turn.

I know many physicians, dentists, lawyers, professors and engineers whose wives put them through school and now they don't seem to fit into their husband's lives. They are too dull — don't speak the same language, etc. How about it, Ann? — Grumpwiltch In Atlanta

Dear Grump: First, sorry you've been "neutered by time." If you hadn't skipped over those letters on sex, you'd know that time needn't "neuter" anybody. But that's another subject.

O.K. I'll ask the question you want answered. How many women who put their husbands through professional school now feel left behind socially and intellectually? Are you sorry you made the sacrifice? Let's hear from those who did it.

Offers Cheer

Dear Ann Landers: The other day in your column there was a letter from S.L.P., whose neighbor "opened her yap" and told her 11-year-old daughter she was adopted. Now all the kid does is moan around. The adopted girl is depressed. She feels her adoptive parents did a terrible thing by not telling her.

I agree they should have told her. But what's done is done. Maybe I, also an adopted child, can help cheer that girl up.

Being adopted is a beautiful thing. You've got a family that cares. You have a chance to get a good education. You were chosen and didn't just "happen." If you are still upset because your mom didn't tell you you were adopted, why not, instead of being mad, talk to her and ask her why she kept it from you? Moping around and being miserable won't help.

I'm 15 and have many friends who were adopted. Not one of us is complaining. So get with it. We are the lucky ones. — Val

Dear V.: Bravo, girl! Thanks

for sitting in my chair today!

In A Word

Dear Ann Landers: You've probably had it up to here with arguments both pro and con from housewives who think they've earned the title "Domestic Engineer." I hope you can find room for one more letter, Ann.

The Greeks had a word for it and Mr. Webster HAS a word for it. The word is serene, dignified and aristocratic. It's "Oikologist."

No foolin', Ann. Look in one of the big dictionaries and you'll find it. — Savannah Sleuth

Dear Savvy: How big does the dictionary have to be? I looked in two enormous, unabridged tomes and was unable to find the word. I have a hunch your "big" dictionary came from a bookstore in Athens.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious — lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120. Copyright 1975 Field Enterprises, Inc.

If Patrick Henry had been a bridge player, he might well have said: "Give me the spade suit or give me death."

Then if Patrick Henry had held today's East hand from the spring charity game, he would have passed in second seat; passed a second time after North responded one no-trump to South's one-heart opening bid, but backed into action after South's two-heart rebid was passed by North.

A two-spade call would be dangerous. However, if you aren't willing to take chances you shouldn't play bridge.

If East does back in with two spades he will get a shock. West will take him right to four spades. The shock will be only temporary. One look at dummy and East will smile happily and go about the business of making his game with one or two overtricks.

We don't show East bidding the two spades. Our East in the box was one of the many players who let South play at two hearts. South would have no trouble at that contract. He would be sure of eight tricks and probably come home with nine, because at most tables West would win the first two tricks with the king and queen of clubs. East would go to bed with his ace and South make an overtrick.

Ask the Jacobys

A Missouri reader wants to know why most American experts like to use two-clubs as their only forcing bid.

The answer to that one is that you don't get a hand of game or near game strength very often and therefore, it is a great waste to use four opening bids (five if you add three notrump) to cover such hands. Use two clubs as your only force and you can put the other two bids to work.

Dr. Lester Coleman

"I have colitis" is a common complaint that patients offer to their doctors, without really knowing what colitis means. It seems to be a word that is banded about frequently.

Occasional bouts of intestinal upset, marked constipation or diarrhea cannot necessarily be labeled "colitis."

The term "colitis" should be reserved for an actual inflammation or infection of the colon, or large intestine. This part of the lower intestinal tract can become inflamed by the parasites that cause amebic dysentery and by viruses and bacteria.

It is also well established that severe emotional distress and psychological disturbances play an important role in the production and the persistence of colitis.

Chronic constipation and severe allergy to food can also cause the irritation and inflammation of the delicate lining of the large intestine.

The diagnosis of colitis requires intensive study. X-rays of the lower bowel and microscopic examination of the stool for blood, parasites and bacteria can establish the diagnosis if the condition is really present.

Sometimes it is necessary to use an instrument, the proctoscope, for direct viewing of the lining of the lower bowel.

Chronic ulcerative colitis, a disease of major importance, can now be treated effectively with cortisone, ACTH, the sulfa drugs and the antibiotics.

We have entered into a new era of hope for patients who formerly might be permanently invalidated by this condition.

In addition to these established means of treatment, readjustment of living patterns is also recommended.

Can a tattoo be removed by plastic surgery?

Mr. J.F., La.

Dear Mr. F.: Surgery, abrasion techniques and chemicals have been tried, without great success, to remove these telltale evidences of youthful errors.

Many people who regret their adolescent impulse to submit to tattooing seek, in later years, to have these marks removed.

Despite the fact that tattooing is illegal in many states, there are still those people who will ferret out places to have it done.

In the hope that I will deter persons from being tattooed it should be emphasized that syphilis and, more especially, hepatitis can result from poorly sterilized needles sometimes used in this process.

God knows my wife has done what she could to help you people get on your feet again.

She did for you what she has done for slumping economies in Miami, San Francisco, Boston, Dallas, Freeport, and Disneyland. . . spent more money than I am making.

Last week as she sat reading the newspaper, she looked up, her eyes misting, and said, "New York needs me."

With that, she packed a few things in a large bag (an old Save-the-Economy trick) and headed for Fun-less City.

It is not easy living with a crusader who is single-handedly fighting the battle of supply and demand.

She has a credit card for Al's Bait Shop.

She goes to a hospital to have surgery and brings home presents for everyone.

She checks out $50 worth of stuff at the supermarkets and does not have one edible item in the cart.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

You have a tendency today to blurt things out thoughtlessly. Guard against this, for someone could be badly hurt.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

Usually you have your wits about you in the commercial arena. Today you could be hoodwinked because you seek something for nothing.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It's not a good day to make important decisions on family and financial matters. Your judgment is too clouded by emotion.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Frustrating opposition will cause you to look for a scapegoat today. It will be far better in the long run for you to take the lumps.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're all too willing to pay for something you want done today, rather than do it yourself. You'll regret this. You could have done it better — and cheaper.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you want to stay on good terms with your budget today, watch two items closely — what you spend for the home and for entertainment.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)

Normally you are tactful. Today you'll have to be careful to avoid dissension through what you say, or how you act in a crowd.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Avoid serious-type discussions with friends today. Keep it light. If you get that chip on your shoulder somebody will surely knock it off.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be careful today. That small surplus you've accumulated may burn a hole in your pocket. You could blow the whole bundle quickly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

Treat your mate with kid gloves today. Something you did recently triggered an unpleasant reaction. It won't take much to bring it to the surface.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)

Don't be too coy today. Little nuances you regard as frivolous gestures could be taken seriously, much to your dismay.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)

Avoid large gatherings today. You're in a mood where you want attention and if you're relegated to a lesser role you may be considerably upset.

Your Birthday

Many Disappointed By Bush Appointment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many past and present intelligence officials appear disappointed with President Ford's choice of George Bush to succeed William F. Colby as head of the CIA.

"It's unfortunate that Mr. Bush has a political background and is a potential contender for higher office," Lyman Kirkpatrick, former No. 3 man at the CIA, said Tuesday in a telephone interview.

"It's not the kind of thing they had hoped for," another former official said when asked about the feelings of those still in the CIA.

A source inside the CIA summed up objections to Bush, now U.S. ambassador in Peking, this way, "Bush is a man who ran for the Senate and lost, the appointed head of a political party — that's not the best credentials."

Bush ran unsuccessfully against Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-

Tex., in 1970 and headed the Republican National Committee during the second Nixon administration.

However, former CIA director John A. McCone, who headed the agency in the early 1960s, said he has "a high opinion" of Bush, predicting he will "do a good job and get the full support of the organization."

Another former high ranking intelligence official said Bush's close association with President Ford was regarded as a plus. A director's ability "has to do with how close he is to the president," the former official explained. "When it's close, it's good."

Criticism of Bush centered on his political background, not his performance as ambassador to the U.N. or to China.

"We really haven't had a politician in there before," said Kirkpatrick, now a professor at

Brown University. "It seems almost inevitable that Mr. Bush isn't there for a career, so probably in another two or three years there will be another change."

Chairman Frank Church of the Senate intelligence committee said, "It used to be the custom of presidents to appoint former chairmen of political parties postmaster general. President Ford has turned that custom on its head and appointed a chairman of the Republican committee to the least political and most sensitive agency."

Church's comments were echoed by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who said that "any CIA nominee should be completely free of political activities in his background."

Proxmire, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, said that "one of the main lessons of Watergate was that the CIA director must not be susceptible to political pressures."

Church said Colby's dismissal "can only have a disruptive effect" on the committee's CIA probe and is part of "a pattern of obstruction that clearly is developing." He added that he certainly would not suspend the investigation until Bush can be confirmed by the Senate.

Church released a letter in which he rejected the President's appeal to keep findings on alleged CIA involvement in assassination attempts secret. Ford said publication of the study "will result in serious harm to the national interest and may endanger individuals."

In reply, Church said that "whatever the possible short term detriment to our reputation abroad, it will be far outweighed by the constructive result at home of enabling the American people to fully understand what was done in their name."

Hartford Woman Is Bound Over

PAW PAW — A Hartford woman arrested in connection with the Sept. 8 shooting death of her husband at their mobile home was bound over yesterday to Van Buren circuit court on a charge of manslaughter.

Bound over following Seventh district court preliminary examination was Mrs. Eunice Orr, 32, who is accused of shooting her husband, Rev. William Orr, 29, following an argument.

Police said a 20-gauge shotgun was found near Orr's body in a bedroom of the couple's mobile home. Orr was an associate minister at the First Baptist church, Coventry.

In other cases, Brain Champion, 17, route 2, Gables, was placed on pre-sentence investigation after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of conspiracy to commit simple larceny.

He was originally charged breaking and entering the pro shop at Har-Lou golf course, Gables, on Sept. 19.

O'Neal Guyness, 21, Chicago Heights, Ill., was bound over to circuit court following preliminary examination on a charge of unlawful use of a motor vehicle. Guyness was arrested Oct. 15 in connection with the reported theft earlier of a car from Mt. Clemens. Also bound over to circuit court after waiving preliminary examination were:

Michael E. Allen, 24, Keeler, on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants, third offense, Oct. 4 in Hartford.

James Schwartz, 17, Gables, on a charge of breaking and entering the Gables Medical Clinic Sept. 11.

Danny Mann, 18, M-40, Lawton, on a charge of concealing stolen property in Lawton Aug. 12. The charge, according to Van Buren sheriff's deputies stems from the theft of a television and stereo from a Kalamazoo home.

Highway To Open Nov. 12

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A 9.2-mile extension of the U.S. 10 freeway north of Clare will be opened to traffic Nov. 12, the state Highway Commission said Tuesday.

The extension runs between U.S. 27 and Michigan 115 near Farwell, and is designed to eliminate a bottleneck around Clare, improving travel to and from northwestern Lower Michigan.

Currently traffic must travel through Clare itself. With the new road open, it can continue up U.S. 27 to the extension and over to M-115.

GALIEN — The Galien village council last night set Nov. 17 as the date for a public hearing on the application of the Jack-Post corporation, M-60, Galien, for an industrial facilities tax exemption certificate.

The corporation, which makes steel construction products, is applying for a tax exemption certificate for a $96,000 addition to the facility.

The hearing will be held at the township hall at 7:30 p.m. The council will decide on whether to approve the application based on testimony at the hearing.

Many Disappointed By Bush Appointment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many past and present intelligence officials appear disappointed with President Ford's choice of George Bush to succeed William E. Colby as head of the CIA.

"It's unfortunate that Mr. Bush has a political background and is a potential contender for higher office," Lyman Kirkpatrick, former No. 3 man at the CIA, said Tuesday in a telephone interview.

"It's not the kind of thing they had hoped for," another former official said when asked about the feelings of those still in the CIA.

A source inside the CIA summed up objections to Bush, now U.S. ambassador in Peking, this way, "Bush is a man who ran for the Senate and lost, the appointed head of a political party — that's not the best credentials."

Bush ran unsuccessfully against Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-

Tex., in 1970 and headed the Republican National Committee during the second Nixon administration.

However, former CIA director John A. McCone, who headed the agency in the early 1960s, said he has "a high opinion" of Bush, "predicting he will 'do a good job and get the full support of the organization.'"

Another former high ranking intelligence official said Bush's close association with President Ford was regarded as a plus. A director's ability "has to do with how close he is to the president," the former official explained. "When it's close, it's good."

Criticism of Bush centered on his political background, not his performance as ambassador to the U.N. or to China.

"We really haven't had a politician in there before," said Kirkpatrick, now a professor at

Brown University. "It seems almost inevitable that Mr. Bush isn't there for a career, so probably in another two or three years there will be another change."

Chairman Frank Church of the Senate intelligence committee said, "It used to be the custom of presidents to appoint former chairmen of political parties postmaster general. President Ford has turned that custom on its head and appointed a chairman of the Republican committee to the least political and most sensitive agency."

Church's comments were echoed by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who said that "any CIA nominee should be completely free of political activities in his background."

Proxmire, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, said that "one of the main lessons of Watergate was that the CIA director must not be susceptible to political pressures." Church said Colby's dismissal "can only have a disruptive effect" on the committee's CIA probe and is part of "a pattern of obstruction that clearly is developing." He added that he certainly would not suspend the investigation until Bush can be confirmed by the Senate.

Church released a letter in which he rejected the President's appeal to keep findings on alleged CIA involvement in assassination attempts secret. Ford said publication of the study "will result in serious harm to the national interest and may endanger individuals."

In reply, Church said that "whatever the possible short term detriment to our reputation abroad, it will be far outweighed by the constructive result at home of enabling the American people to fully understand what was done in their name."

Shoreham To Study Riding Ring Request

By DICK DERRICK Staff Writer

Shoreham village council last night planned to investigate liability and access problems before answering a 4-H group's request to use part of the village park for a horse riding ring.

Paul Landeck, 13, of 2334 Shoreham drive, requested use of the one and one-third acre park adjoining the present Shoreham Downs park. The east side of the park is the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway right-of-way.

Access to the new park poses a problem. There is a fence along the present Shoreham Downs park. Access easements to the property formerly owned by a Dearborn Heights couple and given to the village, lies on private property.

Donald Dinius, 3059 Wissing Lane, who lives next to the park, said he would oppose permitting horses cross his property.

Dr. Frank V.Z. Linn, 3055 Wissing Lane, requested the investigation into the liability factor pointing out horses offer a potential for injury.

Dr. William Rahn, parks chairman, said he would oppose permitting horses go through the present park.

Village President John Helsley praised Landeck for his presentation. There were 30 persons present, about half of them young people.

Stephen Upton, 3010 South Lake Shore drive, who gave the village the original park, said the council might consider letting the 4-H group have an opportunity to see if they could develop a riding ring in the area.

Landeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Landeck, said there between 10 and 15 young people who will be horsemen in the village. He also asked the council for $500 in lumber to build the riding ring facilities. The 4-H club members would build the riding ring at no labor cost to the village. They would also police the grounds.

In other action, Helsley said

the Department of Housing and Urban Development has announced the agency is increasing property owners' flood insurance maximum from $35,000 to $70,000.

Helsley said the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has proposed to modify beach installations to permit property owners install groins of 30 feet or less without a building permit. Donna Asselin of 2826 South Lake Shore drive, and chairman of the Lake Shore Property Owners association, has questioned that if these groins are not regulated any beach building operations by the Corps of Engineers would sponsor might be thwarted.

Helsley said the village is weighing a letter that would be sent supporting Mrs. Asselin's objections.

Patrick McMullen of the county bicentennial committee requested a $200 appropriation as the village share of a county bicentennial history project. The council will consider the appropriation before next Monday's session.

Bangladesh Fight Tied To Deaths

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Four close associates of Bangladesh's murdered President Mujibur Rahman today were reported killed in a jail massacre in Dacca that apparently touched off the power struggle this week in the young nation's army.

Radio Bangladesh announced the deaths of former Vice President Nazrul Islam, former Prime Ministers Masoor Ali and Tajuddin Ahmed and former Home Minister A.H.M. Kammaruzzaman.

Once among the most powerful men in Bangladesh, they were jailed on corruption charges after Sheikh Mujib was overthrown and killed in a coup last Aug. 15.

Lawton Village Hall

Expansion Is Considered

LAWTON — Lawton village Councilman Burl Unrath last night unveiled a proposal to build a three-room steel building addition to the present village hall.

The council authorized Unrath to proceed in investigating specifications for the addition which would be approximately 85 by 35 feet and would house offices for the police department and clerk and a council room.

Unrath estimated the cost for the structure at about $52,000 which he said could be paid from federal revenue sharing funds. He said it may be possible to add additional rooms for the village museum.

The proposed building would face Main street, he said. If it is built, the present clerk's office could then be used as a community room, he said.

In other action, the council appointed Mrs. Marion Pfister to the library board. She will fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Jewel Pierce.

The council also granted a four-week medical leave to Village Clerk Barbara Weirnding who said she will be going into the hospital. She said the clerk's office will be open from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. daily in her absence starting on Nov. 7 and will be staffed by an assistant.

The council approved use of $800 from the contingency fund to remove trees on city property which are a hazard to residents' property. The Shepherd Tree service will be working with the public works department on the project, councilmen said.

The council accepted tax reports from Mrs. Florence Fate, village treasurer, who reported that 96.66 per cent of the taxes were collected for 1975. The total collected was $122,948, she said. A donation was approved of $300 to the Van Buren county Health department for its drug abuse program.

Village President James (Hal) Moon reported that Hope Nursing home had begun an addition which will cost $365,000.

The council also agreed to have hospital zone signs posted around the nursing home, to curtail noise.

Fire Chief Donald Price said a new door and lock will be installed on the fire hall, and he said it will be kept locked at all times. Unrath said that recently there had been a problem with children playing in the fire station.

The council granted approval to Keith Welburn, public works superintendent, to use two weeks of vacation time from this year in January.

Russ Test Multiple Warhead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russians have tested what could be their first submarine-launched missile equipped with multiple warheads that can be aimed at separate targets. If the Russians have achieved such warheads for their submarine-fired missiles, they will have caught up with the United States in one of the few facets of the missile race in which they have trailed until now. U.S. intelligence sources report that a new Soviet missile for submarines was test-fired for the first time on Oct. 25 from Nenoksa Test Center in the remote White Sea area. The missile traveled nearly 3,500 miles to the Kamchatka Peninsula in the Pacific, the sources said.

Shoreham To Study Riding Ring Request

By DICK DERRICK
Staff Writer

Shoreham village council last night planned to investigate liability and access problems before answering a 4-H group's request to use part of the village park for a horse riding ring.

Paul Landeck, 13, of 2334 Shoreham drive, requested use of the one and one-third acre park adjoining the present Shoreham Downs park. The east side of the park is the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway right-of-way.

Access to the new park poses a problem. There is a fence along the present Shoreham Downs park. Access easements to the property formerly owned by a Dearborn Heights couple and given to the village, lies on private property.

Donald Dinius, 3059 Wissing Lane, who lives next to the park, said he would oppose permitting horses cross his property.

Dr. Frank V.Z. Linn, 3055 Wissing Lane, requested the investigation into the liability HANDICAPPED BY RULES: Phil Sanders and his wife, handicapped by State Veterans of the Year for 1971 for their work with the handicapped in Memphis, Tenn., now find themselves handicapped by a federal regulation. factor pointing out horses offer a potential for injury.

Dr. William Rahn, parks chairman, said he would oppose permitting horses go through the present park.

Village President John Helsley praised Landeck for his presentation. There were 30 persons present, about half of them young people.

Stephen Upton, 3010 South Lake Shore drive, who gave the village the original park, said the council might consider letting the 4-H group have an opportunity to see if they could develop a riding ring in the area.

Landeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Landeck, said there between 10 and 15 young people who will be horsemen in the village. He also asked the council for $500 in lumber to build the riding ring facilities. The 4-H club members would build the riding ring at no labor cost to the village. They would also police the grounds.

In other action, Helsley said

the Department of Housing and Urban Development has announced the agency is increasing property owners' flood insurance maximum from $35,000 to $70,000.

Helsley said the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has proposed to modify beach installations to permit property owners install groins of 30 feet or less without a building permit. Donna Asselin of 2826 South Lake Shore drive, and chairman of the Lake Shore Property Owners association, has questioned that if these groins are not regulated any beach building operations by the Corps of Engineers would sponsor might be thwarted.

Helsley said the village is weighing a letter that would be sent supporting Mrs. Asselin's objections.

Patrick McMullen of the county bicentennial committee requested a $200 appropriation as the village share of a county bicentennial history project. The council will consider the appropriation before next Monday's session.

Lawton Village Hall

Expansion Is Considered

LAWTON — Lawton village Councilman Burl Unrath last night unveiled a proposal to build a three-room steel building addition to the present village hall.

The council authorized Unrath to proceed in investigating specifications for the addition which would be approximately 65 by 35 feet and would house offices for the police department and clerk and a council room.

Unrath estimated the cost for the structure at about $52,000 which he said could be paid from federal revenue sharing funds. He said it may be possible to add additional rooms for the village museum.

The proposed building would face Main street, he said. If it is built, the present clerk's office could then be used as a community room, he said.

In other action, the council appointed Mrs. Marion Pfister to the library board. She will fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Jewel Pierce.

The council also granted a four-week medical leave to Village Clerk Barbara Weurding who said she will be going into the hospital. She said the clerk's office will be open from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. daily in her absence starting on Nov. 7 and will be staffed by an assistant.

The council approved use of $600 from the contingency fund to remove trees on city property which are a hazard to residents' property. The Shepherd Tree service will be working with the public works department on the project, councilmen said.

The council accepted tax reports from Mrs. Florence Fate, village treasurer, who reported that 96.65 per cent of the taxes were collected for 1975. The total collected was $122,948, she said. A donation was approved of $300 to the Van Buren county Health department for its drug abuse program.

Village President James (Hal) Moon reported that Hope Nursing home had begun an addition which will cost $365,000.

The council also agreed to have hospital zone signs posted around the nursing home to curtail noise.

Fire Chief Donald Price said a new door and lock will be installed on the fire hall, and he said it will be kept locked at all times. Unrath said that recently there had been a problem with children playing in the fire station.

The council granted approval to Keith Welburn, public works superintendent, to use two weeks of vacation time from this year in January.

Russ Test Multiple Warhead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russians have tested what could be their first submarine-launched missile equipped with multiple warheads that can be aimed at separate targets. If the Russians have achieved such warheads for their submarine-fired missiles, they will have caught up with the United States in one of the few facets of the missile race in which they have trailed until now. U.S. intelligence sources report that a new Soviet missile for submarines was test-fired for the first time on Oct. 25 from Nenoksa Test Center in the remote White Sea area. The missile traveled nearly 3,500 miles to the Kamchatka Peninsula in the Pacific, the sources said.

York's, while 16 per cent disagreed and another 16 per cent had no opinion.

Though differing with Ford about the ramifications of a New York City default, those polled were closely split on the question of whether he is "playing politics" or "showing good financial judgment."

Thirty-three per cent of the sample said Ford was playing politics, 34 per cent thought he was showing good financial judgment, 7 per cent thought he was doing both and 4 per cent said he was doing neither. Twenty-two per cent had no opinion.

Although 41 per cent thought the President was showing good financial judgment — including the 7 per cent who think he is playing politics and being fiscally prudent — only 33 per cent thought the federal government should not provide funds to help the city. Fifty-five per cent said they thought the city should get federal aid, and 12 per cent had no opinion.

A plurality of 47 per cent said they would approve federal backing for investors in New York City bonds, while 23 per cent disapproved and 30 per cent had no opinion.

The Times concluded that Ford's advisers may have overestimated the animosity around the country toward the city. Americans as whole appeared to be taking a practical economic attitude rather than an emotional one toward New York's situation, the Times said.

hospital, Kalamazoo, of injuries received in a two-car accident Oct. 26 in Watervliet township, state police of the Benton Harbor post reported.

Fitzpatrick's death brought the Berrien county traffic toll to 40 this year. Early this morning, a Sioux City, Iowa, truck driver was killed in a crash near Union Pier, becoming the 50th traffic death for the year.

The 50 deaths were 26 more than had died on county roads by this time last year. Thirty-four people lost their lives on county roads in all of 1974.

A woman passenger in the other car, Edna Mary Fleming, 30, of 4033 Naomi road, Sodas township, remains in Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, where she was reported in "good" condition today.

Fitzpatrick's car collided with a car driven by George W. Fleming, Mrs. Fleming's husband, at the intersection of M-140 and Hagar Shore road, Watervliet township.

George Fleming and the couple's daughter, Alice, 3, were treated and released from Memorial hospital immediately after the accident.

Troopers said an autopsy was to be performed today at Borgess. Fitzpatrick had been listed in critical condition since the accident, reportedly with head injuries. No tickets were issued in the accident and troopers indicated the investigation was concluded.

Mr. Fitzpatrick is survived by his widow Effie; a daughter, Mrs. Robert (Mary Anne) Sheldrake, Coloma and four sisters, Mrs. Mary Denner, Denver, Colo., Mrs. Ila Culbertson, Sioux City, Iowa, Mrs. Martin (Maude) LeMoine and Mrs. Francis (Nellie) LeMoine, both of Mesa, Ariz.

GOP Aims At Swainson

even if Swainson stays on the court.

Cawthorne said he feels Swainson will cave in to professional and judicial pressure and resign. "He is receiving pressure from his colleagues on the bench, I'm sure, and from elsewhere in the legal profession. I don't think the other justices will say so publicly, but I feel they are exerting pressure privately."

He said a move to oust Swainson would get "substantial" legislative support.

House Speaker Bobby Crim, D-Davison, however, said he thinks the legislature should stay out of the Swainson affair.

Beame Blasts Ford On New York Stand

poverishment does not enhance either the economy or the moral fiber of our nation. The best cure for our financial ills is to have an opportunity to recuperate under a strictly supervised regimen of reform and retrenchment. A guarantee would permit that."

Beame said Ford has failed to take into account the effect a default by New York would have on the rest of the nation.

He referred to a report prepared by the Joint Economic Committee of Congress estimating that federal tax receipts would be reduced by $1.5 million and expenditures for unemployment compensation, food stamps and other programs would increase by $200 million.

He said a default would jeopardize payment for more than $1 billion in goods from around the nation.

"Heavy equipment from Chicago, Port Wayne and Springfield, Ohio; blankets from Alabama; moving stairs from Indiana; electronic gear from Florida and Illinois; sanitary equipment from Virginia and Wisconsin; construction machinery from Baton Rouge, Louisiana; chemicals from Maryland, Idaho and Delaware — all these areas would be affected," he said.

In addition, he said that the city's pension checks, mailed to retirees around the country, represent an annual contribution of $180 million to communities other than New York.

"We want to remain a 'giver,' not a 'getter,'" Beame said. "Only a prosperous and vigorous economy can afford to give, and we want the chance to remain a prosperous and vigorous city."

"We want to continue to provide New York City tax dollars to help our nation feed the hungry in Appalachia, irrigate the Southwest, protect our national forests, build homes in the South and maintain our national defenses here and abroad."

Beame's speech followed New York Gov. Hugh L. Carey's announcement Tuesday that enough money was found to put together a $750 million package to keep the city from default on Nov. 14. Carey did not reveal details.

"We received notice today that all commitments needed will be delivered by Monday," Carey said.

Monday is the day when the city expected to know whether it would have the funds to meet obligations due Nov. 14. But Carey warned that "Dec. 1 is the date beyond which we cannot stretch at this time."

The $750 million package had been pledged to get the city through November without defaulting, but before Carey's announcement a shortfall of $150 million had threatened to block the arrangement.

Beame frequently has been in Washington to testify before congressional panels. He decided to address the club a week after Ford to give the same forum his side of the city's fiscal crisis.

While Beame sought support for legislation to help the city regain access to the investors, Senate Democratic leaders said they were delaying a decision on bringing to the Senate floor a bill authorizing $4 billion in federal loan guarantees for New York.

GOP leaders predicted the only bill that would be enacted before the city defaults would be Ford's proposal to revise bankruptcy laws.

"As far as a New York City default is concerned, it has become apparent that there really isn't a chance that any of the legislation being considered can become law before the city defaults except the bankruptcy bill," House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona said after he and Sen. Robert P. Griffin, D-Mich., met with Ford.

The House Judiciary subcommittee on civil and constitutional rights hopes to finish work on the bankruptcy bill today.

House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., said the House would take up a bill offering $7 billion in loan guarantees. He and House Banking Committee Chairman Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., predicted an uphill fight for the bill, but Reuss said, "We may be able to pull it off."

They also said they saw a chance Ford might not veto the bill.

Indications that the Senate bill faced problems appeared when Senate Banking Committee Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., whose committee produced the bill, said he and the measure's sponsor, Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., had to go to their colleagues "to make it understood this is a very, very tough bill. Without this we might need the assistance of the federal government (in New York) for eight or 10 years or longer. To get this across, we may need a couple of days."

Democrat Wins In Mississippi

rocked that city this fall. But the anti-incumbent backlash feared by Carroll supporters never materialized.

In the lieutenant governor's race, Thelma Stovall, 56, now secretary of state, defeated her male Republican opponent, businessman Shirley Palmer-Ball.

In the day's major municipal contests, winners included Mayors Kevin H. White of Boston, Ralph Perk of Cleveland, Frank Rizzo of Philadelphia, William Donald Schaefer of Baltimore and Maurice Ferre of Miami.

In the only major surprise, Democratic Mayor Albert Hofstad of Minneapolis was unseated by the man he had beaten two years earlier, policeman and former Mayor Charles Stenvig.

In Boston, the 46-year-old White won a third term over state Sen. Joseph Timilty, 37, by about 7,500 votes out of some 150,000 cast.

As in Kentucky, the two candidates took roughly similar positions on the local busing controversy, criticizing the court-ordered plan while urging that the law be obeyed.

In other large cities, Mayor Fred Hofheinz led four rivals in Houston but failed to get 50 per cent and will vie in a runoff against his closest challenger, former Harris County Dist. Atty. Frank Briscoe.

In San Francisco, state Sen. George Moscone led an 11-candidate field, clinching a spot in the Dec. 11 runoff. Pre-election favorite Dianne Feinstein, president of the county board of supervisors, was running slightly behind Supervisor John Barbagelata for a spot in the runoff against Moscone.

In Indianapolis, Republican William Hudnut, a former congressman, defeated Democratic businessman Robert Welch for the post now held by retiring GOP Mayor Richard G. Lugar.

In Gary, black mayor Richard G. Hatcher won another term.

Rizzo, Schaefer and Ferre all scored one-sided wins, while Perk, a white Republican, won by more than expected against Arnold Pinkney, a black Democrat, in Cleveland's non-partisan election.

In Ohio, the $4.5 billion bond package proposed by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes to revitalize the state's economy lost by a 4 to 1 margin.

"The people of Ohio have spoken, and I will abide by their decision," Rhodes said.

State Dems To Block Milliken Budget Cuts

developed by the University of Michigan, to give lawmakers independent fiscal figures. Democratic leaders have blasted Miller for not providing complete and up-to-date information. Crim said the new system, to become effective in eight to 12 months, will give the legislature data needed to draft budget policy.

The Michigan Association of School Boards said it opposed a tax increase to help erase the deficit, despite massive education cuts, until it has more data from school boards. The association said districts probably will lose from $8,000 to $10,000 for every 1,000 pupils under the cutback.

Rep. Paul Rosenbaum, D-Battle Creek, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said Milliken's proposal to wipe out the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims fund was "irresponsible." He said several court cases, which could affect the fund are pending, and it would not be wise to wipe it out now if the money may be needed in the future.

Buchanan Loot Now Totals $20,251

said an inventory of diamond rings and cash taken in a Monday afternoon armed robbery of the Rees Jewelry store has revised the estimated take to $20,251.

Police report no arrests have been made in the closing time hold up of the store at 238 East Front street, but that several leads were being investigated.

Store owner Jack Rees' inventory revealed that a total of $20,251 in cash and jewelry were taken from the store and its employees by two gunmen, police said. Initially it had been believed $35,000 in jewelry was taken but that figure had been scaled down to $18,471 before the inventory.

from a second safe and a cash register.

Rees also told police that a $2,000 diamond ring he was wearing and $104 in cash he was carrying was also taken by the two gunmen. Store clerks Walt Becker and Mrs. Lorraine Schrenshier, both of Buchanan, told police that rings they were wearing, valued at $150 and $675 respectively, were also taken by the armed duo.

hospital, Kalamazoo, of injuries received in a two-car accident Oct. 26 in Watervliet township, state police of the Benton Harbor post reported.

Fitzpatrick's death brought the Berrien county traffic toll to 49 this year. Early this morning a Sioux City, Iowa, truck driver was killed in a crash near Union Pier, becoming the 50th traffic death for the year.

The 50 deaths were 26 more than had died on county roads by this time last year. Thirty-four people lost their lives on county roads in all of 1974.

A woman passenger in the other car, Edna Mary Fleming, 30, of 4033 Naomi road, Sodas township, remains in Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, where she was reported in "good" condition today.

Fitzpatrick's car collided with a car driven by George W. Fleming, Mrs. Fleming's husband, at the intersection of M-140 and Hagar Shore road, Watervliet township.

George Fleming and the couple's daughter, Alice, 3, were treated and released from Memorial hospital immediately after the accident.

Troopers said an autopsy was to be performed today at Borgess. Fitzpatrick had been listed in critical condition since the accident, reportedly with head injuries. No tickets were issued in the accident and troopers indicated the investigation was concluded.

Mr. Fitzpatrick is survived by his widow Effie; a daughter, Mrs. Robert (Mary Anne) Sheldrake, Coloma and four sisters, Mrs. Mary Denner, Denver, Colo., Mrs. Ilia Culbertson, Sioux City, Iowa, Mrs. Martin (Maude) LeMoine and Mrs. Francis (Nellie) LeMoine, both of Mesa, Ariz.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete today at the Hutchins funeral home, Watervliet. Friends may call beginning Thursday.

Default Impact Feared

York's, while 16 per cent disagreed and another 16 per cent had no opinion.

Though differing with Ford about the ramifications of a New York City default, those polled were closely split on the question of whether he is "playing politics" or "showing good financial judgment."

Thirty-three per cent of the sample said Ford was playing politics, 34 per cent thought he was showing good financial judgment, 7 per cent thought he was doing both and 4 per cent said he was doing neither. Twenty-two per cent had no opinion.

Although 41 per cent thought the President was showing good financial judgment — including the 7 per cent who think he is playing politics and being fiscally prudent — only 33 per cent thought the federal government should not provide funds to help the city. Fifty-five per cent said they thought the city should get federal aid, and 12 per cent had no opinion.

A plurality of 47 per cent said they would approve federal backing for investors in New York City bonds, while 23 per cent disapproved and 30 per cent had no opinion.

The Times concluded that Ford's advisers may have overestimated the animosity around the country toward the city. Americans as whole appeared to be taking a practical economic attitude rather than an emotional one toward New York's difficulties, the Times said.

Buchanan Loot Now Totals $20,251

BUCHANAN — Police here said an inventory of diamond rings and cash taken in a Monday afternoon armed robbery of the Rees Jewelry store has revised the estimated take to $20,251.

Police report no arrests have been made in the closing time hold up of the store at 258 East Front street, but that several leads were being investigated.

Store owner Jack Rees' inventory revealed that a total of $20,251 in cash and jewelry were taken from the store and its employees by two gunmen, police said. Initially it had been believed $35,000 in jewelry was taken but that figure had been scaled down to $16,471 before the inventory.

from a second safe and a cash register.

Rees also told police that a $2,000 diamond ring he was wearing and $104 in cash he was carrying was also taken by the two gunmen. Store clerks Walt Becker and Mrs. Lorraine Schremsher, both of Buchanan, told police that rings they were wearing, valued at $150 and $675 respectively, were also taken by the armed duo.

Benton Tax Is Approved

Benton township voters in a special election Tuesday approved the renewal of property taxes for police and fire protection by an overwhelming margin of more than 4-to-1. Unofficial returns were, Yes, 840; and No, 203. The township has over 8,000 registered voters, according to Clerk Catherine Sirk.

The millage proposition carried in all of the township's ten precincts.

Total levies of 8 mills will run through 1980. Voters in 1971 approved 1.5 mills for police and 1.5 mills for fire protection. The 3-mill total expires at the end of this year. In 1972, voters approved identical taxes, totaling 3 mills, to run through 1976.

Tuesday's election consolidates all the taxes, totaling 6 mills.

PLANS ACTION AGAINST CONTRACTORS

Benton Votes $25,000 For Homes

The Benton township board of trustees last night voted 5-to-1 to pay up to $25,000 to correct workmanship in 26 houses repaired under a federally-financed program two years ago.

The board also voted to take legal action against two contractors in an effort to recover some of the $25,000, which will come from the township's general fund.

Action to pay for repairs was in compliance with an order issued late last month by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) agency.

The lone opposing vote was from Trustee Chester L. Jolley, Jr., who called the HUD order "a rip-off of the taxpayers." Treasurer Joseph Postelli was absent, and all other board members voted to follow the HUD order. The NDP contractors were Maurice Bishop and Clinton Frazier.

Several citizens asked how shoddy work under a neighborhood development program could get by inspectors until contractors were paid. Among them was Frank Larson, who was chairman of the NDP citizens advisory committee and who currently heads the Community Development program's citizens advisory committee.

Larson also commented that the advisory committee's purpose is to assist citizens with problems concerning the federal programs, but few citizens come to the committee to express their problems. Judd Spray, township Community Development director, assured those present that safeguards, such as monitoring of work done, will prevent a recurrence of the problem. Spray said the 26 houses were inspected by a man hired by the Neighborhood Development program, rather than the township inspection department.

In current Community

Development matters, the board hired Cerrell Pointdexter to the $14,000 per year post as associate CD director. The director's post pays $20,000, with funds from the federal government, it was reported. Miss Pointdexter formerly was secretary to the township board.

In another CD matter, the board hired the Detroit firm of Urban Technical Associates to audit the program's accounts for $5,000. The St. Joseph accounting firm of Kovtan and Co. submitted a lower bid of $4,700. This was rejected on grounds the Detroit firm had more experience with HUD matters.

The board scheduled a second public hearing for Nov. 18 on an application for an industrial tax exemption certificate from Clark Equipment Co.

Reappointed to the township planning commission was Dr. Charles Duncan.

South Haven Picks Lewis For Mayor

SOUTH HAVEN — Veteran South Haven politician Richard Lewis was an easy winner in his bid to re-enter city politics.

Lewis, 44, South Haven's mayor from 1967-73 and an alderman during the early 1960s, won the mayoral election Tuesday by beating William Andresen, 59-41, according to unofficial results.

Nearly half (1,504) of the city's 3,178 registered voters balloted in an election that produced at least two surprises.

Incumbent Mayor Elizabeth Davis was defeated in a bid for election as first ward alderman.

The bid of a coalition of four candidates running together as a team failed, as only one, incumbent Alderman Rex Lineberry, was elected.

Lewis, a special education teacher in the South Haven public schools, beat Andresen in all three wards and in absentee ballots, according to unofficial results.

Last August, Lewis edged out Andresen in the primary, 521-473.

In a victory statement Lewis said: "I am pleased that the voters have again expressed their confidence in me. I assure all of you that I will do my best to attain the goals I have set in my campaign. Now that the election is over, I hope all of us, winners and losers, can work together to carry out an effective program in the best interests of the taxpayers."

Mayor Davis was defeated in the first ward aldermanic race by political newcomer Ronald Kozlik, 220-204, in the election's closest race. Mrs. Davis had beaten Kozlik by 37 votes in the primary.

Kozlik, 37, is co-owner of the South Haven Produce company. Kozlik will take the seat of William McDonald who had been appointed to fill the unexpired term of Donald Goodwillie Sr., who resigned because of poor health.

Mrs. Davis was elected mayor in 1973, becoming the first woman to hold the office.

Mayor Davis, whose term runs through December, labeled the election results "disastrous for the city."

Two term second ward alderman Lineberry defeated challenger Neville Ferguson 240-207. Lineberry, 67, has been on the council since 1964. He is production control manager at Adams Electronics, Bangor.

Incumbent third ward alderman Robert Warren defeated challenger Irving Tucker 340-278 in a surprising finish yet one that was the most decisive of the aldermanic races.

Warren, 38, had finished second to Tucker in a six candidate primary race by 82 votes.

Warren is instrumental music teacher in the South Haven public schools system.

Although the election was non-partisan, four candidates (Andresen, Davis, Lineberry and Tucker) campaigned as an alliance by supporting the candidacy of each other.

Andresen released the following statement last night: "It is never pleasant to lose, but I do have a good feeling of accomplishment. The administrative problems of South Haven have been identified and exposed. My heartfelt gratitude goes out to all of those people who supported my candidacy and allowed me to make this contribution to our city. The need for action, rather than reaction, has been expressed by so many people that Mr. Lewis even agreed with my position in the last days of the campaign. I wish Mr. Lewis a successful administration that will concentrate on getting things done for the people of South Haven along with his desire to return the council to a respected and dignified position."

The term of mayor is for two years and for aldermen four years. New officials take office Jan. 1.

Ambulance Subsidy Passed By Benton

Benton township Tuesday night became the second unit of government to approve subsidy of ambulance service under a combined emergency services plan.

The board of trustees approved an annual subsidy of $15,000 for three years to support Action Ambulance.

St. Joseph township Monday night approved a similar pact at a rate of $7,539 per year. Participating units of government are assessed according to their population.

Action was selected by the Community Emergency Service Corp. to serve seven units of governments under the pro-rated subsidy totaling $53,000 per year.

Other units in the agreement are the cities of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, and townships of Lincoln, Royallton and Sodus.

October Good For Domestics

DETROIT (AP) — Domestic car sales in October were the strongest in 17 months, outpacing the recession levels of a year ago by 23 per cent and holding imports to their smallest share of the new-car market in two years. Meanwhile, Japan's Toyota ended Volkswagen's 20-year reign as America's king of imported cars.

Toyota outsold VW by 8,000 cars in October to take a 5,000-unit sales lead over the West German import through the first 10 months of the year. All four U.S. manufacturers on Tuesday reported sales gains from October 1974.

Judge Orders Detroit Busing

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. District Court Justice Robert E. DeMascio has ordered the busing of some 21,000 students to begin Jan. 26, implementing a school integration plan for Detroit 18 months after it was ordered by the U.S. Supreme Court.

City school officials said they were prepared to put the plan into effect and called for parents to support the judge's decision.

The plan affects 28,500 students, with 21,205 students to be bused and the remaining 7,295 to be reassigned through boundary changes not involving busing.

DeMascio's order revised a school board plan to bus 22,262 students and reassign another 6,581.

There are about 247,500 students in the city's public school system, which is 75 per cent black.

DeMascio's order contains a strong appeal to parents to accept this integration plan as the absolute minimum the federal Constitution will permit.

A central goal, DeMascio said, is that the number of white students in the city school system not be "further decreased."

DeMascio said he is "fully aware" of the public opposition to what he called the "burdens imposed" by a busing plan.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has already appealed DeMascio's decision. The NAACP said earlier the judge should hold more public hearings before making his final order.

DeMascio refused, and NAACP lawyers filed appeals with the U.S. 6th District Court of Appeals. A hearing is expected late this year or early next year.

The high court, in its July 1974 order to integrate Detroit schools, excluded the mostly all-white suburbs surrounding the city. However, it left the door open for the NAACP to renew its fight to include the suburbs if it could be proven they were guilty of discrimination.

Since the order was handed down, DeMascio and a panel of experts have held a series of hearings and reviewed several busing plans before reaching Tuesday's final strategy.

House Leader Predicts Bigger Split Among GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader John Rhodes said the GOP could be further divided rather than unified by Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller's decision to withdraw as President Ford's possible 1976 running mate.

"It can be divisive, absolutely. It can indeed," Rhodes said Tuesday. "You may have made some brownie points on the right, although it isn't apparent that these were made, if anybody was trying to make any. You may have lost some of the moderate and liberal spectrum."

Rhodes said in an interview he now would consider the negative and positive reactions to Rockefeller's withdrawal about even.

But he said he doesn't think rock-ribbed conservatives will be happy with anything Ford does from now on. He said the President and the party could be hurt if Rockefeller's supporters among the liberal and moderate wing of the party decide he was treated shabbily.

Asked if absence of a potential Ford running mate would draw liberals and conservatives together, Rhodes said he didn't know that it would.

"I detect a feeling, or sort of a tendency, on the part of some in our party to splinter rather than cohere. That grieves me because we're not large enough to splinter," Rhodes said.

Rhodes said, "I'm getting the word now that many conservatives are saying that the whole thing was a gain for the Russians and that there is some deep dark plot that Rockefeller agreed to resign if the President (Secretary of State) Henry Kissinger have all powers as far as foreign policy is concerned — none of which I believe."

Rhodes said it will be significant to see what liberal Republicans do next. He raised the possibility of a repeat of the 1964 GOP experience "when the liberals took a walk and Sen. Goldwater was soundly defeated. This is certainly not good for the party. I don't believe they will — but they might."

Rhodes also related how presidential staff chief Donald Rumsfeld was asked to be secretary of defense by an aide who tracked him down at a Washington Redskins professional football game Sunday.

Rhodes said Rumsfeld told him that was the first time he learned of the Cabinet shakeups which included the dismissals of Defense Secretary James Schlesinger and CIA Director William Colby.

Rhodes said, Rumsfeld expressed surprise at the shifts and at the offer of the defense job, relayed to him by his deputy, Richard Cheney.

Cheney asked Rumsfeld for an immediate answer on whether he would take the defense job, Rhodes said. Rumsfeld recounted the conversation this way, according to Rhodes.

False ID Cards In Area

Benton Township Police Warn Merchants

The Benton township police department has alerted taverns and liquor stores to be on the lookout for false identification cards that have been sold to teenagers in this area during the past two months.

Detective Sgt. Roger Peters said Tuesday his department has received several complaints from parents whose underage children have used the cards to illegally obtain intoxicants.

The green, official-looking identification cards include fingerprints and a color photograph and are laminated in plastic.

They also include a reference to the California penal code that might make them appear some type of official identification from that state.

Every card confiscated by police also has used a false California address as well as a false birth date that indicates the bearer is over 18 years of age.

Peters estimated between 50-75 of the cards are in circulation in this area at the present time. He said they were prepared and sold during the past two months in the Benton Heights area by a man who is believed to have returned to California.

No prosecution of the man is planned, if he has, indeed, left the state, but anyone using one of the false ID cards to purchase alcoholic beverages could be prosecuted under the state liquor control act.

Judge Off Harris Case

Austrian Donates Rare Locomotive To U.S. Zoo

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — An antique engine with "oomph and grunt" may soon become the nation's only operating European steam locomotive, officials say.

A gift to Henry Doorly Zoo here, the 85-year-old train carried freight in Austria, the Soviet Union and Romania before being shipped to the United States, according to Zoo Director Dr. Lee Simmons.

Because they were phased out in the 1960s, there are now "very few operable steam engines in the country," according to Union Pacific Chief Engineer Robert Brown.

"People in this country have never seen a locomotive like this one," he added.

Built in Linz, Austria, and purchased in 1989 by an Austrian firm, the locomotive was donated during an Omaha visit by the firm's president, Joseph Theurer of Vienna.

The $150,000 engine will initially serve as an alternate for the zoo's newer model, a replica of a train that ran 100 years ago at Promontory, Utah.

"Steam engines are becoming a lost art. That's why our current one has been so popular. There just isn't any place you can go now and see a steam engine," Simmons commented. "I think there are a lot of people who come to the zoo simply to ride the train."

Officials weren't sure when the Austrian train would be ready to roll. "But you can bet I'll be one of the first passengers," said Simmons.

The old engine could turn out to be a long-term attraction at the zoo. "With proper maintenance, they can be kept going practically forever," said Simmons. A crew has been working to install an air brake system necessary for the zoo grounds' steep inclines. Zoo officials are now "looking all over the country" for railroad cars with a 30-inch gauge, the width between wheels. "Standard gauge" became 50 1/2 inches around the turn of the century, Brown explained.

The locomotive could haul seven to eight such cars and transport about 200 people an hour, Simmons said.

"There are more adults' tickets sold than kids'. The older folks get just as big a bang out of it as the kids," said Brown, a member of the zoo's board of directors.

Brown said retired engineers have trained younger engineers to operate the engines, because "not very many engineers know how to run the big steam locomotive."

"There's a whole lot of difference between handling live steam and a diesel engine," agreed Simmons, a train buff who plans to learn to operate the locomotive "just for fun."

THE DONATION: This 85-year-old steam engine built in Austria has been donated to Henry Doorly zoo in Omaha, Neb. Steam locomotives gave way to diesels in the 1960s but still are popular for short trips.

Galien Township Official Quits

GALIEN — Ralph Smith, Galien township building inspector, submitted his resignation to the Galien township board last night, but Supervisor Frank James said no action will be taken on it until the next meeting.

Smith, who is also a township trustee, said that as building inspector, he is caught in the middle between county regulations and builders pressuring him for a permit.

He said that recently a contractor had been pressuring him to issue a building permit in spite of the fact that the contractor did not have a county health department permit for septic tank use.

In other action, James said he had inspected Avery road south of US-12, which divides Galien and Three Oaks townships, and he said he found it in good condition.

James had told Avery road residents at last month's meeting that he would look into their request for improvements to the gravel road.

Last night, James said he had found the road to be in as good a condition as any gravel road in the township, and he said that as far as he is concerned, Galien township cannot afford to do any more to the road.

The board also voted to accept the low bid of $518 from Michiana Tire company, Niles, for four new tires for a township fire truck. There were two other bids.

The board agreed to allow the American Legion to put a light in the Galien cemetery to shine on the American flag there. Board members said the legion must pay the cost of installation and any amount of the electric bill at the cemetery which exceeds the monthly minimum.

Two Sides Reach Accord On Land Near Ross Field

The Cities of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph have agreed with owners of a Benton township bait shop to pay $75,000 for the property so a runway approach at Ross field airport can be expanded.

The stipulation was entered this week in Berrien Circuit court and was signed by Judge William S. White. The agreement awards the sum to Rueben and Gertrude Hess for 2.58 acres of land at 655 North Crystal avenue, which includes the Hess' residence and Barney's bait shop.

The cities, as joint owners and operators of the airport, had filed suit in circuit court seeking condemnation in order to obtain the land.

According to St. Joseph City Atty. A.G. Preston Jr., the land was needed to comply with Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) regulations concerning clearances over runway glidepaths. He said acquisition of the Hess property will allow expansion of the east-west runway at Ross field.

The federal government will pay the $75,000 for the land through a grant to the airport from the Department of Transportation and FAA, according to Atty. Carl Burdick, who served as special counsel for both cities in the case.

Burdick also noted that condemnation proceedings against two other property owners have been dismissed because the aviation easements sought were acquired voluntarily. Burdick said only aerial easements were needed over land at 2040 Red Arrow highway, owned by George Matthews, of Tucson, Ariz., and being purchased by James Scruggs, of Stevensville, and no land was purchased.

Dowagiac College Adopts Budget

DOWAGIAC — Southwestern Michigan college board last night adopted a general fund budget of $2,419,213 for 1975-76. The budget represents a 25.7 per cent increase or $495,439 over last year's figure of $1,923,774.

Dr. Fred Mathews, board chairman, said the increase was largely due to a fall student enrollment increase of 30 per cent, largest enrollment increase in the college's history.

He pointed out that the budget increase was being accomplished without hikes in local taxation or in tuition. SMC will continue to levy the original 1½ mills approved by taxpayers in 1964. Dr. Mathews said tuition rates have not been increased for five years.

The majority of budget revenues will be provided by state school aid, funding, $1,408,681; tuition, $583,844; and local taxes, $270,301.

Major expenditures as outlined in the budget include $727,407 for the college's applied science department and $623,052 for SMC's arts and sciences department. The applied science department's budget is made up of $500,933 in salaries and fringe benefits, $48,120 in operating costs, and $68,444 in capital outlay. The arts and sciences department budget is made up of $474,980 in salaries and fringe benefits, $74,510 in operating costs, and $73,562 in capital outlay.

Administration costs have been pegged at $329,418, including salaries and fringe benefits of $104,132, operating costs of $102,071, and capital outlay of $83,215.

Facilities and maintenance costs are at $179,563, including $94,463 in salaries and fringe benefits, $75,990 in operating costs, and $9,200 in capital outlay.

Student services expenditures are pegged at $274,715, including salaries and fringe benefits of $173,702, operating costs of $85,188, and capital outlay at $8,824.

The board also adopted a revised building and site fund budget, which estimates expenditures of $69,200 and revenues of $38,000. The estimated building and site fund balance as of next June was set at $624,193. The figure, however, included carry-over funds from previous years.

In other areas, the board accepted grants and gifts totaling $17,351, including an $11,989 supplemental work study grant from the U.S. Office of Education. Others included a $2,000 gift from Lulu and Harold Amersdorfer of Dowagiac, $1,002 from the Dowagiac Exchange club, $300 from Robert's One-Hour Cleaners, Dowagiac, $200 from the Amersdorfer-Willise Insurance agency, Dowagiac, and a motorized wheel chair valued at $1,200 from Mrs. Bert Webster of Cissopolis.

The board also issued a statement deploring the political reform bill, recently passed by the state legislature and pledged its support to "Whatever actions must be taken..." against the bill.

The board passed a resolution of congratulations to SMC's cross country team on its recent state and regional championship victories.

New State, Seafarer Unpopular In UP

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A proposal to make the Upper Peninsula and part of Wisconsin the nation's 51st state proved unpopular Tuesday as voters in Marquette and Iron Mountain rejected the suggestion by wide margins.

The controversial Navy project Seafarer also was soundly defeated by Upper Peninsula voters in Iron Mountain. Residents voted 1,778 to 612 against installing the communications grid.

Marquette voters defeated the statehood question by more than a 2-1 margin, 1,842 to 770. In Iron Mountain, the separate, state suggestion was voted down 1,001 to 748.

In Grand Rapids, Abe Drasin, a city commissioner, was elected as the city's new mayor. Drasin beat another city commissioner, Harold Dekker, 21,329 to 14,190.

Incumbent Mayor Lyman Parks, the city's first black mayor, was defeated in a primary contest Sept. 9.

In the Detroit enclave of Highland Park, incumbent Robert Blackwell was downed by challenger Jesse Miller, 3,982 to 3,169. Miller, with support from Congressman John Conyers, accused Blackwell of running a corrupt administration.

Incumbent Petoskey Mayor Barbara Waters defeated one-time city clerk Bob Jennings, 826-973. In nearby East Jordan, Virginia Glacomelli defeated incumbent Mayor Harry Watson, 361-207.

Kentwood voters re-elected incumbent Peter Lamberts to his fifth term as mayor of the Grand Rapids suburb. Lamberts outdistanced opponent Joseph Salidino 1,958 to 824 in the non-partisan election.

In East Detroit, Mayor Walter Bezz was defeated in his bid for re-election by Allyn Weinert, a 35-year-old school teacher, 8,808 to 4,542.

Bezz, 53, had been mayor since 1967. He was the immediate past president of the Michigan Municipal League and was elected this summer as president of the Michigan Conference of Mayors.

Olivet's incumbent Mayor Paul Mabry was re-elected overwhelmingly to a two-year term. Mabry had 253 votes over Louis Dubson, who polled 79 votes.

Mabry has been mayor since 1973.

In Alpena, voters returned incumbent Mayor William Gilmet to office.

Voters in Frederic passed a $545,000 general obligation bond issue. The money will be used to build a new elementary school.

In West Branch, Republican candidate Robert Marshall was elected mayor Tuesday over write-in candidate Jack Oswald, 306 to 288.

Voters also approved, 472 to 160, a city charter making the city a home rule city with a city manager.

In Dearborn Heights, all four school board members who voted to fire 180 striking Crestwood School District teachers' won re-election by a wide margin. Defeated in the election were one of the fired teachers and the husband of another.

The vote was seen as strong support for the action, which has since been upheld in the courts.

Justin Emerson won the mayor's seat in Belleville, downing John Chudzinski, 415-73.

Tax Collection Law Signed By Milliken

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has signed into law a bill aimed at saving the state $25,000 to $80,000 a year through increased tax collection efficiency.

The law would allow a deputy revenue commissioner to sign orders, certificates or subpoenas issued by the state Department of Treasury. It also would let the revenue commissioner select a district manager to sign jeopardy tax warrants.

Jeopardy tax warrants are issued to secure payment of taxes when they say it is apparent the person who owes the taxes is trying to avoid payment by moving out of the state or selling property quickly.

Currently, only the revenue commissioner may sign such documents, a practice officials say reduces the efficiency of the collection system.

Oilmen's Proposal Delays EPA Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A proposal by Michigan's oil industry has delayed House action on a bill to amend the state's Environmental Protection Act (EPA).

The proposal would give circuit courts around the state authority to set deadlines for environmental lawsuits against industry projects. It would be extremely difficult for suits to be filed after that deadline.

The 5-year-old EPA, which industries are attempting to amend, sets no time limits on suits by citizens or groups. The bill before the House would make it necessary to file suits within 30 days after an operating permit is issued to a company.

The oil industry proposal was detailed at a meeting Tuesday in the office of House Republican Leader Dennis Cawthorne just three hours before the House again delayed action on the bill.

Sponsored by Sen. Joe Mack, D-Ironwood, the bill itself has received Senate approval, but was rejected by the House in August. A second House vote has been stalled for more than two months.

The oil plan would allow any company to tell a circuit court it wants assurance its project will not be unexpectedly stopped by environmental lawsuits. The bill now before the House would apply only to mining companies.

Judges would then set "reasonable" deadlines for citizens and groups to state their opposition before the court. A later deadline would be set for them to file their individual suits, which would be consolidated into a single suit.

Oil industry lobbyist Robert Waldron said his proposal would give industry more certainty about future plans. He said it would let companies know promptly how much opposition they face and how long court challenges might delay their plans, rather than force them to face unexpected suits at any time as is the case under current law.

Critics are expected to oppose court-set deadlines on suits, which could vary from case to case. They are expected to charge such deadlines restrict litigation against industries doing environmental harm.

Waldron, however, said the plan is "a very simple procedure to get things settled, it's theoretically sound and it wouldn't hurt anybody."

Abortion Ban Ruled Illegal

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A state appropriations act that bans the use of Medicaid money to help poor women pay for voluntary abortions has been declared unconstitutional by the state attorney general.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said Tuesday a section of the 1975-76 appropriations bill for the Department of Social Services is a clear attempt "to revise, alter or amend" Michigan's Medicaid program.

He said the state Constitution and the Michigan Supreme Court have made it clear such revisions cannot be made in an appropriations bill.

The provision in the bill, passed by the legislature last summer, banned the use of Medicaid money to perform abortions "except when necessary to preserve the life of the mother."

Last week the department announced it would make no more Medicaid payments until the appropriations bill provision was deemed proper or improper by Kelley and the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

But Medicaid officials in Michigan earlier had been reluctant to enforce the abortion ban and had continued to pay for the abortions despite the language in the law.

SJ Coffeehouse Offers Bluegrass Sounds Friday

The Silver Fiddle, a coffeehouse in the basement of the Unitarian church, St. Joseph, will open Friday, Nov. 7.

The Friends of the Fiddle, a group of St. Joseph young people who operate the coffeehouse, announced the opening show will feature Hickory Creek, a local bluegrass band that has appeared at the St. Joseph Art Fair, a bluegrass festival in Charlotte, Mich., and an open-air concert in Hartford during the past summer.

Also appearing will be Doug Hardy, a St. Joseph guitarist, and Doug East and Paula Scherer, folk musicians from Charlotte.

The coffeehouse will be open from 8 to 12 p.m. The Silver Fiddle will operate entirely on donations and will be a non-profit enterprise.

The group of young people first approached the members of the Unitarian Fellowship in early October and found them very receptive to the idea. Andy Willey, chairman of the Friends of the Fiddle, said, "We want to thank the members of the Unitarian Fellowship for giving us this opportunity for providing space to us at a very nominal fee, and especially Atty. Carl Burdick, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Fuller, and Mr. and Mrs. David Abbey for help they've given us in getting it off the ground."

When asked why they undertook the project, the group cited a lack of places in the Twin Cities area where it is possible to hear live music without either paying for alcoholic beverages or buying an expensive meal.

Dan Geib, another member of Friends of the Fiddle said, "We want a place where people could come in and relax, and enjoy quality acoustic music in a low key atmosphere. No one else seemed to be planning to open a place like that, so we decided to do it ourselves." Refreshments will also be served, including coffee, tea, soft drinks and baked goods.

The group hopes to add showings of films such as Marx Brothers, Three Stooges and W.C. Fields in the near future. They are also planning on entertainment including Bart Moore, Ben Schwartz, Rob Zanders, and the Chickenhawks in the next few weeks.

The church is located at the corner of Market and Main Streets, next to the Whirlpool Credit Union.

Sadat's Wife Says Arabs Like U.S.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The 150 million people of the Arab world never harbored ill feelings toward Americans, even during periods of misunderstanding, says Mrs. Anwar Sadat.

The wife of Egypt's president, who was in Florida the past four days, told a crowd of 300 at Jacksonville University Tuesday night that "our people stand ready and hopeful, as they have always been, extending the hand of friendship, looking forward to the best of relations with the people and government of the United States of America."

ORDERED TO 'KEEP QUIET'

Pair Say PBB Error Spotted

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Two workers at a Battle Creek plant swear they were ordered to keep quiet after spotting an error blamed for triggering what is believed to be the nation's largest livestock poisoning.

In a copyrighted story Tuesday, the Grand Rapids Press reported both workers made the sworn statements as part of preparations for a variety of lawsuits stemming from the poisonings.

The story did not identify the workers except to say they work as mixing operators at a Michigan Farm Bureau Service plant in Battle Creek. There was no indication of when the testimony was given.

The plant's manager, identified by both employees as the one ordering their silence, has denied their allegations, the Press reported. The manager also was not identified.

One of the employees testified he told the plant manager in 1973 that a material labeled "Firemaster" was stored in a warehouse along with feed supplements but was told to inventory the Firemaster, a fire-retardant substance, along with feed supplements.

That worker testified when he heard about the poisonings in 1974 he approached the plant manager but was ordered to keep quiet.

More than 20,000 cattle and hogs, plus 1.5 million chickens, have been destroyed under state orders after they consumed feed containing a toxic fire retardant, polybrominated biphenyl (PBB). Huge quantities of contaminated milk products and eggs also were destroyed after animals ate feed laced with PBB.

The chemical apparently was accidentally mixed in with feed when it was mistaken for a feed additive.

A second mixing operator said under questioning he was told by the manager the plant might close if word of the mixup got out.

Gary Schenk, a Grand Rapids lawyer representing at least 85 farmers whose livestock were stricken by PBB, was quoted as saying representatives of Farm Bureau Services and Michigan Chemical Co. have known about the testimony since last spring but failed to make it public.

The Farm Bureau is suing Michigan Chemical for $275 million, claiming the chemical firm was negligent by selling the bureau the poisonous chemical instead of a feed additive. The fire retardant then was mixed into feed sold by Farm Bureau.

Animals which consumed the feed became sickly, and many gave birth to deformed offspring. Health officials have said they do not believe the public was harmed in the incident, as they say most of the contaminated products were destroyed. Even if some were consumed, amounts of the chemical ingested were too small to be harmful, officials have said.

GM Sets Dividend

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. has declared a fourth-quarter dividend of 80 cents a share, payable Dec. 10 to shareholders of record Nov. 13.

The dividend is down from 85 cents for the same year-ago period, and brings total GM dividends for 1975 to $2.40 a share, down from $3.40 a share in 1974.

GM cut its regular quarterly dividend to 60 cents in the first quarter and maintained that payout for the rest of the year. The reduction, triggered by a slump in company profits, was GM's first since 1946 and saved the company about $287 million in payouts for the entire year.

Last week, GM reported third-quarter earnings of $243 million, a 14-fold increase from poor year-ago levels.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

TAR AND FEATHERS was a form of punishment in which the victim was coated with molten pitch or tar and then covered with feathers. Although it was an official punishment in England as early as the 12th century, it is associated in America with mob action. The Sons of Liberty used this punishment against Loyalists and Crown officials prior to and during the Revolutionary War. The World Almanac recalls.

Veterans Can Erase Discharge Number

Area veterans can request the removal of the Separation Program Number (SPN), the code number stating reason and authority for discharge, from their discharge papers, according to Richard T. Lane, Lake Michigan College veterans administration representative.

SPN numbers were eliminated from discharge papers by military directive in May, 1974. Lane said the SPN number could be deleted from veteran's discharge papers who were discharged before that date and could be beneficial to veterans currently attending college who will soon begin seeking jobs.

The SPN code was eliminated, according to Lane, because prospective employers were using the code number, which rates such characteristics as conduct and personality, in consideration of hiring veterans.

Lane said veterans desiring deletion of the code number should request a new form DD 214 from the branch of service they were in and include full name, military serial service number, social security number and dates of service.

Salton Sea Appears Doomed

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
California's Salton sea may expire before long unless steps are taken to reduce its mounting salt content.

The sea, which has become a popular recreation spot, was formed shortly after 1900 when the rain-swollen Colorado river inundated large portions of the southern Mojave desert, forming a 280-square mile body of water which has an average depth of 40 feet, depending on the extent of rainfall.

However, an estimated 4 million tons of salt is funneled into the sea each year with the discharge of the Whitewater, New and Alamo rivers into the Salton's southern end. These three rivers are fed largely by runoff from the Mexican, Imperial and Coachella valleys which draw on subsurface salt beds throughout the area.

At present, the salt content of the sea is about 38,000 parts per million (ppm), as compared to the 34,000 of normal sea water. Unless action is taken by 1979, experts warn, it is feared the content will reach 40,000 ppm or more. At that level, fish reproduction stops and the sea could eventually expire.

Loss of the sea's game fish would threaten the existence of the $350 million recreation industry which has grown up around the sea. Engineers say that the salt content can be reduced by stopping it at the source. They have proposed constructing a dike across the southern end of the sea where the three rivers discharge.

It was first estimated that such a project would run around $130 million, but later the figure was shaved down to $80 million, plus a maintenance cost to local taxpayers of about $250,000 a year.

A feasibility study has recommended that the federal government pay about $40 million of the cost of the desalination project with the remainder raised by taxing nonagricultural property in the area. It is estimated that, if such a project is launched before 1979, the sea's salt content could be reduced to normal levels within two decades or less.

Delegations of California citizens, legislators and businessmen have traveled to Washington in search of federal aid, but they say they have made little headway so far.

NEVER FLIES: Firmly anchored to terra firma is an experimental windmill. Two rotor blades spanning 125 feet top a 200-foot tower at Plum Brook Station of the Energy Research & Development Administration, Wind Energy Systems Branch, Dayton, designed to start turning in 8 m.p.h. wind, reach maximum power output at 18 m.p.h. and should generate sufficient electricity to power some 20 homes.

Loss of the sea's game fish would threaten the existence of the $350 million recreation industry which has grown up around the sea. Engineers say that the salt content can be reduced by stopping it at the source. They have proposed constructing a dike across the southern end of the sea where the three rivers discharge.

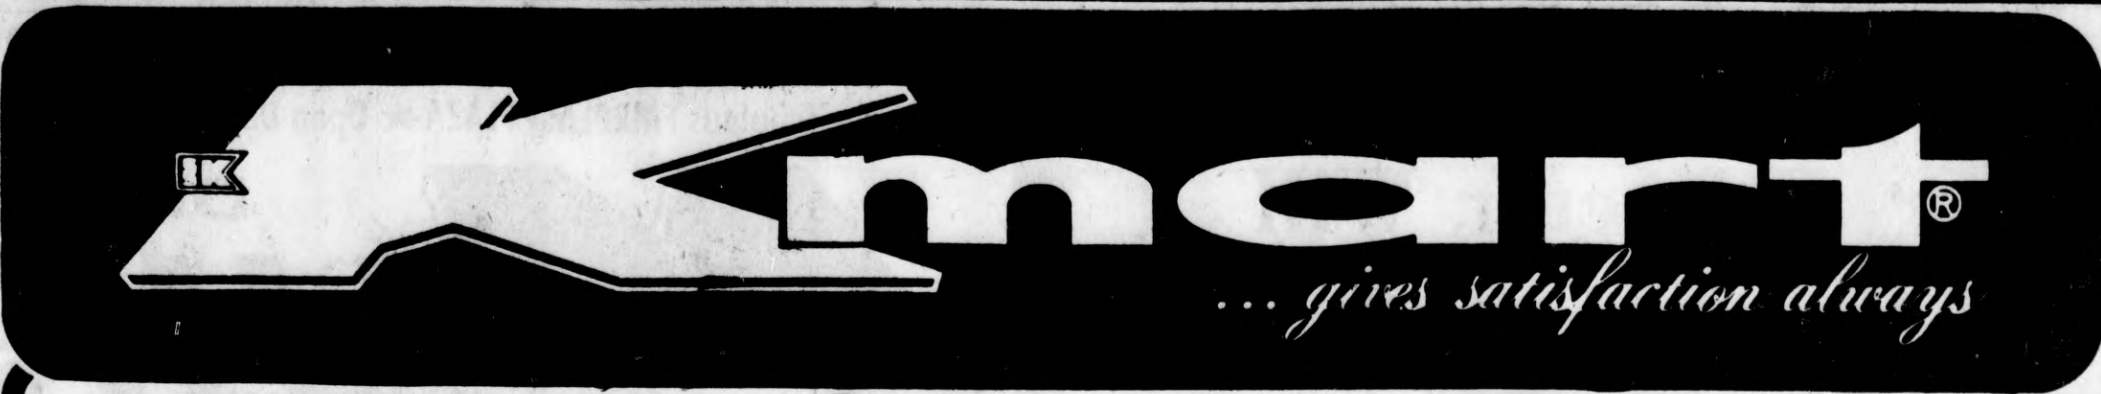

It was first estimated that such a project would run around $130 million, but later the figure was shaved down to $58 million, plus a maintenance cost to local taxpayers of about $250,000 a year.

A feasibility study has recommended that the federal government pay about $40 million of the cost of the desalinization project with the remainder raised by taxing nonagricultural property in the area. It is estimated that, if such a project is launched before 1979, the sea's salt content could be reduced to normal levels within two decades or less.

Delegations of California citizens, legislators and businessmen have traveled to Washington in search of federal aid, but they say they have made little headway so far.

Some Settlements Made

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has reached a tentative out-of-court settlement with 39 car-owners who claimed in a $1.2 billion suit that their cars rusted too soon, a Ford spokesman says. The spokesman said Tuesday the company had made an offer to the plaintiffs, but refused to discuss the amount of money involved. But Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Joseph Wise, who handled the case, said the amount was tentatively set at $27,000.

Area Election Results

Bridgman

BRIDGMAN — James Bernbenek, James Catania and Marilyn Stanard won four-year terms on the Bridgman city commission in the city's election yesterday.

The three were among four candidates seeking the posts of incumbents Otha McIntosh and Bruno Szygielski, who did not seek re-election, and William Kidd who moved from the city.

According to unofficial returns, Mrs. Stanard received 228 votes, Bernbenek, 220, and Catania, 186.

The fourth city commission candidate, Dominic D'Agostino Jr., received 48 votes, election officials said.

Unopposed in bids for six-year terms on the library board were incumbent Josephine Gilmore with 212 votes and newcomer Nancy Geisler, 204 votes.

A proposed charter amendment to make the end of the fiscal year June 30 for all of the city's departments was approved by a 229 to 13 margin. Previously, only the city water department's fiscal year ended in June.

Election officials said 259 people cast ballots.

Buchanan

BUCHANAN — Buchanan Mayor Joseph C. Bachman defeated two other candidates and was re-elected to a three-year term on the Buchanan city commission yesterday.

According to unofficial returns, Bachman received 250 votes; Cletha Wade, 114; and Thomas Hagley, 70.

Bachman's term as mayor ends later this month when city commissioners are scheduled to select the city's top executive officer from among commission members.

Election officials said that there were 16 spoiled ballots among the 450 cast.

The city has 2,617 registered voters.

Dowagiac

DOWAGIAC — One incumbent lost his council seat, but two others were re-elected for four-year terms in Dowagiac's city elections yesterday, according to preliminary returns.

Voters also approved a property tax levy of one mill to finance the city's dual-a-ride program and other transportation needs.

Losing his council seat, according to the preliminary returns, was third ward Councilman Muri Recker. Recker received 107 votes according to the unofficial returns while challenger Clarence Solf received 113. Albert Diamond, received 111 votes, according to preliminary returns, as the other third ward candidate.

First ward incumbent Robert Hess received 167 votes to challenger Carl Turner's 136, and in the second ward, incumbent Maurice Oppenheim, running unopposed, received 351 votes.

The proposal to levy up to one mill for dual-a-ride and public transportation won by a vote of 515 to 324.

In other races, third ward Constable Joseph Bercini was re-elected with 190 votes and challenger Rueben Miller received 104 votes.

City Clerk Albert First, running unopposed, received 841 votes, and first ward Constable Robert Mortimore, also running unopposed, received 172 votes.

First said that his preliminary calculations showed about 980 of the city's approximately 3,000 registered voters voted in yesterday's elections.

Gobles

GOBLES — Three incumbents were among four candidates elected to Gobles city commission seats in city elections here yesterday.

Returned to office for four-year terms were Anthony Koshar, with 91 votes and Arthur Livock with 88 votes, according to preliminary returns.

Incumbent Gary Sorrell won a three-year term with 86 votes and newcomer Steve Krueger also won a three-year term with 62 votes.

The other two candidates, Richard Riksen and David Rumery received 34 and 55 votes, respectively, according to election officials.

Of 423 registered voters in the city, 113 voted, officials said.

Niles

NILES — Niles city voters yesterday elected Robert Woodbridge, incumbent Republican, to his first full term as mayor.

Unofficial vote totals showed Woodbridge, who was appointed to the position in March following the death of Ralph Wegner, polled 1,622 votes compared to Democratic challenger Paul Clark's 620 votes. Woodbridge, 62, is a retired assistant vice-president of the first National Bank of Southwestern Michigan.

The only incumbent to meet defeat was Richard Asmus, Democratic first ward councilman. Elected in the first ward were John B. Frucci, Democrat, 220 votes, and incumbent Charles Skopce, Republican, 222 votes. Asmus received 189 votes.

Second ward councilman winners were incumbents Louis Droleit, Republican, 396 votes, and Melvin Bookout, Republican, 416 votes. Democratic challengers Ralph Mooney and Ralph Dewees, received 240 and 186 votes, respectively.

In the third ward, Democratic incumbents Clayton Hemphill and Robert Knoll were re-elected with 268 and 270 votes, respectively. Republican challenger William DePry captured 189 votes.

In the only other contested race, for second ward constable, Republican incumbent Ossie Briggs defeated Democratic challenger Lincoln Gessinger, 391 to 229.

Unopposed candidates, incumbent city clerk, Mrs. Donna Fout, a Republican, polled 1,003 votes; incumbent treasurer Marjory Bachman, a Democrat, captured 1,346 votes. Unopposed constable candidates, Tryce Moody, first ward Republican, received 228 votes; Ralph Webb Jr., third ward Democrat, 275 votes; and Allen Dulin, fourth ward Democrat, 378 votes.

A total of 2,265 votes were cast in yesterday's election or 36 per cent of the city's 6,440 registered voters.

STATE RECORD: A 43-pound 5 ounce chinook salmon, caught by Jan Naples, Bay City, Mich., has been confirmed as a Michigan record for chinook coming out of the Great Lakes. It tops by two ounces the 43-3 fish caught by Brad Owens in Muskegon Lake. Something of a neophyte when it comes to salmon fishing she sought advice from veteran fishermen as to rigging her tackle and it paid off. (AP Wirephoto)

Flaherty Loses Council Seat Bid In Watervliet

WATERVLIET — Robert Flaherty, a veteran political leader here, lost his bid for a city commission seat in yesterday's city election.

Flaherty, 55, was seeking the post instead of seeking re-election as mayor, a position he has held for almost 15 years. He had served as city treasurer from 1957 to 1959, before becoming the city's chief executive officer.

Flaherty came in fourth in a five-way race for the three seats, according to unofficial vote returns. The winners were Sandra Jean Pritchett, Ed W. Campbell and Charles Burress.

Also losing was incumbent commissioner Paul E. Muth, who was seeking his second four-year term on the commission.

Victor in the race for the post being vacated by Flaherty was Arvid Frazier, a former city commissioner. According to unofficial returns, he polled 146 votes to outdistance Thomas Murphy who received 83 votes and write-in candidate, commissioner William Loshbough who received 93 votes.

Murphy sought the office instead of seeking re-election to the commission.

In the commission race, the vote totals showed Mrs. Pritchett with 218, Campbell, 192, Burress, 189, Flaherty, 188, and Muth, 162.

Flaherty's decision to run for the commission was made near the filing deadline for candidates after he had initially indicated he would seek re-election as mayor. He said he changed to the commission

Coloma Twp. Officials Set Hours

COLOMA — Office hours for two newly appointed Coloma township officials have been announced.

Supervisor Ewald Eckblom will be at the township hall on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 8:30 a.m. until 11 a.m. and will accept telephone calls evenings at his home located at 8755 Pine Court, Coloma.

Clerk John Ferris announced his office hours will be from 9 a.m. to noon, on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

Bridgman, Lake Spend $39,037 Annexation Fight Is Costly

BRIDGMAN — The city of Bridgman and Lake township have spent a combined total of $39,037 so far in legal fees because of the city's proposal to annex the $800 million Cook nuclear plant from the township.

Lake township has paid out $25,885 to fight the annexation and the city has spent $13,152 in support of it.

And, the battle, which began in February, appears to be a long way from being over.

The state boundary commission is expected to rule on the city's request to annex the plant in January, but that decision has already been clouded by a recent court of appeals ruling which held that certain boundary commission decisions are unconstitutional. The township has vowed to fight the move as long as necessary.

The township board on Monday approved paying the $25,885 to the law firm representing it, Spelman, Taglia, Meek and Laigoni of St. Joseph.

That sum pays the township's bill through Sept. 22, according to Mrs. Elsie Reck, township clerk.

Bridgman also paid its law firm on Monday a total of $13,152. Bridgman is represented in the case by the firm of Ryan, McQuillan, Vanderploeg and Fette of St. Joseph. Mrs. Phyllis Weber, city clerk, said the Bridgman commission also transferred $35,000 from the street fund to the financial administration fund.

Galien Tax Is Approved

GALIEN — School district voters here yesterday approved a two-year, 1.7-mill property tax levy to finance roof and window repairs for the high school building, according to school officials.

According to unofficial returns, the levy was approved by a vote of 250 to 77.

School officials said the levy will raise about $22,000 the first year in local taxes and bring in another $30,000 in state aid towards the repairs that are expected to cost about $100,000.

Approval of the levy for school operations will not mean an overall increase in the district's tax levy, school officials said.

A similar drop in the district's bond debt levy will keep the millage rate about the same this coming school year as it was last year.

The total tax levy last year was 28.377 and for the coming year it will be 28.378, according to Supt. Robert Tilmann.

Keeler Will Clears Its Fire Lanes

KEELER — Patrick Daly, a trustee on the Keeler township board, was appointed by the board last night to oversee the clearing of obstructions from the township's fire lanes.

Daly was appointed by Supervisor John Gillesby to head the project after Gene Tiltman, a township resident, said someone planted a tree in a fire lane on Victory Shore drive near Sister Lakes.

In other areas, the board tabled until next spring any action on drainage work to ease standing water problems at the Woodlawn subdivision in Sister Lakes.

It was also announced that the Keeler landfill on the John Wolff property will close Dec. 1 until spring.

About $25,000 of that sum is earmarked for legal fees in the case, she said.

The city unveiled its plans to annex the plant in February of this year.

City officials have claimed that annexation is necessary for the future growth of the city.

Township officials have charged the proposal is a "mere tax grab."

State boundary commission officials concluded a two-part hearing on the matter Oct. 8 and announced a decision would be rendered about the first of next year.

Incumbents Lose Three Seats In Hartford Voting

HARTFORD — The incumbent Hartford mayor and two incumbent city councilmen lost their seats in the city's elections yesterday.

According to unofficial returns, Wayne Nelson won his bid for a two-year term as mayor by a 264 to 212 vote margin over incumbent Mayor Gene Story who had been appointed to the post in March.

Winning two-year council seats were Elmer Eugene Hadley with 261 votes, Charles A. Engle with 204 votes, and incumbent Councilman Lois Budeau, 240 votes.

Incumbent Councilmen Von Dean Huddleston and D. Ellsworth Smith each polled 177 votes in defeat. Two other unsuccessful council candidates, Gene Larsson and James Markel, received 177 and 154 votes, respectively.

Nelson, son of former Hartford mayor Norb Nelson, and Hadley, Engle and Larsson, all former councilmen, ran as a team. Markel ran as an independent.

Incumbent City Clerk Jewell Story easily defeated write-in candidate Vivian DeMorrow, 311 to 51, according to election returns.

Unopposed for re-election to one-year terms were Lucille Mann, the incumbent treasurer who received 384 votes, and Robert Beatty, the incumbent assessor who received 358 votes.

Election officials said 485 of the city's 1,253 registered voters cast ballots in the non-partisan election.

Mrs. Story said the normal turnout of voters in a local election was about 300 to 350 voters. She attributed the large number of voters in yesterday's election to heavy campaigning on the part of the candidates.

Housing Battle Cools

DETROIT (AP) — The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development wants a compromise in the battle over the demolition of abandoned HUD houses, a federal official has revealed.

The federal agency earlier had threatened to press criminal charges against the city in connection with the city's demolition of HUD-owned houses.

After a meeting Tuesday with Mayor Coleman Young, Donald Morrow, HUD regional administrator, said a court battle over the demolitions "wouldn't serve anybody's purpose."

He said the problem that must be worked out is what to do with the 2,000 abandoned HUD houses in Detroit.

When the city tore down two of the houses on Oct. 17, HUD officials threatened prosecution and insisted the city pay HUD an average of $14,000 for each abandoned dwelling.

Detroit officials said they were taking the demolition into their own hands because the abandoned homes posed a health and safety hazard and HUD had delayed too long in tearing the ramshackle dwellings down.

'Afterthought' Turns Into Cash

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An afterthought will mean at least $10,000 for Willard H. Stuart of Ferndale and it might be worth $200,000.

Stuart, 55, an industrial designer for a Royal Oak firm, had a winning Michigan lottery ticket and didn't bother to doublecheck the number until just days before the one-year life of the ticket ran out.

Newspaper reports of the missing super-ticket finally caught his attention and he looked again.

Stuart, who has a wife, Dorothy, and three children, will compete with four other contestants on the Michigan Lottery's Super Play show at 7 p.m. Thursday.

The Super Drawing stakes have been raised by $7,500 to add a bit of spice. Prizes will total $10,000, $12,500, $15,000, $25,000 and the top $200,000.

Previously, $255,000 was doled out weekly, but the new pot totals $262,500.

The state Lottery Bureau announced other changes this week as well.

The spinning "Wheel of Fortune" will be replaced by contestants selecting sealed envelopes from a fishbowl and placing them in slots containing prize amounts.

A new once, Bob Hynes, will replace Jim Culver, who will return to his fulltime job as deputy lottery commissioner for marketing.

Flaherty Loses Council Seat Bid In Watervliet

WATERVLIT — Robert Flaherty, a veteran political leader here, lost his bid for a city commission seat in yesterday's city election.

Flaherty, 55, was seeking the post instead of seeking re-election as mayor, a position he has held for almost 15 years. He had served as city treasurer from 1957 to 1959, before becoming the city's chief executive officer.

Flaherty came in fourth in a five-way race for the three seats, according to unofficial vote returns. The winners were Sandra Jean Pritchett, Ed W. Campbell and Charles Burruss.

Also losing was incumbent commissioner Paul E. Muth, who was seeking his second four-year term on the commission.

Victor in the race for the post being vacated by Flaherty was Arvid Frazier, a former city commissioner. According to unofficial returns, he polled 146 votes to outdistance Thomas Murphy who received 83 votes and write-in candidate, commissioner William Loshbough who received 93 votes.

Flaherty's decision to run for the commission was made near the filing deadline for candidates after he had initially indicated he would seek re-election as mayor. He said he changed to the commission

Coloma Twp. Officials Set Hours

COLOMA — Office hours for two newly appointed Coloma township officials have been announced.

Supervisor Ewald Eckblom will be at the township hall on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 8:30 a.m. until 11 a.m., and will accept telephone calls evenings at his home located at 6755 Pine Court, Coloma.

Clerk John Ferris announced his office hours will be from 9 a.m. to noon, on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

BRIDGMAN — The city of Bridgman and Lake township have spent a combined total of $39,037 so far in legal fees because of the city's proposal to annex the $800 million Cook nuclear plant from the township.

Lake township has paid out $25,885 to fight the annexation and the city has spent $13,152 in support of it.

And, the battle, which began in February, appears to be a long way from being over.

The state boundary commission is expected to rule on the city's request to annex the plant in January, but that decision has already been clouded by a recent court of appeals ruling which held that certain boundary commission decisions are unconstitutional. The township has vowed to fight the move as long as necessary.

The township board on Monday approved paying the $25,885 to the law firm representing it, Spelman, Taglia, Meek and Lagoni of St. Joseph.

That sum pays the township's bill through Sept. 22, according to Mrs. Elsie Reck, township clerk.

Bridgman also paid its law firm on Monday a total of $13,152. Bridgman is represented in the case by the firm of Ryan, McQuillan, Vanderploeg and Fette of St. Joseph.

Mrs. Phyllis Weber, city clerk, said the Bridgman commission also transferred $35,000 from the street fund to the financial administration fund.

About $25,000 of that sum is earmarked for legal fees in the case, she said.

The city unveiled its plans to annex the plant in February of this year.

City officials have claimed that annexation is necessary for the future growth of the city.

Township officials have charged the proposal is a "mere tax grab."

State boundary commission officials concluded a two-part hearing on the matter Oct. 9 and announced a decision would be rendered about the first of next year.

Incumbents Lose Three Seats In Hartford Voting

HARTFORD — The incumbent Hartford mayor and two incumbent city councilmen lost their seats in the city's elections yesterday.

According to unofficial returns, Wayne Nelson won his bid for a two-year term as mayor by a 264 to 212 vote margin over incumbent Mayor Gene Story who had been appointed to the post in March.

Winning two-year council seats were Elmer Eugene Hadley with 261 votes, Charles A. Engle with 204 votes, and incumbent Councilman Lois Budreau, 240 votes.

Incumbent Councilmen Von Dean Huddleston and D. Ellsworth Smith each polled 177 votes in defeat. Two other unsuccessful council candidates, Gene Larsson and James Markel, received 177 and 154 votes, respectively.

Nelson, son of former Hartford mayor Norb Nelson, and Hadley, Engle and Larsson, all former councilmen, ran as a team. Markel ran as an independent.

Incumbent City Clerk Jewell Story easily defeated write-in candidate Vivian DeMorrow, 311 to 51, according to election returns.

Unopposed for re-election to one-year terms were Lucille Mann, the incumbent treasurer who received 384 votes, and Robert Beatty, the incumbent assessor who received 358 votes.

Election officials said 485 of the city's 1,253 registered voters cast ballots in the non-partisan election.

Mrs. Story said the normal turnout of voters in a local election was about 300 to 350 voters. She attributed the large number of voters in yesterday's election to heavy campaigning on the part of the candidates.

Galien Tax Is Approved

GALIEN — School district voters here yesterday approved a two-year, 1.7-mill property tax levy to finance roof and window repairs for the high school building, according to school officials.

According to unofficial returns, the levy was approved by a vote of 250 to 77.

School officials said the levy will raise about $22,000 the first year in local taxes and bring in another $30,000 in state aid towards the repairs that are expected to cost about $100,000.

Approval of the levy for school operations will not mean an overall increase in the district's tax levy, school officials said.

A similar drop in the district's bond debt levy will keep the millage rate about the same this coming school year as it was last year.

The total tax levy last year was 28.377 and for the coming year it will be 28.376, according to Supt. Robert Tilmann.

Keeler Will Clears Its Fire Lanes

KEELER — Patrick Daly, a trustee on the Keeler township board, was appointed by the board last night to oversee the clearing of obstructions from the township's fire lanes.

Daly was appointed by Supervisor John Gillesby to head the project after Gene Tillman, a township resident, said someone planted a tree in a fire lane on Victory Shore drive near Sister Lakes.

In other areas, the board tabled until next spring any action on drainage work to ease standing water problems at the Woodlawn subdivision in Sister Lakes.

It was also announced that the Keeler landfill on the John Wolff property will close Dec. 1 until spring.

When in 1973 the Arab oil embargo was clamped on, it created a near panic in Western Europe and a full-fledged one in Japan. However, the oil-producing states were good enough to lift it at an astronomical level of price increase. This made it possible for the advanced industrialized states to resume their consumption, but it was a devastating blow to the economies of the less-developed nations. The latter were reassured by vague promises that the Third World would be given a special break. With characteristic pessimism, I noted here at the time that they should not stand on one foot waiting for Santa Claus.

Alas for the people of these poor nations, my hunch was correct. The World Bank indicates that the price increase has added $8.5 billion to the liability side of the ledger for the emerging nations and knocked their projected economic growth rate from 4.5 percent annually (1973) to 1 percent in 1975. It has been the hope of Arab alms that led to the massive anti-Israeli votes in every available form from the United Nations down. But, a number of African states finally seem to realize they have been played for suckers, which could lead to a somewhat different voting alignment in the future.

Well, the Arab oil cartel's 1975 take of $110 billion did not go to charity. Where did it go? Into arms purchases, domestic development and foreign investment. Not in Uganda, of course, but in the United States, Britain and the other "good risk" nations. About $4 billion came to the United States in the first six months of 1975 from the Persian Gulf states for arms, and next year we plan to sell $3.7 billion in advanced military hardware to Kuwait alone!

Official estimates for 1974 indicate that OPEC nations invested $11 billion in the United States. Needless to say, these investments are managed with great care. Six billion went, presumably as a token of esteem for the stability of our regime, into government securities and another $4 billion into savings accounts and bills of credit.

There is one area in which it seems to me the Arabs have demonstrated more than usual capitalist malevolence, namely, in their contributions to the United Nations Relief and Works Agency (UNRWA) which is responsible for handling the problems of Palestinian refugees. Yasir Arafat of the Palestine Liberation Front received a roaring Arab welcome when he crashed the United Nations, but his constituents in the various UNRWA settlements have received only crumbs from their brothers. Israel, for example, contributed more ($1,188,000) than EVERY Arab state except Saudi Arabia!

Kuwait — while shooting its $3 billion for American arms purchases — came across with $400,000 for UNRWA. The brothers-in-arms of the "Palestinian people" — Egypt and Syria — came up with a combined $117,000. The Persian Gulf states, also busy buying expensive military stuff, were a bit more generous: $300,000 was pledged by the United Arab Emirates, Oman and Qatar. Saudi Arabia, which has raised the price of oil from $1 per barrel in 1970 to $12 in 1975, was the most generous. It promised the magnificent sum of $11.2 million. The United States, which has been paying the $12 per barrel has made a $42 million commitment; militant Libya, $800,000.

The figures may get boring, but to wind it up what you have is a situation where the rich Arab states have flatly refused to put their money where their mouth is, once again demonstrating that the poor Palestinian refugees are pawns in the game, meriting only crocodile tears.

Finally, comrades, it goes without saying that the Soviet Union, that great defender of the oppressed everywhere, has not promised a ruble. Without intending to sound mean, before I'll listen to another heartbreaking plea on behalf of the Palestinians, a lot of Arab players have got to fork up the ante. They have to earn the right to give us instructions in morality.

LYNETTE FROMME
Will defend herself

'Squeaky' Tells Court She'll Defend Herself

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Lynette Fromme, denied permission to change her plea from innocent to no contest, will argue her own case against the charge that she tried to kill President Ford.

Miss Fromme fired her court-appointed cocounsel Tuesday

on the first day of her trial after he, the prosecutor and U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride refused to accept the plea switch.

MacBride then told the 27-year-old Manson devotee that she would have to question witnesses herself and make her own opening and closing arguments with a "stand-by attorney" to advise her.

"I think she's foolish to try to represent herself," MacBride told Miss Fromme's cocounsel, John Virga. "But if she wants to do this it is certainly within her rights."

Miss Fromme is accused of attempting to assassinate Ford as he walked to the state Capitol Sept. 5. Officers say they took a loaded .45-caliber pistol away from her after she pointed it at the President from about two feet away.

She is the first person to be charged and tried under a 1965 federal law against attempted murder of a president. The law was passed after the 1963 assassination of President John F. Kennedy. If convicted, she could be sentenced to life in prison.

MacBride ruled at a pretrial hearing that Miss Fromme could act as her own attorney, but he named Virga as her cocounsel. Virga had handled most of the case since then.

But shortly after jury selection began Tuesday morning, Miss Fromme rose from the defense table and approached MacBride's bench.

After a pause, she told a stunned courtroom, "I find it necessary to change my plea to no contest."

A no contest plea is the equivalent of accepting a conviction and its penalties without formally admitting guilt.

She did not elaborate on why she wanted to make the change, but her roommate and sister Manson follower, Sandra Good,

told reporters:

"To go through the trial is just a farce. Society threw away the right to a fair trial" when Manson and four followers were convicted of murdering actress Sharon Tate and six other persons.

Miss Good said that Miss Fromme wanted to use her trial to give the Manson clan a chance to defend itself against the Tate slayings and wanted Manson to represent her.

Kelley Charges Some Won't Get Utility Refunds

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Many customers may never get court-ordered refunds from Consumers Power Co., Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley charged Tuesday.

Kelley said a motion filed with the Michigan Supreme Court by Consumers Power would delay some $24.5 million in refunds on rates the utility company collected between 1969 and 1971. The state Appeals Court ordered the refunds in a recent ruling.

The appeals court ruling would force the utility to refund up to $5 to the average residential electricity customer and $4.50 to the average residential natural gas customer, plus interest. A spokesman said some 1.57 million customers from 1969, 1970 and 1971 would be eligible for the refund.

"I am concerned that as this case goes on, many of the ratepayers who paid these excess charges can no longer be found, due to death or change of residence, and that as a result many will never receive the refunds due them," said Kelley. The attorney general has intervened in the case on the side of the state Public Service Commission.

Consumers increased charges in September 1969 after the PSC granted it a $37.8 million rate increase for electric and gas service. The increase was contingent on a 1968 federal income tax surcharge. Upon its expiration or reduction, the utility was to file requests for proportionately reduced rates.

The 10 per cent surcharge was cut in half in early 1970 and expired in July 1970, but Consumers got a preliminary injunction barring the PSC, which controls Michigan utilities, from reducing rates.

The utility appealed a 1971 circuit court ruling ordering it to refund the money, lost that motion, and then last week appealed to the state Supreme Court.

Patty Awaiting Judge's Ruling On Competency

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst, described by her attorney as mentally "crippled" and by a prosecutor as "fully competent," awaits a judge's ruling on her mental competency to stand trial.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter calls it "a most difficult and most complex question to decide," but he promises to make the decision by Friday.

In the interim, Carter said he will re-examine "in great detail" three voluminous reports by the psychiatric panel which examined Miss Hearst. He called the documents "complex and extremely verbose."

One report concludes that Miss Hearst was "literally a prisoner of war for 20 months" and is suffering from a "traumatic neurosis," her attorney said.

But U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. insisted that none of the reports showed her to be incompetent to stand trial immediately on federal charges of taking part in a bank robbery while she was a fugitive with the Symbionese Liberation Army. Miss Hearst has not yet entered a plea on the charges.

Miss Hearst, in court for the first time in six weeks for her competency hearing Tuesday, was pale but alert. She wore a plain brown pants suit and her hair hung limply to her shoulders. Blank-faced at her previous court sessions, she was more animated Tuesday, whispering and chatting with her attorneys.

Miss Hearst's parents, Randolph and Catherine Hearst, sat in the front row of the courtroom with daughters Vicki and Ann. But Patricia, seated at the counsel table, showed no reaction to their presence.

"She is making progress, visible progress," attorney F. Lee Bailey said later.

Bailey, in his first court appearance for the newspaper heiress, read the "prisoner of war" description from the report by Dr. L.J. West, a specialist in brainwashing after-effects.

The psychiatric reports themselves remain secret but were open to court discussion.

Bailey disclosed that West recommended three to four months of psychiatric treatment for the 21-year-old defendant. Another panel member, Dr. Seymour Pollack of the University of Southern California, recommended 30 to 90 days of treatment, Bailey said.

Recommendations by the third panel member, Dr. Donald Lunde of Stanford University, were not disclosed. Clinical psychologist Margaret Thaler Singer also filed a lengthy report on clinical tests conducted on Miss Hearst.

Bailey urged the judge to commit Miss Hearst to a mental hospital for at least 30 days and then re-evaluate her condition before setting a trial date.

Bailey has predicted that Miss Hearst's trial on the bank robbery charges will not begin until 1976. She faces another eventual trial in Los Angeles on state charges of kidnapping, assault and robbery.

The SLA kidnaped her on Feb. 4, 1974, but she later professed allegiance to the SLA and allegedly took part in an SLA robbery of the Hibernia Bank branch here in April 1974 and other crimes.

Since her arrest Sept. 18, a previous defense attorney contended that she was brainwashed by the terrorist group and that she never voluntarily joined it.

PATTY HEARST
A complex question

Police Won't Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan State Police troopers will not strike or have a work slowdown if their bid for collective bargaining rights is turned down, a union official says.

But, troopers warned, low pay keeps Michigan's young people from joining the state force, and older officers may retire early or join higher-paying police forces rather than stay on their jobs.

Doll Brown, executive secretary of the Michigan State Police Troopers Association, spoke at a public hearing Monday before the House Committee on Constitutional Revision and Women's Rights in Detroit.

Brown said state troopers "have never once failed to do their duty in the proud 50-year-plus history of the department and officers are not going to start neglecting their duty now."

He said troopers are asking the state legislature to put a proposed constitutional amendment on the November 1976 ballot. The amendment would give state troopers the right to bargain collectively with the state.

The constitution now requires the Michigan Civil Service Commission to "fix rates of compensation and regulate all conditions of employment in the state classified services," Brown said.

LYNETTE FROMME
Will defend herself

'Squeaky' Tells Court She'll Defend Herself

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Lynette Fromme, denied permission to change her plea from innocent to no contest, will argue her own case against the charge that she tried to kill President Ford.

Miss Fromme fired her court-appointed cocounsel Tuesday

on the first day of her trial after he, the prosecutor and U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride refused to accept the plea switch.

MacBride then told the 27-year-old Manson devotee that she would have to question witnesses herself and make her own opening and closing arguments with a "stand-by attorney" to advise her.

"I think she's foolish to try to represent herself," MacBride told Miss Fromme's cocounsel, John Virga. "But if she wants to do this it is certainly within her rights."

Miss Fromme is accused of attempting to assassinate Ford as he walked to the state Capitol Sept. 5. Officers say they took a loaded .45-caliber pistol away from her after she pointed it at the President from about two feet away.

She is the first person to be charged and tried under a 1965 federal law against attempted murder of a president. The law was passed after the 1963 assassination of President John F. Kennedy. If convicted, she could be sentenced to life in prison.

MacBride ruled at a pretrial hearing that Miss Fromme could act as her own attorney, but he named Virga as her cocounsel. Virga had handled most of the case since then.

But shortly after jury selection began Tuesday morning, Miss Fromme rose from the defense table and approached MacBride's bench.

After a pause, she told a stunned courtroom, "I find it necessary to change my plea to nolo contendere."

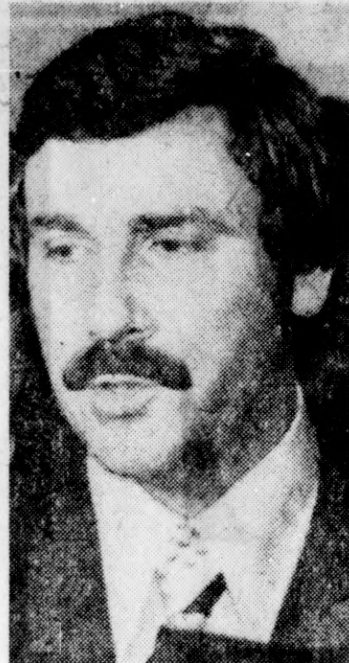

A no contest plea is the equivalent of accepting a conviction and its penalties without formally admitting guilt.

She did not elaborate on why she wanted to make the change, but her roommate and sister Manson follower, Sandra Good,

told reporters:

"To go through the trial is just a farce. Society threw away the right to a fair trial" when Manson and four followers were convicted of murdering actress Sharon Tate and six other persons.

Miss Good said that Miss Fromme wanted to use her trial to give the Manson clan a chance to defend itself against the Tate slayings and wanted Manson to represent her.

Kelley Charges Some Won't Get Utility Refunds

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Many customers may never get court-ordered refunds from Consumers Power Co., Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley charged Tuesday.

Kelley said a motion filed with the Michigan Supreme Court by Consumers Power would delay some $24.5 million in refunds on rates the utility company collected between 1969 and 1971. The state Appeals Court ordered the refunds in a recent ruling.

The appeals court ruling would force the utility to refund up to $5 to the average residential electricity customer and $4.50 to the average residential natural gas customer, plus interest. A spokesman said some 1.57 million customers from 1969, 1970 and 1971 would be eligible for the refund.

"I am concerned that as this case goes on, many of the ratepayers who paid these excess charges can no longer be found, due to death or change of residence, and that as a result many will never receive the refunds due them," said Kelley. The attorney general has intervened in the case on the side of the state Public Service Commission.

Consumers increased charges in September 1969 after the PSC granted it a $37.8 million rate increase for electric and gas service. The increase was contingent on a 1968 federal income tax surcharge. Upon its expiration or reduction, the utility was to file requests for proportionately reduced rates.

The 10 per cent surcharge was cut in half in early 1970 and expired in July 1970, but Consumers got a preliminary injunction barring the PSC, which controls Michigan utilities, from reducing rates.

The utility appealed a 1971 circuit court ruling ordering it to refund the money, lost that motion, and then last week appealed to the state Supreme Court.

Patty Awaiting Judge's Ruling On Competency

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst, described by her attorney as mentally "crippled" and by a prosecutor as "fully competent," awaits a judge's ruling on her mental competency to stand trial.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter calls it "a most difficult and most complex question to decide," but he promises to make the decision by Friday.

In the interim, Carter said he will re-examine "in great detail" three voluminous reports by the psychiatric panel which examined Miss Hearst. He called the documents "complex and extremely verbose."

One report concludes that Miss Hearst was "literally a prisoner of war for 20 months" and is suffering from a "traumatic neurosis," her attorney said.

But U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. insisted that none of the reports showed her to be incompetent to stand trial immediately on federal charges of taking part in a bank robbery while she was a fugitive with the Symbionese Liberation Army. Miss Hearst has not yet entered a plea on the charges.

Miss Hearst, in court for the first time in six weeks for her competency hearing Tuesday, was pale but alert. She wore a plain brown pants suit and her hair hung limply to her shoulders. Blank-faced at her previous court sessions, she was more animated Tuesday, whispering and chatting with her attorneys.

Miss Hearst's parents, Randolph and Catherine Hearst, sat in the front row of the courtroom with daughters Vicki and Ann. But Patricia, seated at the counsel table, showed no reaction to their presence.

"She is making progress, visible progress," attorney F. Lee Bailey said later.

Bailey, in his first court appearance for the newspaper heiress, read the "prisoner of war" description from the report by Dr. L.J. West, a specialist in brainwashing after-effects.

The psychiatric reports themselves remain secret but were open to court discussion.

Bailey disclosed that West recommended three to four months of psychiatric treatment for the 21-year-old defendant. Another panel member, Dr. Seymour Pollack of the University of Southern California, recommended 30 to 90 days of treatment, Bailey said.

Recommendations by the third panel member, Dr. Donald Lunde of Stanford University, were not disclosed. Clinical psychologist Margaret Thaler Singer also filed a lengthy report on clinical tests conducted on Miss Hearst.

Bailey urged the judge to commit Miss Hearst to a mental hospital for at least 30 days and then re-evaluate her condition before setting a trial date.

Bailey has predicted that Miss Hearst's trial on the bank robbery charges will not begin until 1976. She faces another eventual trial in Los Angeles on state charges of kidnapping, assault and robbery.

The SLA kidnapped her on Feb. 4, 1974, but she later professed allegiance to the SLA and allegedly took part in an SLA robbery of the Hibernia Bank branch here in April 1974 and other crimes.

Since her arrest Sept. 18, a previous defense attorney contended that she was brainwashed by the terrorist group and that she never voluntarily joined it.

PATTY HEARST
A complex question

Police Won't Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan State Police troopers will not strike or have a work slowdown if their bid for collective bargaining rights is turned down, a union official says.

But, troopers warned, low pay keeps Michigan's young people from joining the state force, and older officers may retire early or join higher-paying police forces rather than stay on their jobs.

Doil Brown, executive secretary of the Michigan State Police Troopers Association, spoke at a public hearing Monday before the House Committee on Constitutional Revision and Women's Rights in Detroit.

Brown said state troopers "have never once failed to do their duty in the proud 50-year-plus history of the department and officers are not going to start neglecting their duty now."

He said troopers are asking the state legislature to put a proposed constitutional amendment on the November 1976 ballot. The amendment would give state troopers the right to bargain collectively with the state.

The constitution now requires the Michigan Civil Service Commission to "fix rates of compensation and regulate all conditions of employment in the state classified services," Brown said.

Dow May Be Able To Tap State's Oil Shale In 80s

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — Dow Chemical Co. scientists say they may be able to begin tapping some 2.5 trillion barrels of oil trapped in Michigan shale sometime in the next decade.

Those reserves are three times the known world reserves. It's enough oil to supply the United States for 300 to 400 years at current use rates.

The Antrim shale holding the oil covers two-thirds of Michigan's Lower Peninsula and buried as deep as 2,500 feet.

Dow has had a demonstration shale drilling site in the Thumb area since 1972. Once the technique is proven, Dow shale project manager John Humphrey guesses commercial oil production could begin in 10 years.

The U.S. Energy Resources and Development Administration is enthusiastic over Dow's project and has asked Congress for a $42 million grant for a seven-year demonstration by Dow in Sanilac County, Humphrey said.

"They agree in principle the project has to be done," he said. "We're at the stage now where we're ready to negotiate a contract, but they can't move until they get the funds from Congress. I don't foresee any problems."

Dow's plan involves sinking two parallel wells through the shale and burning petroleum underground. The heat should push petroleum reserves up as gas, oil or both.

Dow laboratory tests show the method should work, Humphrey said. By controlling the amount of heat below the surface, the mix of gas and oil can be changed, he said.

If Congress approves the grant, the demonstration project will involve Michigan State University, the University of Michigan, Wayne State University, Michigan Technological University and the Environmental Research Institute of Michigan.

Vast oil reserves are also in Antrim shale in Illinois, Ohio, upper New York, the Appalachians and northern Texas, but no tests have been done to find the extent of the deposits in those areas, Humphrey said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An increasingly frustrated Nelson A. Rockefeller, his advice on programs ignored and his political future in doubt, decided to withdraw as President Ford's possible 1976 running mate because of widening disagreements on policy, Republican sources say.

"He just got fed up," one source said. "He finally got to the point where he couldn't take it any more."

Meanwhile, there were these other developments following the personnel shuffle in the Ford administration:

—Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., says Rockefeller's withdrawal should lead Ronald Reagan to "reassess" his plans to challenge Ford. Goldwater said the withdrawal makes a dent in Reagan's prospects of mounting a successful campaign against Ford.

—Some past and present intelligence officials expressed disappointment with Ford's choice of George Bush to succeed William E. Colby as head of the CIA.

Their objections centered on Bush's political background as a former Republican national chairman and the speculation that Bush might be in the running for the Republican vice presidential nomination.

Others, including former CIA director John A. McCone, praised the Bush appointment. McCone, who headed the agency in the early 1960s, predicted Bush would "do a good job and get the full support of the organization."

—Lt. Gen. Daniel O. Graham said he is retiring as head of the Defense Intelligence Agency because Ford fired Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger. "I'm a Schlesinger man," Graham said.

There were unconfirmed reports of other high-level Pentagon resignations.

—House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona said the GOP could be further divided, rather than unified, by Rockefeller's decision to withdraw. He said it isn't apparent that Ford made any friends on the conservative side of the party and he may have lost some of the moderate and liberal side.

—A source close to the White House said Schlesinger's firing was prompted by his outspoken criticism of a House panel that slashed his defense budget. The source also confirmed that Ford's advisers told the President there was a personality conflict between Schlesinger and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and that concern was expressed that the administration was not speaking with one voice.

Explanations of the Vice President's unexpected move began to surface Tuesday though Rockefeller and his top aides maintained a story silence, saying they were standing behind the letter he delivered Monday to Ford at the White House.

Some sources noted that Rockefeller's letter was far more restrained than the Vice President's often effusive statements about Ford. They noted that the President, when asked if he had tried to talk Rockefeller out of withdrawing, merely said he "accepted" the decision.

Others pointed out that Rockefeller, already out of the mainstream of foreign policy decisions in the Ford administration, also was being ignored on domestic policy.

They said he opposed the President's increasingly conservative stance, most notably his opposition to federal aid to prevent New York City's threatened financial default.

"Some have suggested that he made the decision because of differences with the President, but I find no reason to question what the President and vice president have said," said Assistant Senate GOP Leader Robert P. Griffin.

But others said that widening policy differences and a sense of being out of place in the Ford administration were at the heart of Rockefeller's decision.

Beirut Enjoys 'Paycheck Truce'

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — War-weary Lebanese emerged from their homes despite some sniper fire today to take advantage of a "paycheck truce" in Beirut's Moslem-Christian street war.

Traffic built up downtown. Security forces joined gunmen of both sides in tearing down roadblocks and supervising the withdrawal of mortars and recoilless rifles. But few expected the cease-fire — now in its third day — to last.

The Lebanese central bank opened for the first time in a month. Within two hours it paid out $15 million in government payrolls and transfers to other banks.

Other banks were scheduled to open Thursday.

Government ministries resumed work with skeleton staffs, but many workers stayed home to see if the cease-fire lasted. Many shops also remained closed, and there was no word of schools reopening.

The street fighters on both sides were still being paid by their civilian employers even though they have missed months of work in the once-thriving banks, tourist hotels and other commercial establishments. It was widely believed that the fighting would resume once the gunmen collected their pay, bought food for their families and replenished their ammunition.

Palestinian guerrillas called it a "paycheck truce."

Leftist Moslem leader Kamal Jumblatt predicted it would break down within two days.

A Christian militiaman in the Holiday Inn said, "We have no reason to believe this cease-fire will hold any better than others."

Premier Rashid Karami appealed for all workers, merchants and bankers to return to work early today.

State Tax Increase A Possibility In Election Year

By PATRICK CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — This year's cramped state budget might mean another tax increase for Michigan residents next year, state officials acknowledge.

A tax boost is not a certainty. For one thing, legislators harbor some kindness toward citizens who swallowed a tax hike last year. But more pragmatically, 1976 is an election year and politicians also harbor a fear about ill-tempered voters who have a tax-increase thorn in their paw. And there always is the possibility, slim as it seems at the moment, that the current painful budget-cutting will combine with a surprise spark in the economy to set the state on its fiscal feet without a tax increase.

A tax hike could mean another boost in the income tax or increased "nuisance taxes," which are the government's cut of cash spent on such things as cigarettes and liquor. Some lawmakers also may mull over the option of adding a fraction to the new business tax, which would hit industry for some of the needed money. Michigan citizens got a 7 per cent income tax increase this year, from 3.9 per cent to 4.6 per cent. Gov. William Milliken warned that the increase would be needed if voters repealed the sales tax on food and drugs last November, which they did.

Gerald Miller, Milliken's budget director, is evasive when asked about prospects for a Bicentennial tax boost.

"We are putting together a budget for 1976-77. We have not had all the budget hearings yet. When we are through, we will assess the situation," Miller says. "The current-year budget has a serious gap between revenues and expenditures," he notes. "That problem has to be dealt with and is a factor on this year's budget."

But enacting an emergency $150 million spending slash as Milliken proposes "decreases the chance of a tax hike very clearly," Miller says. In addition, Milliken proposes borrowing $150 million from various places in state government to make up the balance of an estimated $298 million potential deficit.

Legislative Democrats theorize the deficit may not be as deep as Milliken and Miller predict. But widespread cuts will be needed, nonetheless, even if Democrats are right. Milliken, the legislature and special interest groups of all sorts are embroiled now in a fight over what programs get dumped as the budget gets cut. Teacher unions, state employee organizations, colleges, universities and various state agencies have begged to be spared as the budget knife falls.

Among Michigan citizens, only prison inmates will escape the cuts, Milliken says, since only the Corrections Department, faced with dangerous prison overcrowding, will not have its budget trimmed.

A 1.5 per cent income tax boost is favored as an alternative to spending cuts by at least two groups — the Michigan Education Association and the Michigan State Employees Association. Those two organizations would rather see a tax increase imposed than see some of their members laid off or programs and tools of their trade withheld for lack of money.

Baseball Is Still His First Love

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirty-one is an age at which most baseball pitchers "consider another line of work. This occurred five years ago to Jim Bouton, then 31 and at the end of a career spent pitching in leagues major and minor.

So the ex-New York Yankee and "Ball Four" author became a WABC-TV sportscaster here. He now works for WCBS-TV in New York City and draws a much better — than — baseball salary. He's done pretty well for himself.

The odd thing is, he was back out there pitching for three weeks last August for the Portland Mavericks, a North-west League team. He says he recorded four wins, two losses and a 2.16 ERA.

Granted that in his major league days, Bouton was considered a flake. He didn't take things too seriously. He still doesn't.

Last week, for example, during a videotape replay of a fist-fight between two hockey players, he compared their styles of fighting as expertly as Howard Cosell might analyze an Ali-Anybody dispute.

But go back into baseball from sportscasting?

Bouton for the defense: "I just suddenly looked at myself and said, 'I'm 36, I've been in television work for five years,' and I just felt I still had some physical stuff left inside me....

"I felt, 'What the hell, I throw a knuckleball. What would happen?'

"I thought it'd be fun trying, even if I didn't make it. And I just wanted to see if my old girlfriend — he meant baseball, for he's a happily married man — "looked as pretty as I remembered her. And yeah, she did."

He said he was on vacation when he thought of trying again, and that WCBS was nice enough to give him a leave so he could briefly rejoin the boys of summer for their league's minimum $300-a-month salary.

A few years ago, Bouton and another writer compiled a book of sports stories entitled, "I Managed Good, But Boy Did They Play Bad."

The title came from a claim of ex-major leaguer Rocky Bridges, then managing a California "League" team and having a fine, if low-paid, time.

Bouton was asked if he had as much fun playing at Portland.

"It was the perfect minor league scene, with the fans right down there being involved in the game, almost a factor in the game," he said. "There was sort of a country-fair kind of feeling before the ball game between the players and the fans."

He said he had so much fun that next season he'll try to hook on with an AA or AAA minor league team, a decided step up from the Northwest League, only one notch above the league for rookie players.

If no offers come?

"I'm gonna cry a lot," Bouton laughed.

But should an offer arrive, he said, "I'm going to try to go to spring training with some team next year, and then play a full season."

I hate to be a spoil-sport, but how does he think the authori-

Surinamese Holland-Bound

AMSTERDAM — (LENS) — In a substantial vote of no confidence in their own country's future, something like a third of the population of Surinam — formerly Dutch Guiana — have already moved from South America to Holland.

And as independence day approaches on Nov. 25 the stream has become a flood.

Every week about 1,400 people land at Schiphol airport, half to join relatives who are already in Holland and the other half to go to reception centers in the small town of Soest and Loeuwarden.

The problems facing the Surinam they have left behind

Contracts Signed

and the strains they place on the normally tolerant Dutch society are great. The loss to Surinam — which had about 400,000 inhabitants two years ago, when there were already 80,000 Surinamese in Holland — and the size of the influx into Europe's most densely populated country (there are now at least 130,000 Surinamese in Holland, whose total population is 13 million), are both massive.

The pressure on already tight housing is increased as new arrivals move to where friends, relatives and jobs are. It's a bad time for an influx of job-seekers, with unemployment running around the 230,000 level, or nearly 8 per cent of the work force.

In a recent survey by a magazine, 42 per cent of the Surinamese interviewed said that they or their family breadwinners were jobless, with the under-24s most affected. Yet half said they were very pleased to be in Holland and a further 40 per cent that they were fairly happy.

The high level of welfare and unemployment benefits (Surinam has 30 per cent unemployment and scarcely any benefits) and the better chances of an education for their children still make Holland a more attractive proposition than home.

Surinam's black and Amerindian inhabitants now slightly outnumber those of south Asian descent. The south Asians, descendants of immigrants from British India, run many of the businesses and trading organizations with the other groups, including many Javanese, filling most of the more menial positions.

With the approach of full independence — Surinam has had autonomy in home affairs since 1954 — many Asians fear breakdown of government and the consequent bloodshed; many blacks fear that chaos would leave them with a life even more impoverished than the one they now lead; people from both groups have therefore headed for Holland while the right of emigration to it remains open to them.

Meanwhile, many of the ablest people among the Surinamese are joining the rush to Holland — the price of an air ticket being the main test of ability.

Salt Price To Rise

ST. CLAIR, Mich. (AP) — Diamond Crystal Salt Co., the nation's third-largest salt producer, will raise evaporated salt prices 8 per cent effective Dec. 1, company president Charles Cronenworth said this week.

Cronenworth blamed the boost on the energy crisis and rising cost of equipment replacement.

"Energy is the largest cost component in the salt refining process," he said.

He also warned that further price hikes are "essential" in the next two years to "cover the present cost of replacing facilities and the costs of environmental and social obligations."

Cronenworth said the firm, based in St. Clair, Mich., and with plants in Akron, Ohio; Jefferson Island, La., and Long Island, Bahamas, must invest $10 to $12 million in the next two years to replace worn-out equipment.

"The American consumer has been benefiting from salt prices which do not take into account today's replacement cost of our aging facilities," he said.

AUTOMATIC SETBACK... How important is it? Whether summer or winter, most people prefer sleeping in the comfort of a cooler room. Manually setting back the thermostat at night and moving it up again after getting up the next morning is one way. But that's an uncomfortable chore. And, human nature being what it is, automatic setback is much more reliable.

IN WINTER, save 7 to 11 per cent with night setback. Helps you sleep refreshingly cool. The Chronotherm lowers heat at bedtime, restores it by get-up time. Automatically! An electric clock timing mechanism in this thermostat lowers your home temperature every night to the level you want for sleeping comfort. At the exact time you select, it switches the thermostat to the night setting, the temperature is then held at this comfortable, lowered level for cool sleeping.

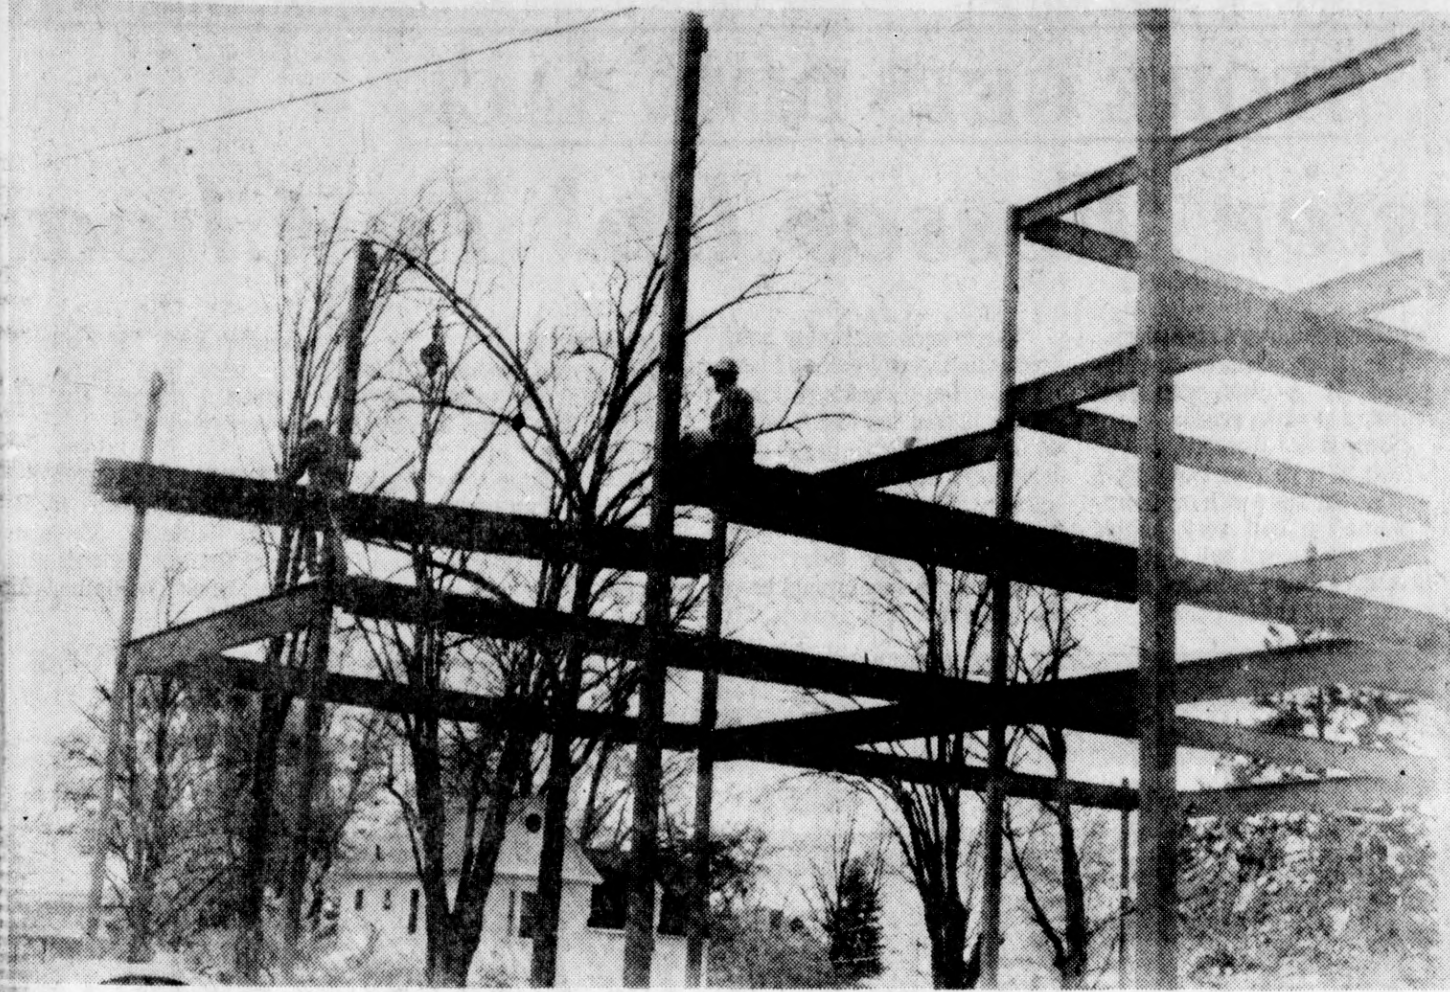

YOU'LL LIVE WARM, SLEEP COOL AND WAKE UP SAVING ENERGY (AND MONEY)!

In addition to the fuel-saving Chronotherm, proper insulation can also save you money on your gas bills while conserving energy, too!

Last week, for example, during a videotape replay of a fistfight between two hockey players, he compared their styles of fighting as expertly as Howard Cosell might analyze an Ali-Anybody dispute.

But go back into baseball from sportscasting?

Bouton for the defense: "I just suddenly looked at myself and said, 'I'm 36, I've been in television work for five years,' and I just felt I still had some physical stuff left inside me...."

"I felt, 'What the hell, I throw a knuckleball. What would happen?'"

"I thought it'd be fun trying, even if I didn't make it. And I just wanted to see if my old girlfriend — he meant baseball, for he's a happily married man — "looked as pretty as I remembered her. And yeah, she did."

He said he was on vacation when he thought of trying again, and that WCBS was nice enough to give him a leave so he could briefly rejoin the boys of summer for their league's minimum $300-a-month salary.

A few years ago, Bouton and another writer compiled a book of sports stories entitled, "I Managed Good, But Boy Did They Play Bad."

The title came from a claim of ex-major leaguer Rocky Bridges, then managing a California League team and having a fine, if low-paid, time.

Bouton was asked if he had as much fun playing at Portland.

"It was the perfect minor league scene, with the fans right down there being involved in the game, almost a factor in the game," he said. "There was sort of a country-fair kind of feeling before the ball game between the players and the fans."

He said he had so much fun that next season he'll try to hook on with an AA or AAA minor league team, a decided step up from the Northwest League, only one notch above the league for rookie players.

If no offers come?

"I'm gonna cry a lot," Bouton laughed.

But should an offer arrive, he said, "I'm going to try to go to spring training with some team next year, and then play a full season."

I hate to be a sport-sport, but how does he think the author-ties at WCBS-TV will view all this?

"Well, we're talking about it," Bouton said. "They're not real, ah, thrilled by the idea. But they've been very good to me and they know I'm crazy. They try to deal within that framework, you know."

Salt Price To Rise

ST. CLAIR, Mich. (AP) — Diamond Crystal Salt Co., the nation's third-largest salt producer, will raise evaporated salt prices 8 per cent effective Dec. 1, company president Charles Cronenworth said this week.

Cronenworth blamed the boost on the energy crisis and rising cost of equipment replacement.

"Energy is the largest cost component in the salt refining process," he said.

He also warned that further price hikes are "essential" in the next two years to "cover the present cost of replacing facilities and the costs of environmental and social obligations."

Cronenworth said the firm, based in St. Clair, Mich., and with plants in Akron, Ohio; Jefferson Island, La., and Long Island, Bahamas, must invest $10 to $12 million in the next two years to replace worn-out equipment.

"The American consumer has been benefiting from salt prices which do not take into account today's replacement cost of our aging facilities," he said.

Honeywell Chronotherm Automatic Clock Thermostat

MICHIGAN GAS UTILITIES CO.

"Energy is our Business-Conservation is Everybody's Business"

AUTOMATIC SETBACK...How important is it? Whether summer or winter, most people prefer sleeping in the comfort of a cooler room. Manually setting back the thermostat at night and moving it up again after getting up the next morning is one way. But that's an uncomfortable chore. And, human nature being what it is, automatic setback is much more reliable.

IN WINTER, save 7 to 11 per cent with night setback. The Chronotherm lowers heat at bedtime, restores it by get-up time. Automatically! An electric clock timing mechanism in this thermostat lowers your home temperature every night to the level you want for sleeping comfort. At the exact time you select, it switches the thermostat to the night setting, the temperature is then held at this comfortable, lowered level for cool sleeping.

YOU'LL LIVE WARM, SLEEP COOL AND WAKE UP SAVING ENERGY (AND MONEY)!

Hull School Reading Center Dedication Due Nov. 24

The Benton Harbor Hull elementary school Adventure Reading room will be dedicated Nov. 24 in honor of Sen. Charles O. Zollar, according to Richard F. Helsel, Benton Harbor Area schools superintendent.

Helsel said Zollar will be honored for his work in helping Michigan schoolchildren get "hooked on books." Zollar was instrumental in the passage of a public act in 1974 which established a $1 million grant program to fund reading centers throughout Michigan.

The reading room is an informal area in the Hull school library where students may select paperback books and magazines for "easy reading." The idea, according to Helsel, is to get schoolchildren interested in reading by giving them material they like to read in a surrounding they can feel comfortable in.

The reading room was set up with funds from an education grant from Ludington News Company, Inc. Attending the Nov. 24 dedication ceremonies will be Dr. John Porter, state superintendent of public instruction, and Wayne State University President George Gullen.

Musicians From LMC To Perform At SJHS

The fifth annual Lake Michigan college homecoming concert, culminating a two-day tour to surrounding area high schools by LMC's symphonic wind ensemble and jazz lab band, will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday at the St. Joseph high school auditorium.

Open to the public, the Saturday evening concert will feature a rendition of Percy Grainger's 20th-century masterpiece for wind ensembles entitled, "Lincolnshire Posy." Grainger's composition represents a wind instrument realization of English folk songs collected by the composer and recorded with the use of a wire recorder in the early 1900's.

Also included in the 90-minute program will be Gustav Holst's "Suite in E Flat," viewed by music experts as an entirely new concept of scoring for the band medium and an exciting musical view of the future of the band in modern music.

Kenneth Lewis, LMC clarinet instructor and principal clarinetist in the Western Michigan university orchestra, will be featured as soloist with the college's wind ensemble and will perform C. M. von Weber's "Fantasia and Rondo."

In addition to serving as soloist at the Saturday evening concert, Lewis will lead a clarinet clinic from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. at LMC on the same day for area junior and senior high school clarinet players.

The evening concert also will include performances of a trumpet trio consisting of Dr. James Bekkering, LMC dean of the general studies division; Phil Huff, sophomore music major from Dowagiac; and Gary Hartman, sophomore music major from Coloma.

The trio will perform "Brassmen's Holiday," originally orchestrated for the United States Marine band; highlights from the popular Broadway musical, "Promises, Promises;" and a Sousa march.

The LMC jazz lab band will offer a series of renditions of popular music in the big band styles of Woody Herman, Stan Kenton, and Count Basie, including both jazz and rock selections.

Tickets for the concert are available at Ferris Music Center, 1498 Pipestone street and Grinnell's 544 West Main street, Benton Harbor; and Knickerbocker Music, 418 State street, St. Joseph. Priced at $1.50 for adults, tickets also will be sold at the St. Joseph high school auditorium door on the night of the concert. Children 10 years old or younger will be admitted free.

After the concert, a reception for the public to meet the concert soloist and members of the performing groups will be held at the St. Joseph Holiday Inn, 100 Main street. A charge of $1 is being asked to help defray the cost of the reception to which the public is invited.

STORE GETS DIME BACK Youngster 'Fesses Up' To Cheat

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP) — A Roswell child recently confessed in a letter to a local grocery store that he had switched a price tag on 19-cent ball a year or two ago and cheated the store of nine cents.

The child, who didn't sign the letter, taped a dime to the letter.

H & J Farmers' Market received the letter, written in pencil on children's stationery.

The letter, apparently composed by a youngster just learning to write, reads:

"Dear H & J Workers,

"About a year or two ago, I was in your store with my mom. I wanted a ball very badly. There was a small ball that cost 19 cents. I didn't think my mom would buy it at that price.

"There were some play baby bottles that were 10 cents. I took off one of the 10 cent tags. I took off the 19 cent tag and threw it on the floor. I stuck the 10 cent tag on the ball. I gave it to my mother to buy it. She bought it at the 10 cent price.

"I was thinking today 'If I small thing like that would keep me from getting to heaven, I'd better return it.'

"I have used the ball a lot, so I don't think you would want it back. But here is the 10 cents I stole from you."

Below the dime taped to the letter, the young writer added, "Please forgive me. Don't think I made up this story, because I truly did it."

Harold Renfro, store manager, said, "It makes you feel there are some good children. I thought the letter was very, very nice."

SPIRIT OF '76: Legendary movie queen Gloria Swanson, 76, lounges in her New York home. "I've been in the public eye for so long I guess I'm a curiosity," she says. "People wonder how I still look good after all these years." (AP Wirephoto)

PASSIONATE ADVOCATE OF PURE FOOD Gloria Swanson Foe Of Sugar

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "I've been in the public eye for so long I guess I'm a curiosity," said Gloria Swanson. "People wonder how I still look good after all these years."

That 76-year-old face does look good — smooth and fresh as a schoolgirl's, framed by side-parted brown hair. Solid white teeth flash through crimson lips. There's that distinctive mole, those delicately diabolical eyebrows arched over clear blue eyes and spiked, fluttering fake eyelashes.

"It's hereditary, all in the genes," Miss Swanson demurs, dashing the hopes of beauties who will be septuagenarians one day. "But no one can have skin like a baby's bottom if they're going to stuff that hole in their face with chocolate and banana spits." The legendary movie queen is a passionate advocate of pure food and good diet and a zealous foe of sugar. She says the countless evils of demon sugar have been exposed by her friend, William Dufty, in his book, "Sugar Blues" which Miss Swanson is helping to promote.

Dufty, a very thin, ascetic-looking man of 59, resembled a big bellied buddha until she alerted him to the dangers of sugar about 20 years ago during a brief encounter, Miss Swanson said.

He sat quietly nearby while Miss Swanson, wrapped in a white and black-embroidered caftan, snuggled into large stuffed chair in her Fifth Avenue apartment.

"If you have knowledge, you must share it with other people," she said. "My concern for good health has been a life belt for me. I feel a debt to the public and will spend my life trying to help them."

Don't eat unless hungry, she advised. Don't eat when tired or cross because food doesn't digest well at those times. Don't eat what is not clean.

She's down on insecticides, detergents, plastics, hospitals and "all those crazy people who call themselves doctors and actually give diseases."

"The body that has grown up certainly has enough intelligence to repair itself. But not if you keep shoving stuff into your mouth that has made it unhealthy in the first place."

Miss Swanson eyed her interviewer.

"Do you eat chicken? You do? Do you like sterilized puss?" she cried, clearly agast.

"Image a country that allows green oranges to be picked then put into a vat of orange dye. The public is being cheated all the time. When you fool around with Mother Nature, you get into trouble. It's wicked, and no one seems to understand."

The conversation is gently edged away from diet to Miss Swanson's life these days. Her most famous role was in "Sunset Boulevard," made in 1949, and her last major stage role involved 686 performances of "Butterflies Are Free" on Broadway several years ago. She said she was juggling a number of projects that she didn't want to talk about. It is known she is preparing for a one-woman retrospective, "Gloria Swanson from Silent to Sound."

She likes to travel around visiting her two daughters and her grandchildren. Around her neck she wore a hand-made gold and silver necklace representing a family tree.

"I like being called a grandmother. That's the normal, natural thing. Biologically, woman is meant to have children and care for them," said Miss Swanson, who clearly espouses the traditional male-female roles. "I want to feel that a man is stronger than me and knows more. I do think men and women are different. A woman should not live a man's life."

"I don't like females. I like women. I like women with men's minds. I have no time for trivial gossip."

Miss Swanson has been married five times ("We had no choice in those days"). She is now single and a militant on the subject of tax injustices towards single people.

SPIRIT OF 76: Legendary movie queen Gloria Swanson, 76, lounges in her New York home. "I've been in the public eye for so long I guess I'm a curiosity," she says. "People wonder how I still look good after all these years." (AP Wirephoto)

PASSIONATE ADVOCATE OF PURE FOOD

Gloria Swanson Foe Of Sugar

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "I've been in the public eye for so long I guess I'm a curiosity," said Gloria Swanson. "People wonder how I still look good after all these years."

That 76-year-old face does look good — smooth and fresh as a schoolgirl's, framed by side-parted brown hair. Solid white teeth flash through crimson lips. There's that distinctive mole, those delicately diabolical eyebrows arched over clear blue eyes and spiked, fluttering fake eyelashes.

"It's hereditary, all in the genes," Miss Swanson demurs, dashing the hopes of beauties who will be septuagenarians one day. "But no one can have skin like a baby's bottom if they're going to stuff that hole in their face with chocolate and banana splits."

The legendary movie queen is a passionate advocate of pure food and good diet and a zealous foe of sugar. She says the countless evils of demon sugar have been exposed by her friend, William Dufty, in his book, "Sugar Blues" which Miss Swanson is helping to promote.

Dufty, a very thin, ascetic-looking man of 59, resembled a big belled buddha until she alerted him to the dangers of sugar about 20 years ago during a brief encounter, Miss Swanson said.

He sat quietly nearby while Miss Swanson, wrapped in a white and black-embroidered caftan, snuggled into large stuffed chair in her Fifth Avenue apartment.

"If you have knowledge, you must share it with other people," she said. "My concern for good health has been a life belt for me. I feel a debt to the public and will spend my life trying to help them."

Don't eat unless hungry, she advised. Don't eat when tired or cross because food doesn't digest well at those times. Don't eat what is not clean.

She's down on insecticides, detergents, plastics, hospitals and "all those crazy people who call themselves doctors and actually give diseases."

"The body that has grown up certainly has enough intelligence to repair itself. But not if you keep shoving stuff into your mouth that has made it unhealthy in the first place."

Miss Swanson eyed her interviewer.

"Do you eat chicken? You do? Do you like sterilized puss?" she cried, clearly aghast.

"Image a country that allows green oranges to be picked then put into a vat of orange dye. The public is being cheated all the time. When you fool around with Mother Nature, you get into trouble. It's wicked, and no one seems to understand."

The conversation is gently edged away from diet to Miss Swanson's life these days. Her most famous role was in "Sunset Boulevard," made in 1949, and her last major stage role involved 666 performances of "Butterflies Are Free" on Broadway several years ago. She said she was juggling a number of projects that she didn't want to talk about. It is known she is preparing for a one-woman retrospective, "Gloria Swanson from Silent to Sound."

She likes to travel around visiting her two daughters and her grandchildren. Around her neck she wore a hand-made gold and silver necklace representing a family tree.

"I like being called a grandmother. That's the normal, natural thing. Biologically, woman is meant to have children and care for them," said Miss Swanson, who clearly espouses the traditional male-female roles. "I want to feel that a man is stronger than me and knows more. I do think men and women are different. A woman should not live a man's life."

"I don't like females. I like women. I like women with men's minds. I have no time for trivial gossip."

Miss Swanson has been married five times ("We had no choice in those days"). She is now single and a militant on the subject of tax injustices towards single people.

IN THE AGE OF TERRORISM

Envoys Work Behind Steel Doors

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

In an age of terrorism, assassinations and political kidnappings, diplomats around the world conduct their business behind steel doors and under heavy guard — extremely cautious as to whom they let into their offices.

—The U.S. Embassy in New Delhi, India, is guarded 24 hours a day by Indian police who live in a tent outside the gate.

—The American ambassador in Malaysia runs several miles every morning for exercise, but with a Marine guard jogging alongside.

—In New York, an Israeli diplomat carries a gun, and when he goes to a restaurant he asks for a table with a view of the door and the entire room.

—An ambassador in Buenos Aires, Argentina, goes around with a pistol in his belt.

—Passageways to high-echelon offices in some embassies and consulates are blocked by iron gates, and two-way mirrors and television scanners are used to check on who enters diplomatic missions.

—Diplomats in some countries are advised to mix up daily routines and take different routes to and from their offices each day.

The question of diplomatic security came to the fore earlier this month when the Turkish ambassadors in Paris and Vienna, Austria, were assassinated — one in his office, the other in an ambush of his car.

Few diplomats around the world say the security precautions under which they now operate interfere with their work. Others say having bodyguards from host countries and special security arrangements sometimes is a nuisance they have to put up with.

"The point is that it is up to us, up to the ambassador, to decide if we want to take these guards everywhere," said Egyptian Ambassador Abdel Monem Shinnawi in Manila, The Philippines. "They are not imposed upon us. They do not interfere with our work and they do not see what we do 24 hours a day."

An American diplomat in Tokyo said, "I don't think all these security measures cramp your lifestyle. If you were in Beirut, I'd assume things would be more uptight. Actually, I feel safer here than in Washington. But all we need is one South American-style kidnapping and the atmosphere would change overnight."

A spokesman for the French Embassy in Bonn, West Germany, said, "Work has become more difficult in as much as one has to take security precautions today which hardly agree with the functions of an embassy. In years past, the embassy also used to be a place of representation which has now turned into a fortress because of fences, etc. Our ambassador has not changed his lifestyle. He does his work like before. Perhaps it is sometimes burdened by the security precautions."

In Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, where the U.S. Embassy was seized three months ago by British police have formed a special diplomatic protection unit.

An Associated Press survey showed that the Israelis, who have had three diplomats killed in four years, have the heaviest security of all.

For example, the Israeli Consulate in Montreal is in the sub-basement of a large office building. It is not listed on the directory board at the building's main entrance.

Canadian Press writer Brian Ostroff recently visited the Consulate and said he entered by way of a stairway at the end of a passage, down which he descended to a room with iron bars at one end extending from wall to wall.

Ostroff wrote, "There is a heavy metal screen above the bars reaching to the ceiling. An armed guard employed by a Canadian security company opens a barred door to visitors and, once inside, the door is locked behind them."

Visitors must then await further security clearance by an Israeli guard in civilian clothes who asks the reason for the visit, verifies identity and communicates by way of an intercom with a second guard behind a steel door. Television cameras are focused on the visitors at all times.

There are further checks before a visitor gets to see the official he wants to see.

In Moscow, all foreign diplomatic missions, as well as apartment houses where foreigners live, are guarded by Soviet police. The Soviet government says the guards are there to protect foreigners, but they also check on Russians entering the buildings.

But Moscow is one of the places in the world where diplomats have had little to worry about in the way of terrorism.

Gun-Shy Israelis Are Best Protected

Japanese Red Army terrorists, many diplomatic missions have increased their security. But the Swedish Embassy, which is in the same building as the American mission, did not.

"An embassy is supposed to be open to serve the public," said Charge d'Affaires Frederik Bergenstrahle, who was one of these held by the terrorists who seized the American Embassy. "How much security can one put into it? The more security the more inconvenience it will be for the public."

Diplomatic officials say they do not want to discuss specific security arrangements because that would defeat their purpose.

But increased precautions and the stepped-up guard details are clearly visible to anyone who visits an embassy or consulate.

In London, for example, some diplomats work in buildings fortified by barbed-wire entanglements. Their offices are sealed by electronically controlled sets of steel doors. Their missions are floodlit at night and guarded around the clock by police.

Domestic Car Sales Up

DETROIT (AP) — Domestic car sales in October were the strongest in at least 18 months, topping the recession-depressed levels of October, 1974 by an estimated 22 per cent, auto industry analysts predict. Analysts said the renewed sales muscle by the U.S. auto companies would cut the import share of the American new-car market to its smallest monthly penetration this year. Industry analysts also expected Japan's Toyota to overtake Volkswagen in calendar-year sales, marking the end of VW's 20-year reign as the nation's king of imports.

St. Joseph Out To Sidetrack Undefeated GR Union

St. Joseph stands as the final and biggest hurdle in Grand Rapids Union's race toward a lofty state poll ranking and a possible berth in the post-season playoffs.

Unbeaten Union is 8-0 and rated seventh in this week's Associated Press Class A poll, and according to the computer keeping track, has a good chance of making the playoffs with a victory over the Bears Friday night.

"They are very good," it's that simple," says St. Joe coach Ike Muhlenkamp after personally scouting Union.

"I would say they are better than their seventh ranking. I watched them three times and they eliminated their competition every time without any problem. We are definitely the underdog."

But St. Joseph probably won't be any pushover in the 7:30 p.m. non-league finale at Dickinson Stadium. The Bears have won their last four games in a 5-3 campaign while allowing just 16 points during the winning streak.

"We can beat them if we do everything right," adds Muhlenkamp. "We've got to play a super football game."

Union won the Grand Rapids City League title by a two-game margin and has a scoring margin over its opponents of 243 points to 84, but the powerhouse will be without one of its top running backs Friday.

Union's leading rusher, Larry Barnes, a junior fullback, broke his ankle in the first quarter of last week's 40-8 triumph over Grand Rapids Christian.

But Barnes' replacement, Dan Hornburg, gained 201 yards in three quarters of action. And Union also had a good one at tailback in Tony Townsend.

"We haven't seen a tailback like this kid," continues the

Bear mentor. "When they give it to him on the corner this kid can fly."

St. Joe will counter on offense with fullback Scott Wolff (5.1 yards per carry), quarterback Dave Ziebart (37 pass completions for 465 yards) and split end Ted Dongillo (20 receptions for 314 yards).

"There are certain things we think we can do," offers Muhlenkamp. "But we are going to have to mix it up and

Beats Hunter For Cy Young Award Palmer Is Top Hurler

BALTIMORE (AP) — A warm, sunny day in the off-season usually finds Jim Palmer on the golf course.

But while the skies were bright and temperatures reached the mid 70s Tuesday, the Baltimore Orioles' righthander stayed in his backyard garden, waiting for the telephone to ring.

The choice paid off. Late in the day, Palmer received a call telling him he had been named winner of the Cy Young Award as the American League's top pitcher.

"I was out in the garden spreading mulch when I found out," said Palmer, a Cy Young winner for the second time in three years. "Normally on a day like this I would have been playing golf, but I knew the award was supposed to be announced, so I decided to stick close to home."

Palmer, who came back from an injury-plagued 1974 season to post a 23-11 record this year, outdistanced Catfish Hunter of the New York Yankees in voting by a special 24-member panel of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The only pitcher named on all 24 ballots cast, Palmer finished with a total of 96 points including 16 first-place votes. Hunter, who won last year's Cy Young Award with the Oakland A's, finished with 75 points including seven first-place ballots. Hunter was named by 22 voters.

Rollie Fingers of Oakland was third with 25 points, including two first-place votes. California's Frank Tanana and Chicago's Jim Kaat had seven points apiece, followed by Oakland's Vida Blue and Chicago's Rich Gossage, each with two points. Boston's Rick Wise received one point.

First place was worth five points, second place three points and third place one point. The balloting, with eight pitchers receiving votes, was the most diversified since the award was first presented in 1956.

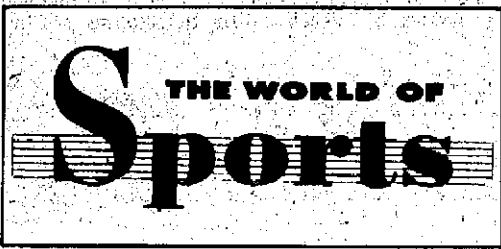

Hunter, who also won 23 games after getting off to a slow start with the Yankees, had been considered Palmer's stiffest competition for the prize. But the Orioles' ace said he was confident he'd come out on top with the voters.

"Asked if he thought he was the best pitcher in the league, Palmer replied: "I think I'm one of the best. The statistics show I had a better year than Catfish, but I don't think I'm any better than him."

Besides his 23 victories, which tied him with Hunter for the most in the major leagues, Palmer topped the majors with a 2.06 earned run average and 10 shutouts.

Palmer's 23 victories in 1975 gave him a career won-lost record of 152-80 for a .656 winning percentage, the best among active pitchers.

ND's Weston Top Lineman

Weight Loss Generates Successful Season

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Jeff Weston, a sophomore defensive tackle, reported for football practice this fall at 263 pounds. "Now he weighs 248," says Notre Dame Coach Dan Devine. "That's the whole story."

Weston, the team's second-leading tackler, made 22 stops and scored a back-breaking 53-yard touchdown on a pass interception in last Saturday's 31-0 victory over Navy. He was named the Associated Press National College Lineman of the Week.

"He had put on a lot of weight over the summer," Devine said, "but I suggested he take off some of the weight. It has made him more maneuverable and less susceptible to injury."

Weston, who stands 6-foot-3, missed some preseason drills because of a pulled muscle. "It kept him out of considerable preseason work so he had a lot to overcome," Devine said. "But he has an excellent attitude and he's a real team player. He's a guy who is going to be around here for two more years and make a lot of improvements."

Devine pointed out that Weston speaks proudly himself of the weight loss and that it can serve as an example to others. "It shows that you don't have to be 260-270 pounds to play the line," Devine said.

The Irish coach said Weston started out as an offensive player, as well as defensive. "The offensive coaches would have liked to have him," he chuckled. "But I felt like we had to have a strong defense, so we left him where he played a little bit as a freshman."

Weston, who played both offensive and defensive tackle at Mooney High School in Rochester, N.Y., said Saturday's effort against Navy was "by far the best game I ever played. Everything was happening for me. They were running my way and all I could do was tackle."

His father, Al Weston, graduated from Notre Dame in 1950, and "there was no other choice of a college" for the young Weston. "I always wanted to come here, I always planned to come here," he said.

The 22 tackles against Navy — five solos and 17 assists — pushed Weston to 78 for the season, second only to running mate Steve Niehaus' 90.

"I didn't expect to be doing this well," Weston said. "I have two more years and I didn't figure I'd be doing that much this year. I just play for the team and do my best."

Devine said Weston's interception off a fake punt was "the outstanding play" of the game. "That was a sensational play, but he really played a brilliant game strictly as a defensive tackle."

Coloma Tries To Cool Off Red-Hot Panthers Friday

Can Coloma cool off red-hot Watervliet?

That question will be answered Friday night at Watervliet when the Panthers and Comets knock heads in renewal of their ancient neighborhood rivalry which dates back to 1928.

(Watervliet, which lost two of its first three games, would like to pen a happy ending to its whirlwind comeback story. The Panthers have won five straight games, outscoring their foes 138-18, to earn a share of the Red Arrow title with Lake Michigan Catholic.

The Comets would also like to top off their successful season on a winning note. Coloma, which finished in third place in the Blossomland standings, will carry a 5-3 mark into the traditional season-ending battle.

"Watervliet certainly has shown tremendous improvement...they're a very fine football team," voices Coloma coach Bob Irvin. "What impresses me the most is their quickness. And they're bigger than most people think. Plus they have one of the better defenses around...that poses a real challenge for us."

Irvin thinks the key for the Coloma defense is stopping the outside running of speedy quarterback Ken Marzka.

"Marzka presents a real problem with his running and passing. He's certainly an outside threat. I think if we can do a good job on the outside the game may be another strong defensive game like last year."

Marzka ran for two touchdowns and passed for another in the Panthers' 36-6 rout of Eau Claire last Friday.

The Panthers' Frank Gargano is a top running threat. Gargano needs only about 100 yards to go over the 1,000 yards rushing mark for the second consecutive season. Rounding out the strong Watervliet backfield is Tom Hutchinson at fullback (the top Watervliet scorer with 58 points) and swing back Jon Hinkelman, the leading pass catcher.

Coloma will counter with a backfield built around tailback John Bertuca and quarterback Ben Cooper. The senior tailback needs only 46 yards to break the 1,000 yard plateau, also for the second year in a row.

Cooper has completed 46 of 80 passes for 408 yards and five touchdowns this season. End Gregg Woodward has been Cooper's main target, catching 29 aeriels for 273 yards and four touchdowns. Rounding out the Comet backfield are John Mattson at wingback and Dennis Ory at fullback.

"This Bertuca is a real fine runner and competitor," notes Watervliet mentor Jerry Barchetti. "And Cooper can throw bullets...I put him right up there in the same category with Welch (George of Lake Michigan Catholic). Woodward is a junky kid with fine hands. And this Mattson and Ory aren't had either."

"And their defense is going to be a challenge for us to handle too...first because of the nature of their defense and second because they have strong personnel. They shut us down pretty well last year."

Sun Rookie Shades Bulls Bucks Edge Pistons For First Victory

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

You can't judge a basketball team's strength simply by its physical size, nor gauge its savvy by the sum total of its playing experience.

Rookie center Alvan Adams, dominating both backboards and making six steals, scored 15 points in the second half Tuesday night to lead the youthful Phoenix Suns past the Chicago Bulls 96-80 in a National Basketball Association contest.

Afterward, Bulls' Coach Dick Motta admitted he had underestimated the Suns; most especially their fledgling center, who grabbed 12 rebounds in the final half.

"I was surprised tonight by Adams," he said. "Not because I thought he wasn't good, but I didn't think a rookie could handle us the way he did."

In other NBA action, Philadelphia upended Buffalo 121-114; Milwaukee edged Detroit 103-101; Houston defeated New York 119-106; Washington outlasted Cleveland 113-99; Kansas City beat Los Angeles 116-86 and Atlanta nipped Portland 98-87.

Adams' remarks after Phoenix's triumph seemed to sum up the Sun's spunky philosophy.

"I have to give away a bit of weight and height, which mean I can't outmuscle anybody," said the 6-foot-8, 210-pound center, who finished with 18 points. "But I feel I'm quicker and more agile and therefore can outjump either of the Chicago centers (Nate Thurmond and Tom Boerwinkle)."

Steve Mix scored eight of a string of 12 points as the 76ers broke a 98-all tie in the final period and took the lead for good, helping hard Bulls' first loss of the season.

Bob Dandridge sank two free throws, with six seconds left, rallying Milwaukee to its first win of the season; Dandridge had a 26-point night, while Brian Winters led the Bulls with 34.

Calvin Murphy kept the home fires burning, hitting New York for 33 points enroute to the Rockets' (2-3) second straight victory in Houston's new Summit Arena.

Elvin Hayes tossed in 23 points and Mike Riordan added 21 as Washington scored its third victory in four starts. Hayes notched 12 points in the first quarter as the Bullets bolted to a 20-4 lead and were never threatened.

Kansas City Coach Phil Johnson received two technical fouls — an automatic ejection — in a four-minute span in the third period. His ejection seemed to fire up the Kings as they hit 70 per cent of their fourth-quarter shots for a 35-18 edge.

Lloyd Neal's three-point play with 42 seconds to go drew Portland within one point of Atlanta 94-93. John Drew, high man with 24 points, hit a jumper to make it 86-63, but Portland scored again with 32 seconds left. Connie Hawkins got the final two Atlanta points on free throws with four seconds remaining.

Career Clips

Junior wide receiver Maurice Mitchell (Bangor) had six pass receptions for 108 yards and one touchdown in Northern Michigan's 21-17 win over Grand Valley State last Saturday. Mitchell holds the NMU record for career pass catches with 52, just two ahead of team mate Zachary Fowler. Mitchell also trails Fowler's career record for yardage by just five with 852.

St. Joseph Out To Sidetrack Undefeated GR Union

St. Joseph stands as the final and biggest hurdle in Grand Rapids Union's race toward a lofty state poll ranking and a possible berth in the post-season playoffs.

Unbeaten Union is 8-0 and rated seventh in this week's Associated Press Class A poll, and according to the computer keeping track, has a good chance of making the playoffs with a victory over the Bears Friday night.

"They are very good . . . it's that simple," says St. Joe coach Ike Muhlenkamp after personally scouting Union.

"I would say they are better than their seventh ranking. I watched them three times and they eliminated their competition every time without any problem. We are definitely the underdog."

But St. Joseph probably won't be any pushover in the 7:30 p.m. non-league finale at Dickinson Stadium. The Bears have won their last four games in a 5-3 campaign while allowing just 16 points during the winning streak.

"We can beat them if we do everything right," adds Muhlenkamp. "We've got to play a super football game."

Union won the Grand Rapids City League title by a two-game margin and has a scoring margin over its opponents of 243 points to 64, but the powerhouse will be without one of its top running backs Friday.

Union's leading rusher, Larry Barnes, a junior fullback, broke his ankle in the first quarter of last week's 40-8 triumph over Grand Rapids Christian.

But Barnes' replacement, Dan Hornbarger, gained 201 yards in three quarters of action. And Union also had a good one at tailback in Tony Townsend.

"We haven't seen a tailback like this kid," continues the

Bear mentor. "When they give it to him on the corner this kid can fly."

St. Joe will counter on offense with fullback Scott Wolff (5.1 yards per carry), quarterback Dave Ziebart (37 pass completions for 465 yards) and split end Ted Dongillo (20 receptions for 314 yards).

"There are certain things we think we can do," offers Muhlenkamp. "But we are going to have to mix it up and gamble. You can't play them straight."

St. Joe certainly respects Union, but the Bears don't appear awed.

"I think it's a real challenge," declares Muhlenkamp. "I think the kids are going to enjoy playing a team with state ranking. We will find out what we are made of."

"We are playing very good football. We are making very few mistakes, and the kids are thinking and making the adjustments necessary on the field. The defense is playing great, like it has been all season. They are playing with a lot of heart."

Friday's clash between the two conference champions will be the first between the schools since 1921.

St. Joe award winners from last week were tailback Dave Tibbitts (career high 73 yards rushing) on offense along with tackle Steve Toney, who "did a real nice job, especially the second half, of opening the off tackle hole."

Middle guard John Donahue got the defensive honor for a "great job all night . . . the Holland center didn't touch him a lot of times."

Offensive guard Leo Pickard got the hustle award and game-breaker honors went to Ziebart and center Glenn Averill for the 30-yard gain on an "automatic" quarterback sneak which set up the go-ahead touchdown.

Beats Hunter For Cy Young Award Palmer Is Top Hurler

BALTIMORE (AP) — A warm, sunny day in the off season usually finds Jim Palmer on the golf course.

But while the skies were bright and temperatures reached the mid 70s Tuesday, the Baltimore Orioles' righthander stayed in his backyard garden, waiting for the telephone to ring.

The choice paid off. Late in the day, Palmer received a call telling him he had been named winner of the Cy Young Award as the American League's top pitcher.

"I was out in the garden spreading mulch when I found out," said Palmer, a Cy Young winner for the second time in three years. "Normally on a day like this I would have been playing golf, but I knew the award was supposed to be announced so I decided to stick close to home."

Palmer, who came back from an injury-plagued 1974 season to post a 23-11 record this year, outdistanced Catfish Hunter of the New York Yankees in voting by a special 24-member panel of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The only pitcher named on all 24 ballots cast, Palmer finished with a total of 98 points including 15 first-place votes. Hunter — who won last year's Cy Young Award with the Oakland A's — finished with 75 points including seven first-place ballots. Hunter was named by 22 voters.

Rollie Fingers of Oakland was third with 25 points, including two first-place votes. California's Frank Tanana and Chicago's Jim Kaat had seven points apiece, followed by Oakland's Vida Blue and Chicago's Rich Gossage, each with two points. Boston's Rick Wise received one point.

First place was worth five points, second place three points and third place one point. The balloting, with eight pitchers receiving votes, was the most diversified since the award was first presented in 1956.

Hunter, who also won 23 games after getting off to a slow start with the Yankees, had been considered Palmer's stiffest competition for the prize. But the Orioles' ace said he was confident he'd come out on top with the voters.

Asked if he thought he was the best pitcher in the league, Palmer replied: "I think I'm one of the best. The statistics show I had a better year than Catfish, but I don't think I'm any better than him."

Besides his 23 victories, which tied him with Hunter for the most in the major leagues, Palmer topped the majors with a 2.09 earned run average and 10 shutouts.

Palmer's 23 victories in 1975 give him a career won-lost record of 152-80 for a .655 winning percentage, the best among active pitchers.

Only four other pitchers have won two Cy Young Awards, including Tom Seaver of the New York Mets, Bob Gibson of St. Louis, Denny McLain of Detroit and Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles. Koufax is the only three-time winner.

"This Bertuca is a real fine runner and competitor," notes Watervliet mentor Jerry Barcetti. "And Cooper can throw bullets...I put him right up there in the same category with Welch (George of Lake Michigan Catholic). Woodward is a lanky kid with fine hands. And this Mattson and Ory aren't bad either."

"And their defense is going to be a challenge for us to handle too...first because of the nature of their defense and second because they have strong personnel. They shut us down pretty well last year."

The Panthers will be gunning for their straight title as the top defensive unit in the area. Watervliet has given up only 61 points in eight games (7.6 points a game).

In the injury department, the Comets' Jerry Gagliardo is doubtful with a bad ankle while the Panthers' Gargano and Hinkleman are nursing bruises but are expected to be ready by Friday.

The Comets and Panthers have met only one common foe this year. Coloma lost to Lake Michigan Catholic 24-6 in its season opener while Watervliet beat the Lakers 16-12 two weeks ago.

Barcetti says his team "certainly remembers" last year's game. The Comets downed Watervliet 7-0 to deny the Panthers an undefeated season.

Coloma holds an overall 30-16-3 in the intense competition.

Family's Third Football Standout

Chiefs' Smallbone Top Lineman

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

His teammates call him "Bones" for short. Opposing coaches only shake their heads when they hear his name.

But when Marty Smallbone is on the football field, the only thing opposing players see is that big number 76 before his grueling tackle or punishing block.

Smallbone was mentioned the most among area linemen this week in a survey of 15 of the area coaches. According to Dowagiac coach Lou Farniano, the selection is justified.

"Marty is of all-state potential," Farniano says. "He's got size and height and is very dedicated."

Marty is the third member of the Smallbone family to gain praise playing football for Dowagiac. His father George was a star defensive tackle for the Chieftains during the 1940s and later went on to play for Hillsdale College. Marty's older brother Steve was an offensive tackle and defensive linebacker two years ago for Dowagiac and now is the starting defensive end at Central Michigan.

"Steve used more brute strength," Farniano states. "Marty uses his head more. He has a knack for being in the right place at the right time."

Smallbone, a 6-3, 290-pounder, plays tackle on both offense and defense and was an honorable mention all-Big Six selection last year as a junior. This year in the Chieftains first season in the Blossomland conference the bulky lineman has come into his own.

"When he angles down toward the quarterback, he can get through there pretty quick," Farniano declares. "He gives us a tremendous pass rush on defense. Offensively, Marty is a very good blocker."

Smallbone played probably his finest game of the year against Lakeshore when he sacked quarterback Kevin Campbell four times during crucial passing situations. On the season, Smallbone boasts nine quarterback sacks.

"He's one of the better ones I've ever had," Farniano says. "He's a very intelligent kid to work with."

With a 3.0 grade point (on a 4.0 point scale), Smallbone is having no trouble getting into college. He has narrowed his choices down to Michigan State and Central Michigan, but will probably choose Central so he can play with his brother.

"I like Central as a school," Marty says, "and I'd like to play with my brother. I'd like playing right next to Steve on the line."

Smallbone is not the only good lineman in the area: Coloma's tackle Syd Myrick is another stalwart lineman. In fact, Smallbone calls Myrick "the toughest opponent I've faced all year."

Myrick is a crafty 5-10, 190-pound senior who Comet coach Bob Irvin has nothing but praise for.

"Syd is an exceptionally strong blocker," Irvin says. "He's one of the better double team blockers, and is tremendous defensively."

Defensive end Pat Grounds and linebacker Jim Burrow anchor a Brandywine defense which has limited the last six Bobcat opponents to just 40 points and an average of 122 yards total offense.

Burrow, a two-year regular, has claimed more than 50 solo tackles while playing the weak side linebacker slot.

Cassopolis coach Cal Titus said of Burrow, "He's quicker than the devil and reads the play well."

Irvin called Grounds "without a question one of the toughest defensive ends I've seen."

In the Red Arrow, Watervliet's Rick Sawyer and Lake Michigan Catholic's Chris Kasmer head a fine group of linemen.

Sawyer was an all-Red Arrow selection last year at the offensive tackle and defensive linebacker slots and Panther coach Jerry Barchett says he has shown improvement this year.

"Rick's offensive techniques are very good," Barchett said. "The percentage of times he performs his assignments is good and we like his percentage of success."

"On defense his ability to go to the ball is his biggest asset. He finds the football and goes after it."

Sawyer's best games came against the top competition. The 5-11, 180-pounder collected 14 tackles against both Hartford and Lake Michigan Catholic.

Kasmer, a 6-3, 215-pound offensive guard, teams with his brother John, a tackle, to give the Lakers a good one-two punch on the offensive line.

"Chris has always been able to hit people," Lake Michigan coach Terry Rose says. "This past year he has worked very hard on quickness and his pulling ability. He's done a heckuva job because he now leads all of our plays to the right or left."

Rose adds that John Kasmer has probably improved this season as much as Chris, but has failed to receive the recognition.

Mark Salasky is in his third year as an excellent offensive guard and middle linebacker for South Haven. Ram coach Gary Steudle says the 5-10, 190-pounder is "as good a blocker as we've ever had."

Salasky averages 15 individual tackles a game and holds the school single-game record of 18.

St. Joseph's senior tackle and defensive nose man John Donahue has sparked the Bears' late season success which resulted in the co-Big Seven title. Donahue has been especially important on defense.

"John moved to nose man after the first game," Bear coach Ike Muhlenkamp says. "He averages seven or eight tackles a game and clogs up the middle even when he doesn't make tackles."

Other top Blossomland selections were tackle Chuck Bosler and defensive end, Wendell Simmons, both of Cassopolis; guard Keith Brook and tackle Dave Thompson of Brandywine and Buchanan linebacker Larry Granger.

In the Red Arrow, linebacker Craig Schau and defensive ends Matt Koziel and Mike Kuntz of Galien head the list. The trio combined to hold Eau Claire's Don McAfee to one of his lowest rushing totals of the year (118 yards).

Bridgman's John Jones and Dale Zilke, Hartford's Duane Toney and Eau Claire's Al Flowers and Larry Bartels were also nominated. Bartels was the Red Arrow's all-league center a year ago.

Tackle Brad Shaw and Guard Matt Mills sparked Lawrence to one of its best seasons in history and to its first SAC title.

Eau Claire's McAfee continues to lead the area in both scoring and rushing. McAfee has finished his season with 138 points and 1,585 yards on the ground. Lake Michigan Catholic's Mickey Ashbrook is second in scoring with 120 points with one game still to play against Parchment. Brandywine's Daryl Walls boasts 1,384 yards good for second place heading into Friday's game against South Bend Clay.

Michigan's Bell Piles Up Yards But Lacks Publicity

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Gordon Bell, Michigan's mighty mite fullback, has been piling up yardage but not publicity.

Coach Bo Schembechler thinks it is time that changed. "I think Bell's as good as any back there is anywhere," Schembechler said this week. "I haven't seen any who looks better."

The Troy, Ohio, senior deserves consideration for the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding football player, he added.

"He is certainly the most underpublicized great back in the country," Schembechler said.

Defending Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin doesn't lead the Big Ten in rushing this season. Nor does record-setting Billy Marek of Wisconsin. It's Bell who's on top after five league games. He is averaging 141 yards a game. Griffin has a 123 average and Marek 127.

"All of the publicity in the world doesn't help you win," Bell said.

"I don't feel slighted because Archie is in our conference. I feel I'm just as good as he is."

In last Saturday's 28-21 triumph over Minnesota, Bell ran for 172 yards and subsequently was voted the Wolverines' offensive "Champion of the Week." It was his fifth consecutive game with 100 or more yards rushing.

The latest performance by the 5-foot-8, 178-pounder vaulted him into second place on the all-time Michigan list ahead of Ron Johnson with 2,488 yards. Johnson, now with the New York Giants of the National Football League, was at 2,440.

Billy Taylor's record of 3,072 career rushing yards seems out of reach for Bell. Michigan has three more regular season games, including Saturday's home contest against Purdue. As a sophomore Bell gained 484 yards in 88 carries for a 5.2 average. Last year he totaled 1,048 in 174 rushes for a 6.0 average. This season he is at 976 yards in 179 attempts for a 5.5 average. He has scored nine touchdowns.

Bell is noted for his ability to cut on a dime, spurt through minuscule holes and hurdle tacklers. He's got fine speed and is durable. Bell seems to get — pardon the expression — his bell rung on many tackles, only to bounce up as if nothing happened.

"He's a very, very durable guy," Schembechler said. "He isn't exactly frail. He's put together well."

"He's a confident guy. Exciting and good as he is, he's also one of the nicest guys you'll ever meet."

Bell, a business student, does fairly well in school. If he didn't, his father Trenton "would kill him," Schembechler said with a grin.

"Gordie listens to Trenton," he said. "What he says gets done."

Injuries Following Lions

Weaver, Barney Doubtful For Browns

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Detroit's latest victory made the Lions elated — but the injury list hasn't abated.

Three Lions — Charlie Weaver, Charlie Sanders and Lem Barney — sustained significant injuries in Sunday's 29-17 National Football League victory at San Francisco.

At least two of them are considered doubtful starters for this Sunday's game at home against the winless Cleveland Browns — who have never beaten the Lions on their home field in a regular season game.

Outside linebacker Weaver sprained an ankle against the 49ers and will probably be replaced by Ed O'Neil against the Browns. Weaver is being touted by the Lions as an All-Pro candidate. He leads the team in tackles and sacks.

Tight end Sanders, possibly the best Detroit player, separated a shoulder. But Coach Rick Forzano said he'll probably play Sunday.

Cornerback Barney was hospitalized Tuesday with a thigh injury and Forzano said there's a good chance he won't start. Barney intercepted two 49er passes to give him five for the season; his most in five years. He now has 51 for his career to rank second on the team's all-time list behind Dick LeBeau's 62.

Ben Davis, who's been playing with a broken thumb, could start in place of Barney. Defensive tackle Herb Orvis broke a thumb against San Francisco but is scheduled to start against Cleveland, and rookie defensive tackle Doug English also has a broken thumb.

"We're big on those this year," Forzano said.

O'Neil and Larry Ball alternated at the right linebacker spot after Weaver's injury. O'Neil scored on a 48-yard touchdown run with a fumble recovery for the Lions final tally.

"O'Neil and Ball were both on the specialty squads and because of that I didn't want either one to play full time at a regular position, too," Forzano said. "They're both capable on the outside. They've got speed. Both can run."

Perhaps Weaver's injury will give O'Neil the opportunity he's been waiting for since Detroit picked the Penn State star as its No. 1 draft choice last year.

"We know Ed has the ability. It's just a question of bringing it out," Forzano said at his weekly, public-invited, news luncheon at a Pontiac motel.

An injured shoulder slowed down O'Neil's development last year, Forzano said.

"I think that had a bearing on how he played. He's had some opportunities to play, now. He knows he'll play and he produces."

Forzano said O'Neil "may have the best hands on our football team. He could be a receiver."

Detroit has 1½ weeks to decide what to do with fullback Steve Owens and rookie linebacker Steve Strunk. They have been on the "unable to perform" list, but began practicing last weekend. In another 1½ weeks the Lions must decide whether they should be added to the roster, added to the list of 10 players on injured reserves, or be waived.

Along with his three goals, Parise teamed with Resch to assist on Dennis Potvin's eighth goal of the season. Parise's third goal of the night and fifth of the season ended 11 years of frustration.

"It's a great feeling," Parise said. "When I saw that third goal I made sure I went into the net and dug it out myself. It was a souvenir I've wanted for a long, long time."

The Rangers, who had lost five of their last six games, were the targets of fan abuse two nights ago against the Detroit Red Wings. Detroit's goalie in that game was Ed Giacomin, the Rangers' goalie for more than a decade who was released last Friday night for the $30,000 waiver price.

Pete Stemkowski of the Rangers and Ron Sedlbauer of the Canucks traded first-period goals before Vickers knocked in his sixth goal of the season, at 13:28 of the second period, beating Vancouver goalie Gary Smith from close range.

Just ask the New England Whalers.

Hull was on the ice for the Winnipeg Jets Tuesday night and after a scoreless first period, he made his presence quite evident. He scored his fifth goal of the season, at 10:08 of the first period, then assisted on Anders Hedberg's ninth goal, 4½ minutes later.

Third-period goals by Fred O'Donnell and Tommy Abrahamson tied the game 2-2 but defenseman Mike Ford

Earlier, Hull quoluted the rumors that he was heading back to his old NHL club, the Chicago Black Hawks, saying: "Unequivocably no, I'm not going back to Chicago. Okay?"

Elsewhere in the WHA, the Calgary Cowboys and San Diego Mariners skated to a 4-4 tie; the Indianapolis Racers nipped the Toronto Toros 4-3; the Quebec Nordiques shaded the Edmonton Oilers 4-3, and the Denver Spurs and Cleveland Crusaders played to a 2-2 tie.

Hugh Harris's goal :32 into the third period tied the game and flawless goaltending from Russ Gillow of San Diego and Don McLeod of Calgary preserved the deadlock.

Harris scored his fourth goal of the season when he slapped home the rebound of a shot by Murry Keogan.

Bill Prentice scored for Indianapolis to forge a 3-3 tie and Brian Coates' third-period goal ended the Racers' two-game losing streak.

Frank Mahovlich, Tony Featherstone and Mike Amadeo scored in the first period for the Toros, while Reg Thomas and Ron Buchanan connected for Indianapolis.

A fluke goal, credited to seldom-used forward Tom Serviss, with 63 seconds left in the third period pulled Quebec past Edmonton.

Serviss cleared the puck from his side of center ice and the puck trickled in front of the Edmonton net, where Oilers goalie Chris Worthy and defenseman Kerry Ketter mixed on their assignments.

As the puck spun toward the goal line, Worthy swung and missed and it continued into the net.

Mark Lomenda's 15-foot goal, his first of the season, at 2:15 in the third period gave Denver its overtime tie with Cleveland. Goalies Bob Whidden of Cleveland and Bob Johnson of Denver turned the opposing of-

Hat Trick 'Assists' To Islander Goalie

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York Islander goalie Glenn Resch received official credit for an assist on Dennis Potvin's goal but he really deserves credit for assisting on J.P. Parise's three goals.

"I started talking to J.P. before the game," Resch said, "and I told him I had been watching him in practice and that he's been aiming the puck, instead of firing it."

"I told him to stop aiming it and just shoot it. I sensed he was very tense and I tried to loosen him up. So J.P. told me, 'I'm gonna go out and shoot it.'"

When Resch's goaltending career is over, he could have a successful career in coaching, or even psychiatry, because his counseling resulted in some big dividends — Parise's first three-goal game in his 11-year National Hockey League career and the Islanders' 5-3 victory over the California Golden Seals Tuesday night.

In the only other NHL game, the New York Rangers beat the Vancouver Canucks 4-2.

Along with his three goals, Parise teamed with Resch to assist on Dennis Potvin's eighth goal of the season. Parise's third goal of the night and fifth of the season ended 11 years of frustration.

"It's a great feeling," Parise said. "When I saw that third goal I made sure I went into the net and dug it out myself. It was a souvenir I've wanted for a long, long time."

Steve Vickers' goal snapped a

1-1 tie midway through the second period and the New York Rangers, booed unmercifully by their home fans Sunday night, went on to beat the Vancouver Canucks.

The Rangers, who had lost five of their last six games, were the targets of fan abuse two nights ago against the Detroit Red Wings. Detroit's goalie in that game was Ed Giacomin, the Rangers goalie for more than a decade who was released last Friday night for the $30,000 waiver price.

Pete Stelmowski of the Rangers and Ron Sedlbauer of the Canucks traded first-period goals before Vickers knocked in his sixth goal of the season, at 13:28 of the second period, beating Vancouver goalie Gary Smith from close range.

Whalers Know Hull Still Very Much Part Of WHA

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bobby Hull, who was reportedly interested in jumping back into the National Hockey League, is still very much a part of the World Hockey Association.

Just ask the New England Whalers.

Hull was on the ice for the Winnipeg Jets Tuesday night and after a scoreless first period, he made his presence quite evident. He scored his fifth goal of the season, at 10:08 of the first period, then assisted on Anders Hedberg's ninth goal, 4½ minutes later.

Third-period goals by Fred O'Donnell and Tommy Abrahamson tied the game 2-2 but defenseman Mike Ford scored on a 25-foot slap shot at 4:06 of the sudden death overtime period to give the Jets a 3-2 victory.

Earlier, Hull quieted the rumors that he was heading back to his old NHL club, the Chicago Black Hawks, saying: "Unequivocally no, I'm not going back to Chicago. Okay?" Elsewhere in the WHA, the Calgary Cowboys and San Diego Mariners skated to a 4-4 tie; the Indianapolis Racers nipped the Toronto Toros 4-3; the Quebec Nordiques skated the Edmonton Oilers 4-3, and the Denver Spurs and Cleveland Crusaders played to a 2-2 tie.

Harris' goal :52 into the third period tied the game and flawless goaltending from Russ Gillow of San Diego and Don McLeod of Calgary preserved the deadlock.

Harris scored his fourth goal of the season when he slapped home the rebound of a shot by Murry Keogan.

Bill Prentice scored for Indianapolis to forge a 3-3 tie and Brian Coates' third-period goal ended the Racers' two-game losing streak.

Frank Mahovlich, Tony Featherstone and Mike Amadeo scored in the first period for the Toros, while Reg Thomas and Ron Buchanan connected for Indianapolis.

A fluke goal, credited to seldom-used forward Tom Serviss, with 63 seconds left in the third period pulled Quebec past Edmonton.

Serviss cleared the puck from his side of center ice and the puck trickled in front of the Edmonton net, where Oilers goalie Chris Worthy and defenseman Kerry Ketter mixed up their assignments.

As the puck spun toward the goal line, Worthy swung and missed and it continued into the net.

Mark Lomenda's 15-foot goal, his first of the season, at 2:15 in the third period gave Denver its overtime tie with Cleveland. Goalies Bob Whidden of Cleveland and Bob Johnson of Denver tamed the opposing offenses in the overtime period.

The first-year Spurs are still without a home victory after five games on their own ice.

Lowly Oilers Now On Top

HOUSTON (AP) — According to tradition, by mid-season the Houston Oilers have found a comfortable seat for themselves in the cellar of the American Football Conference's Central Division.

This year, they seem quite comfortable right at the top of the division with a 6-1 record and tied with defending Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh and Cincinnati for first place.

There are several explanations for Houston's sudden, undeniable status as a contender:

—Noseguard Curley Culp, whose acquisition from Kansas City signaled the start of Houston's defense-oriented rise to NFL respectability.

—Kick returner Billy Johnson, a 15th-round draft choice whose mercurial returns have played key roles in virtually every Oiler victory this season.

—A dynamite touchdown bomb crew of quarterback Dan Pastorini and wide receiver Kenny Burrough, who have highlighted a still improving Oiler offense.

—O.A. "Bum" Phillips, the tobacco-chewing, country-talking head coach who helped start the turnaround last year with his befuddling three-man front defense.

The Oiler defense has been the backbone of Houston's rise. The Oilers have lost only three times in 15 games since Culp joined the team during last season.

"Curley's been the catalyst," Oiler defensive coordinator Ed

Biles said. "Curley added stability and great experience and he's been to the Super Bowl before and our players immediately looked at him with great respect."

Each week, Johnson provides new exploits to confound the opposition. He failed to break a return for a touchdown against Kansas City last Sunday, but his fourth-quarter return set up a field goal for the final score, forcing the Chiefs to go for a touchdown.

Houston's offense still lacks consistency but Pastorini, with one of the strongest throwing arms in the NFL, has learned patience. His patience paid off against Kansas City with a 77-yard TD bomb to Burrough, who has 24 receptions for 485 yards, best of his career.

Coordinating all these changes is Phillips, whose calm, quiet approach often is disarming. Although he's fast becoming known around the league, he still goes unrecognized in some quarters.

After last Sunday's victory over the Chiefs, Oiler publicist Jim McLemore led Kansas City newsmen into a corner where Phillips was sitting on a stool.

After a moment of silence, Phillips asked "Well, you fellas like to talk to the players?"

"We were really looking for the coach," one writer said.

Phillips just grinned and said "The coach? Hell, you've got him."

Expansions May See Injured Lists Liberal NFL Draft Likely

NEW YORK (AP) — Seattle and Tampa, the new expansion teams in the National Football League, will get to see pro football's best talent. But most of it will be on the other side of the field, despite a more liberal selection procedure.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, here for the league's three-day meetings, said Tuesday the method of stocking Seattle and Tampa, which both begin play in the 1976 season, has yet to be determined, although he indicated a "more liberal" draft process appears likely.

Rozelle said more players might be eligible for selection than in previous expansion drafts, citing the possibility that players on the injured list, for example, may be available.

But in any event, football's best would line up against the expansionists, since in the clubs' first two years of existence they would meet all the other present NFL teams once, and each other twice.

The plan is to place the Seattle Seahawks in the National Football Conference West Division for the 1976 season and in the American Conference West in 1977. The Tampa Buccaneers would be ticketed for the AFC West in 1976 and the NFC West in 1977.

Both years Tampa and Seattle get to play each other, as well as the other 13 teams in their respective conferences.

"This way, the people in Seattle and Tampa will see, either at home or on TV, all 26 teams in their first two years," Rozelle said.

Rozelle said the NFL is seriously considering adding two more clubs for the 1978 season. He also said he has been in contact with representatives of Memphis and Birmingham from the defunct World Football League, which are both planning to formally request admission to the NFL for the 1978 season.

"There are obvious problems," the commissioner said about the Memphis and Birmingham applications.

Meanwhile, the NFL unanimously approved a two-year extension of the league's contract with the College All-Star Game. The 1976 Game, which will match the 1976 Super Bowl champions against a group of college All-Stars, will be played Friday night, July 23.

U.S. Club May Go To Cuba Baseball Game In Havana Being Planned

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — Plans are nearing completion for a major league all-star baseball team to travel to Havana next spring to play a Cuban team, the Long Island newspaper Newsday reported today.

Newsday said in today's edition that negotiations for the game began last year and apparently have continued with the knowledge of both Cuban

Prime Minister Fidel Castro and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

One phase of the negotiations involved a secret meeting in Mexico City, just before the World Series, between baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and his two Cuban counterparts, the newspaper said.

It is not known at this time when an official announcement will be made, Newsday said. A spokesman for Kuhn's office, Robert Wirz, said: "There's just not anything that can be said at this time. There just isn't going to be any comment from this office."

The game is seen both as a diplomatic tool and a television spectacular that will bring defectors between the two nations into the living rooms of America, Newsday said, adding that the U.S. is negotiating for the rights to broadcast the game live from Havana.

"It's no secret in baseball circles that since Sen. (George) McGovern's trip to Cuba, baseball people have been interested in Cuba," a State Department official said. "The baseball commissioner has been talking to (Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs William D.) Rogers about it for a long time."

Campbell Says Hull Could Return To NHL

TORONTO (AP) — If Bobby Hull could clear two legal hurdles, there would be nothing to stop him from returning to the National Hockey League, NHL President Clarence Campbell says.

Campbell said Tuesday that if Hull does move back to the NHL from the Winnipeg Jets of the World Hockey Association, he would be property of the Chicago Black Hawks.

"First of all, the NHL is under a decree from a Philadelphia court that we may not interfere with any player under contract to the World Hockey Association," Campbell said.

"If he did get out of his contract with Winnipeg, he would then have to be waived out of the

"Should both those conditions be met, there would be no reason he could not return. None at all."

There have been recurring reports that Hull, who staged a one-game sitdown over violence in the WHA earlier this season, is eager to return to the Black Hawks.

The Black Hawks have refused comment on the reports.

Campbell said the NHL as such doesn't have much interest in his return.

"As a league, the NHL doesn't care much one way or the other," he said. "However, some individual clubs, I'm sure, would like his services."

St. Joe Girls Capture Big Seven Cage Crown

PORTAGE — As if the issue had ever been in doubt, St. Joseph clinched its first Big Seven girls basketball title with a 54-34 win over Portage North here Tuesday night.

With two league games left before the district tournaments start on Nov. 29, the Bears are 14-0 this season and 10-0 in the league. The Huskies fall to a 3-8 league mark.

Amy Ryan and Kay Stickney led the St. Joe scoring attack with 12 points each. Ryan also pulled down 11 rebounds. Andy Galt notched 10 points.

For Northern, Lisa Calkmaki had 10 points while teammate Kelly Hinkley added eight.

The contest was never in doubt as the Bears held the Huskies scoreless until just before the end of the first quarter. They increased their 11-2 lead to 33-9 at the intermission.

"We were really tough in the second quarter," grinned Bears' coach Marty Scherr. "Our passing was sharp and we penetrated inside well."

The Bears shot 36 per cent from the floor but Scherr said that his team could have done a little better since most of shots St. Joe was getting were layups.

The junior varsity girls also prevailed over Northern 64-16 as Laura Pries netted 18 points and Kate Bartz had 10 points.

The next game on tap for the Bears is Thursday night when they travel to Lake Michigan Catholic.

Big Money Not McKay's Reason

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John McKay says money wasn't the main reason he decided to leave the University of Southern California for the new Tampa Bay Buccaneers of the National Football League.

And McKay said he won't be making as much as has been reported.

McKay announced last week that he was leaving as the university's football coach and athletic director. Newspaper reports said he would earn nearly $2 million on a five-year contract.

"Those figures are so ridiculously out of line it makes my job five times as difficult. A lot of pro coaches will read that and go to their owners and try to get $2 million. I wouldn't pay that kind of money for five football coaches with Jim Brown thrown in."

McKay said he had made no recommendations to school officials on who should replace him but added, "I would think they'll add two jobs. With more women becoming involved in sports and the cutdown on spending, the athletic director is busy. It's only about a 99-hour a day job."

McKay chided one reporter who printed the "details" of McKay's contract, which included a $350,000 house and five automobiles. Puffing on his customary cigar, McKay said, "I imagine when I get to my

BACK OF WEEK: With Sather Gate in the background, the University of California's Chuck Muncie strolls on the campus at Berkeley, Calif. Muncie, who rushed 18 times for 143 yards and a 7.9 average and caught five passes for 62 more yards in last Saturday's upset of Southern Cal, has been named the Associated Press national back of the week. (AP Wirephoto)

Muncie Now Power Back

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The University of California's Chuck Muncie has turned on all his power as a running back this season. And the improvement, which culminated in a 143-yard performance last week against Southern Cal, earned Muncie The Associated Press Back of the Week honors.

"He's a much more intense runner than a year ago," Coach John McKay of Southern California said of the tailback who also caught five passes for 62 yards in Cal's 28-14 upset victory over the Trojans.

Muncie's performance helped the Bears take over the Pacific-8 lead and threw the previously unbeaten Trojans into a four-way tie for second place.

"Chuck is a violent runner now. He's running through people. That's what John McKay means," said Cal Coach Mike White, adding that Muncie was one of college football's best running backs even before he changed his style.

In 1974, as a junior, the 6-foot-3, 220-pound player from Uniontown, Pa., missed some playing time because of injuries but still rushed for 832 yards and caught 31 passes for 410 yards to become an AP third team All-American.

"But he was a 9.7 runner who didn't realize there were a lot of guys playing defense who are just as fast," said White.

Muncie came out with a bang this season, with 112 yards rushing on 15 carries against Colorado. He's gone over the 100-yard mark in all but one game — settling for 95 against San Jose State — and his total of 1,003 yards is just 17 short of the Cal record set in 1948 by Jackie Jensen.

"I realized that with my size, I should be delivering some blows when I run," Muncie says. "My first two seasons, I had a lot of little injuries. That's because I was taking shots from tacklers instead of hitting them. I've felt fine this year."

Almost half of Muncie's rushing yardage this season has been accumulated after he's been hit by would-be tacklers, according to White who has the game films available to prove it and says, "That's an amazing statistic."

Muncie had his biggest game of the season, statistically, against a weak Oregon team, rushing for 207 yards.

"But I think the Southern Cal game was my best because that's the game we had to win," said the Cal star.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, here for the league's three-day meetings, said Tuesday the method of stocking Seattle and Tampa, which both begin play in the 1976 season, has yet to be determined, although he indicated a "more liberal" draft process appears likely.

Rozelle said more players might be eligible for selection than in previous expansion drafts, citing the possibility that players on the injured list, for example, may be available.

But in any event, football's best would line up against the expansionists, since in the clubs' first two years of existence they would meet all the other present NFL teams once, and each other twice.

The plan is to place the Seattle Seahawks in the National Football Conference West Division for the 1976 season and in the American Conference West in 1977. The Tampa Buccaneers would be ticketed for the AFC West in 1976 and the NFC West in 1977.

Both years Tampa and Seattle get to play each other, as well as the other 13 teams in their respective conferences.

"This way, the people in Seattle and Tampa will see, either at home or on TV, all 26 teams in their first two years," Rozelle said.

Rozelle said the NFL is seriously considering adding two more clubs for the 1978 season. He also said he has been in contact with representatives of Memphis and Birmingham from the defunct World Football League, which are both planning to formally request admission to the NFL for the 1978 season.

"There are obvious problems," the commissioner said about the Memphis and Birmingham applications.

Meanwhile, the NFL unanimously approved a two-year extension of the league's contract with the College All-Star Game. The 1976 Game, which will match the 1976 Super Bowl champions against a group of college All-Stars, will be played Friday night, July 23.

U.S. Club May Go To Cuba Baseball Game In Havana Being Planned

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — Plans are nearing completion for a major league all-star baseball team to travel to Havana next spring to play a Cuban team, the Long Island newspaper Newsday reported today.

Newsday said in today's editions that negotiations for the game began last year and apparently have continued with the knowledge of both Cuban

Prime Minister Fidel Castro and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

One phase of the negotiations involved a secret meeting in Mexico City, just before the World Series, between baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and his two Cuban counterparts, the newspaper said.

It is not known at this time when an official announcement will be made, Newsday said. A spokesman for Kuhn's office, Robert Wirz, said: "There's just not anything that can be said at this time. There just isn't going to be any comment from this office."

The game is seen both as a diplomatic tool and a television spectacular that will bring détente between the two nations into the living rooms of America, Newsday said, adding that abc is negotiating for the rights to broadcast the game

live from Havana.

"It's no secret in baseball circles that since Sen. (George) McGovern's trip to Cuba, baseball people have been interested in Cuba," a State Department official said. "The baseball commissioner has been talking to (Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs William D.) Rogers about it for a long time."

Campbell Says Hull Could Return To NHL

TORONTO (AP) — If Bobby Hull could clear two legal hurdles, there would be nothing to stop him from returning to the National Hockey League, NHL President Clarence Campbell says.

Campbell said Tuesday that if Hull does move back to the NHL from the Winnipeg Jets of the World Hockey Association, he would be property of the Chicago Black Hawks.

"First of all, the NHL is under a decree from a Philadelphia court that we may not interfere with any player under contract to the World Hockey Association," Campbell said.

"If he did get out of his contract with Winnipeg, he would then have to be waived out of the WHA." "Should both those conditions be met, there would be no reason he could not return. None at all."

There have been recurring reports that Hull, who staged a one-game sitdown over violence in the WHA earlier this season, is eager to return to the Black Hawks.

The Black Hawks have refused comment on the reports. Campbell said the NHL has such doesn't have much interest in his return.

"As a league, the NHL doesn't care much one way or the other," he said. "However, some individual clubs, I'm sure, would like his services."

Big Money Not McKay's Reason

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John McKay says money wasn't the main reason he decided to leave the University of Southern California for the new Tampa Bay Buccaneers of the National Football League.

And McKay said he won't be making as much as has been reported. McKay announced last week that he was leaving as the university's football coach and athletic director. Newspaper reports said he would earn nearly $2 million on a five-year contract.

"Those figures are so ridiculously out of line it makes my job five times as difficult. A lot of pro coaches will read that and go to their owners and try to get $2 million. I wouldn't pay that kind of money for five football coaches with Jim Brown thrown in."

McKay said he had made no recommendations to school officials on who should replace him but added, "I would think they'll add two jobs. With more women becoming involved in sports and the cutdown on spending, the athletic director is busy. It's only about a 99-hour a day job."

McKay chided one reporter who printed the "details" of McKay's contract, which included a $350,000 house and five automobiles. Puffing on his customary cigar, McKay said, "I imagine when I get to my $350,000 house I'll find a cigar factory inside it. In fact, for the past week all I've been doing is hiring four chauffeurs."

Asked where he planned to live, McKay quipped: "In that $350,000 house I read about. I just don't know where I'm gonna get the money for all the furniture for that place."

McKay said he didn't want to make the announcement of his departure this soon but newspaper reports disrupted his family and he had to. And he said he agrees with a statement Monday by Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes, who said, "I've never seen a good coach who is a lame duck coach."

"I feel personally relieved that I ANNOUNCED IT," SAID McKay, "but Woody is probably correct on that statement. I don't think I can be as effective a coach now."

Hannah Resigns Hockey Post

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Bobcats Tuesday announced the resignation of Jack "Red" Hannah, who has compiled a 3-2 record in his first season as coach of the U.S. Hockey League team.

Defenseman Gordy Yewman, in his 11th season as a Bobcats' player, was named interim coach. Yewman coached the Madison Blues to the USHL title in 1972-73.

St. Joe Girls Capture Big Seven Cage Crown

PORTAGE — As if the issue had ever been in doubt, St. Joseph clinched its first Big Seven girls basketball title with a 54-34 win over Portage Northern here Tuesday night.

With two league games left before the district tournaments start on Nov. 20, the Bears are 16-0 this season and 10-0 in the league. The Huskies fall to a 3-9 loop mark.

Ann Ryan and Kay Stickney led the St. Joe scoring attack with 12 points each. Ryan also pulled down 11 rebounds. Andy Gast notched 10 points.

For Northern, Lisa Cakmakci had 10 points while teammate Holly Hoekstra added eight.

The contest was never in doubt as the Bears held the Huskies scoreless until just before the end of the first quarter. They increased their 11-2 lead to 33-9 at the intermission.

"We were really tough in the second quarter," grinned Bears' coach Marty Scherr. "Our passing was sharp and we penetrated inside well."

The Bears shot 36 per cent from the floor but Scherr said that his team could have done a little better since most of shots St. Joe was getting were layups.

The junior varsity girls also prevailed over Northern 64-10 as Laura Pries netted 18 points and Kate Bartz had 16 points.

The next game on tap for the Bears is Thursday night when they travel to Lake Michigan Catholic.

BACK OF WEEK: With Sather Gate in the background, the University of California's Chuck Muncie strolls on the campus at Berkeley, Calif. Muncie, who rushed 18 times for 143 yards and a 7.9 average and caught five passes for 62 more yards in last Saturday's upset of Southern Cal, has been named the Associated Press national back of the week. (AP Wirephoto)

Muncie Now Power Back

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The University of California's Chuck Muncie has turned on all his power as a running back this season. And the improvement, which culminated in a 143-yard performance last week against Southern Cal, earned Muncie The Associated Press Back of the Week honors.

"He's a much more intense runner than a year ago," Coach John McKay of Southern California said of the tailback who also caught five passes for 62 yards in Cal's 28-14 upset victory over the Trojans.

Muncie's performance helped the Bears take over the Pacific-8 lead and threw the previously unbeaten Trojans into a four-way tie for second place.

"Chuck is a violent runner now. He's running through people. That's what John McKay means," said Cal Coach Mike White, adding that Muncie was one of college football's best running backs even before he changed his style.

In 1974, as a junior, the 6-foot-3, 220-pound player from Uniontown, Pa., missed some playing time because of injuries but still rushed for 832 yards and caught 31 passes for 410 yards to become an AP third team All-American.

"But he was a 9.7 runner who didn't realize there were a lot of guys playing defense who are just as fast," said White.

Muncie came out with a bang this season, with 112 yards rushing on 15 carries against Colorado. He's gone over the 100-yard mark in all but one game — settling for 95 against San Jose State — and his total of 1,063 yards is just 17 short of the Cal record set in 1948 by Jackie Jensen.

"I realized that with my size, I should be delivering some blows when I run," Muncie says. "My first two seasons, I had a lot of little injuries. That's because I was taking shots from tacklers instead of hitting them. I've felt fine this year."

Almost half of Muncie's rushing yardage this season has been accumulated after he's been hit by would-be tacklers, according to White who has the game films available to prove it and says, "That's an amazing statistic."

Muncie had his biggest game of the season, statistically, against a weak Oregon team, rushing for 207 yards.

"But I think the Southern Cal game was my best because that's the game we had to win," said the Cal star.

GB Off To Worst Start; Starr Wary Of 'Weak' Clubs

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — It will be one of the most painfully recalled and least revered milestones in their glorious 56-year history, but the Green Bay Packers' 1-6 record represents their worst National Football League start ever.

Even the 1958 team, which fashioned a 1-10-1 record the year before Vince Lombardi became coach and general manager and turned the franchise around, managed a 1-5-1 start. The 1922 team lost its first four games, then played two scoreless ties before beating Columbus 3-0.

Defensive tackle Mike McCoy, sharing the widely held belief the worst of the Packers' 1975 schedule is over, believes things can only improve. Coach Bart Starr says the improvement process has continued all season, but is wary of the rest of the schedule.

"We're coming through what may be the toughest three weeks in Packer history — at least in the six years I've been here," McCoy said. "But at least we've held our ground. We've played good enough to be 3-0 against those teams, and that's got to be encouraging."

McCoy referred to the 19-17 upset of Dallas two weeks ago, the 16-13 loss to Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh the next week and Sunday's 28-17 defeat by Minnesota. The Packers led 17-14 in the last quarter before two touchdown passes by Fran Tarkenton and three intercepted passes kept the Vikings' record perfect.

"Now we've got teams like the Bears and Giants coming along," he said. "We'll win our share."

Indeed, the second half schedule includes two games with the Chicago Bears and one each with Detroit, the New York Giants and Atlanta, all seemingly in Green Bay's class. The Packers play at Chicago next Sunday.

"I'm not looking at it that way at all. I think it would be a mistake," Starr said.

"We'll be playing teams which have played seven games themselves and have shown improvement, just as we have," he said. "They will be playing with a lot of determination."

"Detroit is a great example," he said. "They knocked off the 49ers Sunday with a patched up lineup, and that really showed me something. The Bears have a lot of good performers who are quite capable of putting something together, as you saw against Minnesota last week. Playing down in Chicago will be real tough."

"Our approach simply is that the first half is over and we have a very poor record," Starr said. "Pride — both personal and as a team — will be a very big factor in the second half. We haven't put a tag on wins and losses, except in terms of what we can salvage in our remaining games."

Trio Leads Spirits To Victory

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Spirits of St. Louis made it five straight Tuesday night with Don Adams, Freddie Lewis and Marvin Barnes combining for 76 points in a 116-110 American Basketball Association victory over the Utah Stars.

There were no other ABA games scheduled.

Spirits' Coach Rod Thorn credited, in part, Adams with his consistent game performance for the victory but called Barnes' play late in the fourth quarter the turning point.

"We were up by only a couple of points and Barnes came through with a three-point play. I knew we could do it from then on," Thorn said.

St. Louis had won three of the four previous games without Barnes, who had suffered a pulled muscle.

At game's end, Adams and Lewis each had 27 points, tying Utah's John Roche for game scoring honors. Barnes added 22 for the Spirits and Ron Boone aided the Utah cause with 25 points.

St. Louis held a 22-20 lead after one quarter, but Roche started driving to the basket in the second period. The spunky little guard put in 14 points in the quarter and the Stars moved to a five-point lead before Adams rallied the Spirits to a 53-52 halftime edge.

Boone and Roche sparked

Utah to a 72-63 lead in the third period, but Barnes and Lewis brought the Spirits right back so they led 83-78 going into the final stretch.

Utah's Randy Denton caught a Maurice Lucas elbow in the forehead on a rebound in the third period, touching off a row that cleared both benches and held up the game for five minutes until order was restored.

Denton left the game for repairs but was back in action in the last period.

The game was tied at 92 midway in the final quarter when the Spirits, led again by Adams and Barnes, moved to a 102-94 margin and held on for the victory.

Pate Deadlocked For Lead In PGA Qualifying School

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Jerry Pate, 1974 U.S. PRO Sandy Galbraith for the lead today going into the third round of the PGA Fall Qualifying School.

Pate, 22, fired a three-under-par 69 in Tuesday's second round to tie Galbraith, 30, of Huntington Beach, Calif.

Galbraith shot a 71 for a two-round total of 139, five under par. He was tied for third at 88 with three other players after Monday's opener.

The two leaders are competing with 173 others for tournament-playing privileges for next year.

Andy Bean of Lakeland, Fla., and Bobby Strobe of New Albany, Ga., co-leaders at 87 after the first round, both slipped. Strobe shot a 75 and was in seventh at 142. Bean was one behind with nine others after flaring to a 76.

Alone in third at 140 was Jimmy Whittenberg, a Memphis pro who as a rookie on the 1975 PGA tour had his player's card lifted because of poor performance.

He fired a 68 Tuesday to go with his first-round 72.

Rempe Captures Nine-Ball Title

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — Jim Rempe, Scranton, Pa., defeated Richie Ambrose of Detroit 11-6 Sunday for $10,000 and first place in the World Nine-Ball pool tournament at Memorial Auditorium.

Rempe defeated Mike Carella, Miami, 11-8 to gain the winners' bracket berth in the finale.

Skowneski Is Named Top Back

From Associated Press

For the third time this season, Wayne State Quarterback Ed Skowneski has been named the Great Lakes Conference Back-of-the-Week.

Dennis Dermeyer, a defensive end for Grand Valley State, received the Lineman-of-the-Week honors.

Skowneski, a senior, scored the tying touchdown and set up the winning score with a 47-yard run in Wayne State's 17-13

victory over Northwest Institute. The Tartars had to win the game to remain in contention for the conference title.

Dermeyer, who received the award for a second time this year, made nine individual tackles, forced a fumble and recovered a fumble for Grand Valley against Northern Michigan. Eleventh-ranked Northern, in a come-from-behind effort, won the game, 21-17.

Rose Bowl Scramble In Pac-8

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Pacific-8 team with hopes of making it to the Rose Bowl probably will have to win the rest of its conference games — and may even then have to back up its claim with a slide rule.

There are, a Pac-8 official said Monday, 10 ways in which the race for the roses could end in a two-team tie. And there's a possibility of a five-way deadlock for the conference title.

The logjam came about when Southern Cal and UCLA, the favorites for the trip to Pasadena, both lost conference games Saturday. California, currently atop the Pac-8 with a 4-1 record, upset USC 28-14, while Washington toppled UCLA, 17-14.

USC, UCLA, Washington and Stanford are all just back of Cal with 3-1 marks.

California and UCLA now appear to have the best chance of earning the Rose Bowl berth, but a multi-team tie would benefit Southern California because the Trojans have won all their nonconference games.

The Bears of California meet Washington and Stanford in wrapping up their Pac-8 schedule. They'll probably be favored in both games and a pair of wins would almost clinch a Rose Bowl berth.

But California lost its conference game to UCLA, which could win the right to meet the Big Ten champion by beating Oregon, Oregon State and USC. The Bruins' victory over Cal would be decisive in that case even if the two teams finished with 6-1 records.

An undisputed Pac-8 winner automatically goes to the Rose Bowl, but in case of a tie, the selection process basically is, in this order: The winner of head-to-head competition gets the bid; if that doesn't settle it, the team with the best overall record gets the bid; Finally, if a deadlock still exists, the team which has not played in the Rose Bowl in the longest time gets the bid.

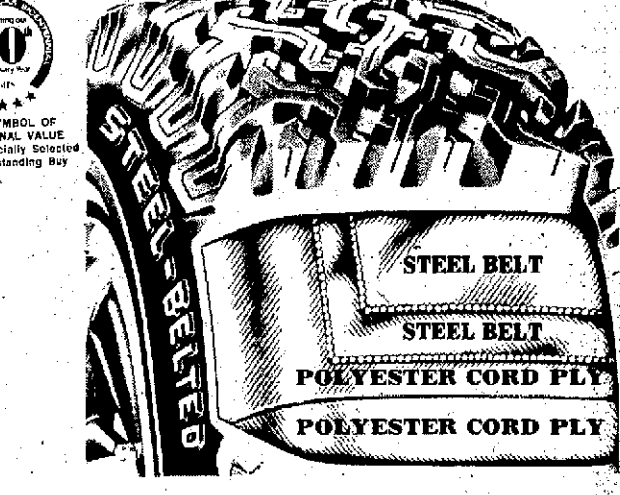

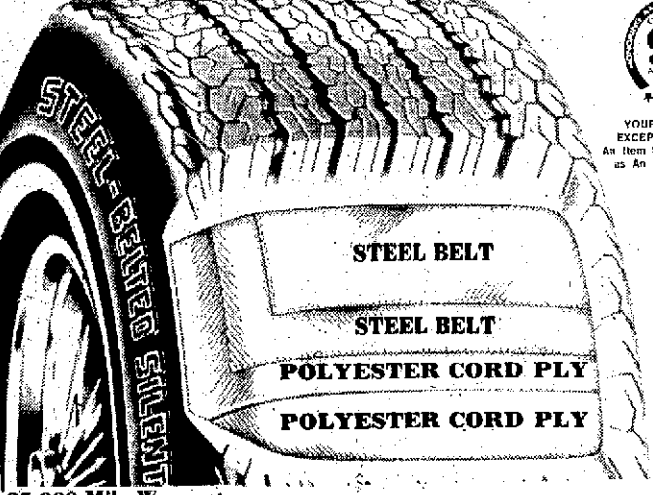

The last option will, however, not be needed this season. If the race ends in a five-way tie, USC goes to Pasadena because the Trojans would have a 9-2 record with its four nonconference wins. No other team could match that.

USC, the defending Rose Bowl champion, could go undefeated the rest of the season and still not earn a Rose Bowl bid because of last week's loss to Cal. If Cal should win its two remaining Pac-8 games, including the finale against Stanford Nov. 22, it would eliminate the Trojans, who don't play UCLA until Nov. 28.

GB Off To Worst Start; Starr Wary Of 'Weak' Clubs

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — It will be one of the most painfully recalled and least revered milestones in their glorious 56-year history, but the Green Bay Packers' 1-6 record represents their worst National Football League start ever.

Even the 1958 team, which fashioned a 1-10-1 record the year before Vince Lombardi became coach and general manager and turned the franchise around, managed a 1-5-1 start. The 1922 team lost its first four games, then played two scoreless ties before beating Columbus 3-0.

Defensive tackle Mike McCoy, sharing the widely held belief the worst of the Packers' 1975 schedule is over, believes things can only improve. Coach Bart Starr says the improvement process has continued all season, but is wary of the rest of the schedule.

"We're coming through what may be the toughest three weeks in Packer history — at least in the six years I've been here," McCoy said. "But at least we've held our ground. We've played good enough to be 3-0 against those teams, and that's got to be encouraging."

McCoy referred to the 19-17 upset of Dallas two weeks ago, the 16-13 loss to Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh the next week and Sunday's 28-17 defeat by Minnesota. The Packers led 17-14 in the last quarter before two touchdown passes by Fran Tarkenton and three intercepted passes kept the Vikings' record perfect.

"Now we've got teams like the Bears and Giants coming along," he said. "We'll win our share."

Indeed, the second half schedule includes two games with the Chicago Bears and one each with Detroit, the New York Giants and Atlanta, all seemingly in Green Bay's class. The Packers play at Chicago next Sunday.

"I'm not looking at it that way at all. I think it would be a mistake," Starr said.

"We'll be playing teams which have played seven games themselves and have shown improvement, just as we have," he said. "They will be playing with a lot of determination."

"Detroit is a great example," he said. "They knocked off the 49ers Sunday with a patched up lineup, and that really showed me something. The Bears have a lot of good performers who are quite capable of putting something together, as you saw against Minnesota last week. Playing down in Chicago will be real tough."

"Our approach simply is that the first half is over and we have a very poor record," Starr said. "Pride — both personal and as a team — will be a very big factor in the second half. We haven't put a tag on wins and losses, except in terms of what we can salvage in our remaining games."

Trio Leads Spirits To Victory

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Spirits of St. Louis made it five straight Tuesday night with Don Adams, Freddie Lewis and Marvin Barnes combining for 76 points in a 115-110 American Basketball Association victory over the Utah Stars.

There were no other ABA games scheduled.

Spirits' Coach Rod Thorn credited, in part, Adams with his consistent game performance for the victory but called Barnes' play late in the fourth quarter the turning point.

"We were up by only a couple of points and Barnes came through with a three-point play. I knew we could do it from then on," Thorn said. St. Louis had won three of the four previous games without Barnes, who had suffered a pulled muscle.

At game's end, Adams and Lewis each had 27 points, tying Utah's John Roche for game scoring honors. Barnes added 22 for the Spirits and Ron Boone aided the Utah cause with 25 points.

St. Louis held a 22-20 lead after one quarter, but Roche started driving to the basket in the second period. The spunky little guard put in 14 points in the quarter and the Stars moved to a five-point lead before Adams rallied the Spirits to a 53-52 halftime edge.

Boone and Roche sparked

Utah to a 72-63 lead in the third period, but Barnes and Lewis brought the Spirits right back so they led 83-78 going into the final stretch.

Utah's Randy Denton caught a Maurice Lucas elbow in the forehead on a rebound in the third period, touching off a row that cleared both benches and held up the game for five minutes until order was restored.

Denton left the game for repairs but was back in action in the last period.

The game was tied at 92 midway in the final quarter when the Spirits, led again by Adams and Barnes, moved to a 102-94 margin and held on for the victory.

Pate Deadlocked For Lead In PGA Qualifying School

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Jerry Pate, 1974 U.S. PRO Sandy Galbraith for the lead today going into the third round of the PGA Fall Qualifying School.

Pate, 22, fired a three-under-par 69 in Tuesday's second round to tie Galbraith, 30, of Huntington Beach, Calif.

Galbraith shot a 71 for a two-round total of 139, five under par. He was tied for third at 68 with three other players after Monday's opener.

The two leaders are competing with 173 others for tournament-playing privileges for next year.

Andy Bean of Lakeland, Fla., and Bobby Strobe of New Albany, Ga., co-leaders at 67 after the first round, both slipped. Strobe shot a 75 and was in seventh at 142. Bean was one behind with nine others after flaring to a 76.

Alone in third at 140 was Jimmy Whittenberg, a Memphis pro who as a rookie on the 1975 PGA tour had his player's card lifted because of poor performance.

He fired a 68 Tuesday to go with his first-round 72.

Rempe Captures Nine-Ball Title

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — Jim Rempe, Scranton, Pa., defeated Richie Ambrose of Detroit 11-6 Sunday for $10,000 and first place in the World Nine-Ball pool tournament at Memorial Auditorium.

Rempe defeated Mike Carella, Miami, 11-8 to gain the winners' bracket berth in the finale.

Ambrose rose from the losers' bracket by defeating Steve Mizerak, Metuchen, N.J., 11-10 and Carella, 11-6.

Flint Dominates Stats

DETROIT (AP) — The Flint Generals, first in the North Division of the International Hockey League, continue to dominate league statistics in the still-young season.

Flint's Kirk Bowman, a 23-year-old center, remains atop the scoring list with 18 points in nine games. He has seven goals and 11 assists. Teammate Clyde Simon and Port Huron's Len Fontaine are second with 12 points.

Bernie Germain of Flint is the top netminder with a 2.25 goals-against average in eight games.

Ian MacPhee of Toledo has the most goals, collecting eight in seven games.

Skowneski Is Named Top Back

From Associated Press
For the third time this season, Wayne State Quarterback Ed Skowneski has been named the Great Lakes Conference Back-of-the-Week. Dennis Dermier, a defensive end for Grand Valley State, received the Lineman-of-the-Week honors.

Skowneski, a senior, scored the tying touchdown and set up the winning score with a 47-yard run in Wayne State's 17-13 victory over Northwood Institute. The Tartars had to win the game to remain in contention for the conference title.

Dermier, who received the award for a second time this year, made nine individual tackles, forced a fumble and recovered a fumble for Grand Valley against Northern Michigan. Eleventh-ranked Northern, in a come-from-behind effort, won the game, 21-17.

Rose Bowl Scramble In Pac-8

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Pacific-8 team with hopes of making it to the Rose Bowl probably will have to win the rest of its conference games — and may even then have to back up its claim with a slide rule.

There are, a Pac-8 official said Monday, 10 ways in which the race for the roses could end in a two-team tie. And there's a possibility of a five-way deadlock for the conference title.

The logjam came about when Southern Cal and UCLA, the favorites for the trip to Pasadena, both lost conference games Saturday. California, currently atop the Pac-8 with a 4-1 record, upset USC 28-14, while Washington toppled UCLA, 17-14.

USC, UCLA, Washington and Stanford are all just back of Cal with 3-1 marks.

California and UCLA now appear to have the best chance of earning the Rose Bowl berth, but a multi-team tie would benefit Southern California because the Trojans have won all their nonconference games.

The Bears of California meet Washington and Stanford in wrapping up their Pac-8 schedule. They'll probably be favored in both games and a pair of wins would almost clinch a Rose Bowl berth.

But California lost its conference game to UCLA, which could win the right to meet the Big Ten champion by beating Oregon, Oregon State and USC. The Bruins' victory over Cal even if the two teams finished with 6-1 records.

An undisputed Pac-8 winner automatically goes to the Rose Bowl, but in case of a tie, the selection process basically is, in this order: The winner of head-to-head competition gets the bid; If that doesn't settle it, the team with the best overall record gets the bid; Finally, if a deadlock still exists, the team which has not played in the Rose Bowl in the longest time gets the bid.

The last option will, however, not be needed this season. If the race ends in a five-way tie, USC goes to Pasadena because the Trojans would have a 9-2 record with its four nonconference wins. No other team could match that.

USC, the defending Rose Bowl champion, could go undefeated the rest of the season and still not earn a Rose Bowl bid because of last week's loss to Cal. If Cal should win its two remaining Pac-8 games, including the finale against Stanford Nov. 22, it would eliminate the Trojans, who don't play UCLA until Nov. 28.

Ford Called An 'Accessory'

DETROIT (AP) — President Ford's continued support of the Warren Commission report, which he helped write, will emerge as a damaging issue in the 1976 campaign, says critic Mark Lane. Lane, author of "Rush to Judgment," which attacks the commission's performance more than a decade ago, said Ford's signature on the report makes him "in the most technical sense, guilty of being an accessory after the fact in the murder of John F. Kennedy." Lane reported his oft-stated charges that evidence was destroyed and concealed by the FBI and the commission, which concluded 11 years ago that President Kennedy was shot by a lone assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald.

Math Teacher Betting His Life

ROCHESTER, Mich. (AP) — An unemployed mathematics professor says he's betting his life that a hunger strike will get him a job. Avigdor Zaromp began his hunger strike Oct. 20 as a means of drawing attention to his desperate fight to find work. He insists he will eat again only when he has found a job in mathematics, a field in which he held a doctoral degree from the University of Pennsylvania. Zaromp has not held a fulltime teaching position since he lost his job at Oakland in 1972 because of staff cutbacks.

Ford's four-day stay in Peking will start Dec. 1. He plans stops in The Philippines and Indonesia on the way home.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Continue Upswing

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pressed ahead today, building on Tuesday's technical upswing.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up a fraction, and gainers outpaced losers by about a 5-2 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said the market appeared to have put aside its worries over the prospect of a possible financial default by New York City.

New York Gov. Hugh Carey said enough funds had been found for the city to meet obligations that come due a week from Friday. He warned, however, that "Dec. 1 is the date beyond which we cannot stretch at this time."

Meanwhile, analysts were predicting a further downturn in the bank prime lending rate as a cut from 7 1/2 to 7 1/4 per cent in the basic rate on corporate loans continued to spread.

Today's early prices included: Whirlpool, unchanged at 27; McDonald's, up 1/4 at 53; C.R. Bard, up 1/4 at 13 1/2; and Pillsbury, up 1/4 at 29 1/2.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average gained 4.41 to 830.33.

Advancing issues outpaced declines by about a 4-3 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index rose .22 to 48.78.

CBS Again Top Dog In Ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS' "All in the Family," bumped from its perch atop the ratings pole only twice in seven weeks this season, was right back on top last week, according to A.C. Nielsen Co. estimates.

The Nielsen audience count, made public Tuesday, contained good news for CBS, whose programs accounted for half of the 20 most-watched evening shows on TV in the week ending Nov. 2, according to the ratings.

But the Nielsen had bad news for "Barney's Funtastic" and "Mobile One," two low-rated programs ABC permanently shifted to new evenings last week in hope the switch might increase their audiences. It didn't.

The two series again wound up among the week's lowest-rated programs, according to Nielsen estimates.

According to the ratings, the 20 most-popular shows last week were "All in the Family" and "Phyllis" (both CBS); "Sanford and Son" (NBC); "Charlie Brown Special," "Rhoda," "Maude," "The Waltons" and "The French Connection" (all CBS); "The Rockies," "Six Million Dollar Man" and "Marcus Welby" (all ABC); "Good Times" (CBS); "Little House on the Prairie" (NBC); "Starsky and Hutch" (ABC); "Perry Como Special" (CBS); "Chico and the Man" (NBC); "ABC Sunday Night Movie"; "ABC Friday Night Movie"; "NFL Monday Night Football" (ABC); and "Mary Tyler Moore" (CBS).

MARKET MOVES TO SLASH TAXES

This has been a roller-coaster year in stock and bond markets — millions of taxpayers chalking up both exhilarating gains and chilling losses. To get maximum tax benefits from whatever good or bad record you have made, you must act within the remaining weeks before 1975 ends.

The tax basics are: If you sell securities you've held for more than six months, your realized gain or loss is long-term. If you've held the securities for six months or less, gain or loss is short-term. To find out how you stand on your '75 transactions: — Add up your '75 long-term gains and your '75 long-term losses plus long-term loss carryovers from '74 or earlier. But long-term gains qualify for special tax treatment. You have a choice: either half your long-term gain is taxed at your regular tax rate, or the first $50,000 is taxed at 25 per cent — and half of any excess is taxed at your regular rate.

Excess losses that can't be used to offset ordinary income this year can be carried over and deducted next year.

Bainbridge Planners Will Meet

Carlyle Eber, chairman of the Bainbridge township planning commission, announced the commission will meet Monday, Nov. 10 at 7:30 p.m., at the Bainbridge township hall to act on recommending approval of the township's new zoning ordinance. Eber said the meeting had been originally slated for Nov. 17, but has been changed to accommodate all commission members.

Sadat Ends U.S. Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat wraps up his 10-day state visit with a conciliatory speech to a joint meeting of Congress and a last pitch to President Ford for long-range U.S. arms commitments. Steering clear of the Zionist issue, Sadat is to tell the legislators today that Jews have been able to live in peace in Arab lands for centuries and that "obstacles" should not be put in the path of strengthened U.S.-Egyptian relations. Diplomatic sources said it was unlikely that Sadat would win more than a promise of further weapons consideration from Ford at their win-dup meeting at the White House at dusk.

Spain Beefs Up Patrols

EL ALAIUN, Spanish Sahara (AP) — The Spanish army increased border patrols today as Moroccan officials vowed to go ahead with the march of 350,000 unarmed civilians into the Spanish Sahara following the failure of negotiations in Madrid. Most of the troops stationed in the territorial capital have been sent north toward the Moroccan border to repel the Moroccan marchers gathered in Tarfaya, 18 miles north of the border. Moroccan Premier Ahmed Osman, who left Madrid after meeting with Prince Juan Carlos, the acting Spanish chief of state, and other officials, said King Hassan II would start the march Thursday as scheduled.

Peron On Way Out?

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Isabel Peron appeared today to be on the way out as demands for her resignation increased, and she was reported to have lost the backing of the labor movement, her last power base. In an obvious attempt to rally labor behind her, the 44-year-old president authorized a 20 per cent general wage increase to offset some of the effects of the country's raging 300-per-cent inflation. But labor leaders had demanded 40 per cent, and businessmen said even 20 per cent would damage the badly battered economy further.

Panel OK Seen On Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee expects to give final approval Thursday to legislation that extends this year's income tax reductions but that liberals claim fails to make enough tax revisions. A major item in the bill is a $12.7 billion plan to continue some 1975 personal income tax cuts into 1976. This amounts to an added $2.6 billion tax cut next year compared with the tax cuts already in effect this year. The current tax cuts expire at the end of 1975. The committee is scheduled to give its formal approval to the bill Thursday with the goal of getting the legislation to the full House later this month.

Koehring Names Controller Aide

MILWAUKEE — Henry J. Vandermuse has been appointed assistant corporate controller for Koehring company, John J. Hinnendael, controller announced today.

Vandermuse, 46, who started with Koehring in 1956, has been director of budgets and operational planning since 1972. Koehring company is parent firm of Benton Harbor engineering.

Lawton Hears Budget

LAWTON — The Lawton school board presented a budget for the 1975-76 school year of $1,361,669 at a public budget hearing last night.

No action was taken on the budget because it was the same budget approved at the board's October meeting, said Supt. George Dannecker.

Board members had hoped to be able to add an additional $58,520 to the budget last night, but a 1.5-mill levy was defeated Monday by school district voters. If that levy had been approved, Dannecker said the school board could have expected the additional revenue from the levy and increased state aid.

The budget includes a sum of $539,969 to be spent on salaries for the district's 41 classroom teachers, $599,337 to be spent on support services, and $222,363 to be spent in other areas.

The district's levy for the 1975-76 school year will be 23.58 mills for operations and an additional 7.03 mills for debt retirement.

Dannecker said that despite the defeat Monday of the 1.5-mill levy, there would be no immediate change in the district's programs.

The teachers have not reached an agreement on a contract for the 1975-76 school year and are being paid at last year's salary rates.

The size of the expenditure over the budget depends on the negotiations, said Dannecker, and he predicted it would be about $58,000. Of that amount, he said $30,000 would go for new teacher salaries and another $28,000 would be spent on transportation and operations.

The Lawton Education association will meet with the school board Thursday night to resume contract negotiations, he said.

TODAY'S WEATHER MAP: Mild, pleasant weather is forecast Wednesday for most of the nation. Showers are forecast from the Florida Panhandle to Indiana and Ohio and showers are also expected in the Northwest. (AP Wirephoto Map)

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Plan Solid Growth Program For Baby Lingers

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. How would you invest $150 a month for a baby? How about a savings account (long-term certificates at high rates)? How would you invest $208 a month for a 40-year-old?

A. Believe it or not — I don't think there should be too much difference between the two programs.

Certainly the goals are the same: long-term capital growth, with little concern for current income. The baby couldn't care less, and a 40-year-old with $200 a month to invest obviously doesn't need more current income. (I assume, of course, that he already has a healthy savings account.)

So — the answer for both would be the same: solid, well-established growth stocks (such as on the list your stamped, self-addressed envelope is bringing you); unless, of course, you know enough about a young, speculative company to justify your putting some money into it.

Q. I'm trying to guide an elderly man with a few shares of Merck. Should he sell out? He's reluctant because he recalls the stock selling at above 100.

A. About the last thing I want to do is to try to guess where a top quality (A plus) glamour stock is headed. Merck has enjoyed what Moody's Handbook calls "an exemplary growth trend." There can be no debate about its outstanding position in the ethical drug business. Over the last decade alone, its earnings have risen almost four-fold and its dividend (never — as would be expected — generous) has more than doubled.

At a recent price of seventy-six and a half, you wouldn't buy or even hold the stock for its $1.40 dividend (a yield of 1.83 per cent. It's highest yield in the last 10 years was 2.1 per cent). You would buy (or hold) it in hopes that Merck will continue to display the sensational strength which carried it up from $10 a share in 1960.

In all these years the stock has sold at a high times-earnings multiple — as high as 38 times in 1972, under 30 times in 1970 and at a market price of seventy-six and a half, with $3.20 estimated earnings for this year, at a current only 23.9 times earnings.

I'm telling you nothing new when I say that high p.e. glamour stocks have been out of favor recently. Since we accept the premise that Merck is a fine drug company, all you have to decide now is:

When will stock market enthusiasm once more put price-earnings multiples at 30 and above? And your guess is as good as mine.

Q. I am in charge of a $2,000 trust fund for employees of a small firm. How can I keep it 100 per cent safe, immediately available and still maximize interest?

Let's be practical. How much can you benefit your fellow employees by boosting the money's earnings above the five and a quarter per cent you can get with complete safety and liquidity? $15 a year, $20 a year, $25?

And even if you were able to buy two long-term corporate bonds yielding 9 per cent? What if you had to sell out at a moment's notice in a higher interest rate market?

Discretion being the better part of valor, one solid vote for the savings bank account.

Q. Please send me information on short-term tax-exempt and on where to find "cash equivalent" funds.

A. A short-term tax-exempt is merely a municipal bond which has a maturity only a few years off — 3, 4, 5 years.

By "cash equivalent" I assume you mean the latest group of money funds, mutuals which invest in short-term money market instruments — Treasury bills, bankers' acceptances, certificates of deposit, etc. You can get a listing of these money market funds by writing to the No-Load Mutual Fund Association, 475 Park Ave. South, New York City, 10016.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Continue Upswing

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pressed ahead today, building on Tuesday's technical upswing.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up a fraction, and gainers outpaced losers by about a 5-2 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said the market appeared to have put aside its worries over the prospect of a possible financial default by New York City.

New York Gov. Hugh Carey said enough funds had been found for the city to meet obligations that come due a week from Friday. He warned, however, that "Dec. 1 is the date beyond which we cannot stretch at this time."

Meanwhile, analysts were predicting a further downtrend in the bank prime lending rate as a cut from 7 1/4 to 7 1/2 per cent in the basic rate on corporate loans continued to spread.

Today's early prices included Whirlpool, unchanged at 27; McDonald's, up 1/2 at 53; C.R. Bard, up 1/4 at 13 1/2; and Pittston, up 1/4 at 29 1/2.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average gained 4.41 to 830.13.

Advancing issues outpaced declines by about a 4-3 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index rose 22 to 46.78.

Big Board volume remained light at 11.57 million shares, with many banks across the country closed for Election Day.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index slipped .06 to 82.59.

CBS Again Top Dog In Ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS' "All in the Family," bumped from its perch atop the ratings pole only twice in seven weeks this season, was right back on top last week, according to A.C. Nielsen Co. estimates.

The Nielsen audience count, made public Tuesday, contained good news for CBS, whose programs accounted for half of the 20 most-watched evening shows on TV in the week ending Nov. 2, according to the ratings.

But the Nielsen had bad news for "Barney Coast" and "Mobile One," two low-rated programs ABC permanently shifted to new evenings last week in hope the switch might increase their audiences. It didn't.

The two series again wound up among the week's lowest-rated programs, according to Nielsen estimates.

According to the ratings, the 20 most-popular shows last week were "All in the Family" and "Phyllis" (both CBS); "Sanford and Son" (NBC); "Charlie Brown Special," "Rhoda," "Maude," "The Waltons" and "The French Connection" (all CBS); "The Rookies," "Six Million Dollar Man" and "Marcus Welby" (all ABC); "Good Times" (CBS); "Little House on the Prairie" (NBC); "Starsky and Hutch" (ABC); "Perry Como Special" (CBS); "Chico and the Man" (NBC); "ABC Sunday Night Movie"; "ABC Friday Night Movie"; "NFL Monday Night Football" (ABC); and "Mary Tyler Moore" (CBS).

MARKET MOVES TO SLASH TAXES

This has been a roller-coaster year in stock and bond markets — millions of taxpayers chalking up both exhilarating gains and chilling losses. To get maximum tax benefits from whatever good or bad record you have made, you must act within the remaining weeks before 1975 ends.

The tax basics are: if you sell securities you've held for more than six months, your realized gain or loss is long-term. If you've held the securities for six months or less, gain or loss is short-term. To find out how you stand on your '75 transactions:

— Add up your '75 long-term gains and your '75 long-term losses plus long-term loss carryovers from '74 or earlier. Balance out to get your net long-term gain or loss.

— Go through the same procedure with your '75 short-term gains, short-term losses and any loss carryovers to find your net short-term gain or loss.

— Compare the net long-term total with the net short-term total. If you show a gain in both categories, treat them separately. The short-term gains are taxed as ordinary income. But long-term gains qualify for special tax treatment. You have a choice: either half your long-term gain is taxed at your regular tax rate, or the first $50,000 is taxed at 25 per cent — and half of any excess is taxed at your regular rate.

— If you have net gain in one category and net loss in the other, offset them. Treat the result as whatever it is — a long-term gain or short-term loss (or loss). If the result is a short-term loss, you can use it to offset up to $1,000 of ordinary income. If it's a net long-term loss, it can be used against $1,000 of ordinary income only on a $2-of-loss-for-$1-of-income basis. Excess losses that can't be used to offset ordinary income this year can be carried over and deducted next year.

— If you wind up with both net short-term and long-term losses, deduct the short-term losses first. If you still haven't reached the $1,000 ceiling, deduct the long-term losses on a $2-for-$1 basis up to the limit. Carry over any excess to next year.

With these basics fully in mind, consider the following situations and Prentice-Hall's advice on the best tax strategy:

(1) You have actual net gains, but you own stocks you want to sell, some with long-term paper losses, some with short-term. If you have no loss carryovers to use in 1975, take your current losses up to 100 per cent of your actual gains — using long-term first. The result: you have tax-free gain and you have made the maximum use of your long-term losses, especially if you used them to offset highly taxed short-term gain. While you may want to take an extra $1,000 of short-term losses to offset ordinary income, don't take long-term losses in excess of your gains because it will take $2,000 of loss to offset $1,000 of ordinary income.

(2) You have an actual net loss and you're holding both long and short-term paper gains. Take your gains up to the amount of the loss, short-term first. The result: your gains are tax-free and you've taken advantage of your losses by offsetting them first against short-term gains.

(3) You have only paper gains and losses, up to now. If you make no market moves during the rest of '75, your securities investments will play no part in your '75 tax picture. If you have year-end transactions, apply the rules above. But try not to end up with a net long-term loss.

Key date to keep in mind: Dec. 23, the last day in 1975 you can sell listed stock the "regular way" and have any gain taxes this year. For deducting losses in 1975, Dec. 31 is the final sale date.

Another factor in your decision, Prentice-Hall stresses, is the possibility that a new tax reform law may lower the tax on capital gains, effective in 1976. This might tip your decision in favor of postponing your gain so it will be taxed next year.

Diplomatic sources said it was unlikely that Sadat would win more than a promise of further weapons consideration from Ford at their wind-up meeting at the White House at dusk.

Spain Beefs Up Patrols

EL AAIJUN, Spanish Sahara (AP) — The Spanish army increased border patrols today as Moroccan officials vowed to go ahead with the march of 350,000 unarmed civilians into the Spanish Sahara following the failure of negotiations in Madrid. Most of the troops stationed in the territorial capital have been sent north toward the Moroccan border to repel the Moroccan marchers gathered in Tarfaya, 18 miles north of the border. Moroccan Premier Ahmed Osman, who left Madrid after meeting with Prince Juan Carlos, the acting Spanish chief of state, and other officials, said King Hassan II would start the march Thursday as scheduled.

Peron On Way Out?

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Isabel Peron appeared today to be on the way out as demands for her resignation increased, and she was reported to have lost the backing of the labor movement, her last power base. In an obvious attempt to rally labor behind her, the 44-year-old president authorized a 20 per cent general wage increase to offset some of the effects of the country's raging 300-per-cent inflation. But labor leaders had demanded 40 per cent, and businessmen said even 20 per cent would damage the badly battered economy further.

Panel OK Seen On Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee expects to give final approval Thursday to legislation that extends this year's income tax reductions but that liberals claim fails to make enough tax revisions. A major item in the bill is a $12.7 billion plan to continue some 1975 personal income tax cuts into 1976. This amounts to an added $2.6 billion tax cut next year compared with the tax cuts already in effect this year. The current tax cuts expire at the end of 1975. The committee is scheduled to give its formal approval to the bill Thursday with the goal of getting the legislation to the full House later this month.

Koehring Names Controller Aide

MILWAUKEE — Henry J. Vandermause has been appointed assistant corporate controller for Koehring company, John J. Hinendael, controller announced today.

Vandermause, 46, who started with Koehring in 1956, has been director of budgets and operational planning since 1972. Koehring company is parent firm of Benton Harbor engineering.

Lawton Hears Budget

LAWTON — The Lawton school board presented a budget for the 1975-76 school year of $1,361,669 at a public budget hearing last night.

No action was taken on the budget because it was the same budget approved at the board's October meeting, said Supt. George Dannecker.

Board members had hoped to be able to add an additional $58,520 to the budget last night, but a 1.5-mill levy was defeated Monday by school district voters. If that levy had been approved, Dannecker said the school board could have expected the additional revenue from the levy and increased state aid.

The budget includes a sum of $539,969 to be spent on salaries for the district's 41 classroom teachers. $599,337 to be spent on support services, and $222,363 to be spent in other areas.

The district's levy for the 1975-76 school year will be 23.58 mills for operations and an additional 7.03 mills for debt retirement.

Dannecker said that despite the defeat Monday of the 1.5-mill levy, there would be no immediate change in the district's programs.

The teachers have not reached an agreement on a contract for the 1975-76 school year and are being paid at last year's salary rates.

The size of the expenditure over the budget depends on the negotiations, said Dannecker, and he predicted it would be about $58,000. Of that amount, he said $30,000 would go for new teacher salaries and another $28,000 would be spent on transportation and operations.

The Lawton Education association will meet with the school board Thursday night to resume contract negotiations, he said.

TODAY'S WEATHER MAP: Mild, pleasant weather is forecast Wednesday for most of the nation. Showers are forecast from the Florida Panhandle to Indiana and Ohio and showers are also expected in the Northwest. (AP Wirephoto Map)

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Plan Solid Growth Program For Baby Lingers

By SAM SHULSKY
Q. How would you invest $150 a month for a baby? How about a savings account (long-term certificates at high rates)? How would you invest $200 a month for a 40-year-old?

A. Believe it or not — I don't think there should be too much difference between the two programs.

Certainly the goals are the same: long-term capital growth, with little concern for current income. The baby couldn't care less, and a 40-year-old with $200 a month to invest obviously doesn't need more current income. (I assume, of course, that he already has a healthy savings account.)

So — the answer for both would be the same: solid, well-established growth stocks (such as on the list your stamped, self-addressed envelope is bringing you); unless, of course, you know enough about a young, speculative company to justify your putting some money into it.

Q. I'm trying to guide an elderly man with a few shares of Merck. Should he sell out? He's reluctant because he recalls the stock selling at above 100.

A. About the last thing I want to do is to try to guess where a top quality (A plus) glamour stock is headed. Merck has enjoyed what Moody's Handbook calls "an exemplary growth trend." There can be no debate about its outstanding position in the ethical drug business. Over the last decade alone, its earnings have risen almost four-fold and its dividend (never — as would be expected — generous) has more than doubled.

At a recent price of seventy-six and a half, you wouldn't buy or even hold the stock for its $1.40 dividend (a yield of 1.83 per cent. It's highest yield in the last 10 years was 2.1 per cent). You would buy (or hold) it in hopes that Merck will continue to display the sensational strength which carried it up from $10 a share in 1960.

In all these years the stock has sold at a high times-earnings multiple — as high as 38 times in 1972, under 30 times in 1970 and at a market price of seventy-six and a half, with $3.20 estimated earnings for this year, at a current only 23.9 times earnings.

I'm telling you nothing new when I say that high p-e glamour stocks have been out of favor recently. Since we accept the premise that Merck is a fine drug company, all you have to decide now is:

When will stock market enthusiasm once more put price-earnings multiples at 30 and above? And your guess is as good as mine.

Q. I am in charge of a $2,000 trust fund for employees of a small firm. How can I keep it 100 per cent safe, immediately available and still maximize interest?

Let's be practical. How much can you benefit your fellow employees by boosting the money's earnings above the five and a quarter per cent you can get with complete safety and liquidity? $15 a year, $20 a year, $25?

And even if you were able to buy two long-term corporate bonds yielding 9 per cent? What if you had to sell out at a moment's notice in a higher interest rate market?

Discretion being the better part of valor, one solid vote for the savings bank account.

Q. Please send me information on short-term tax-exempts and on where to find "cash equivalent" funds.

A. A short-term tax-exempt is merely a municipal bond which has a maturity only a few years off — 3, 4, 5 years.

By "cash equivalent" I assume you mean the latest group of money funds, mutuals which invest in short-term money market instruments — Treasury bills, bankers' acceptances, certificates of deposit, etc. You can get a listing of these money market funds by writing to the No-Load Mutual Fund Association, 475 Park Ave. South, New York City, 10016.

Victim's Wife Facing Charge After Stabbing

A 21-year-old Benton Harbor woman was arrested Tuesday on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon after her husband received a minor stab wound in the leg, city police said.

It was one of two stabbings

Lawson told police he would not sign a complaint after a 12:30 p.m. incident at his home.

Two Benton Harbor juvenile boys were charged with vandalism Tuesday after a rock was reported thrown at a Benton Harbor school bus, breaking a rear window, city police reported.

Ruby Carpenter, the bus driver, told police the bus was near the intersection of Highland avenue and Oden street about 5:10 p.m. when the incident occurred. She was able to apprehend one boy. A second youth was later brought to the police station, police indicated.

The boys, aged 10 and 12, were turned over to the custody of a guardian pending petitioning to juvenile court.

Benton township police said Tuesday an unknown amount of record albums and pre-recorded tapes and $20 in cash were reported stolen from Avery's Record shop, 1069 East Main street.

Shop owner Forest Avery told police the records and tapes had just arrived and estimated their value at more than $500.

In another theft reported to Benton township police, thieves jacked up a semi-trailer and stole 11 tires and wheels, valued at more than $2,200. The trailer was parked in a lot in the 2300 block of Plaza drive, the same lot where four trucks were reportedly broken into Monday and $1,700 in valuables taken, mostly citizens' band radios. Owner of the trailer was not identified.

Kissinger: Nobody's Told Me I'm Out As Secretary

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today he has had no discussion with President Ford or anyone in the administration about giving up his job as secretary of state.

Asked to respond to reports that Ambassador Elliot Richardson is being groomed to succeed him, Kissinger said with a chuckle: "Certainly, nobody has told me."

Growing serious, Kissinger added: "I have had no discussion of any kind about leaving, with the President or with anyone in the administration. I can't answer for anyone else, but at least I can assure you that certainly nobody has told me that."

"I have had no discussions of any kind with the President or anyone."

At the White House, Deputy Press Secretary William Greener denied the reports that Richardson was being brought back to the United States in a move that eventually would put him in the State Department job.

"There isn't any opening and there isn't any anticipated," Greener declared.

Ford, in reshuffling his cabinet this week, announced he was bringing Richardson home from London, where he has been the ambassador to Britain, to head the Commerce Department. Richardson is a former under secretary of state.

Kissinger, meanwhile, relinquished his job as head of the National Security Council, which he has held since 1969. He remains secretary of state, which he has been since September, 1973.

Kissinger has given no apparent indication to intimates that he will not continue in the post at least through the 1976 presidential elections. However, at one point last year, when he became embroiled in a wiretapping controversy, he publicly threatened to quit unless his name was cleared. The controversy eventually subsided.

While emphasizing today in a telephone interview that he has not discussed quitting with Ford or with anyone else in the administration, Kissinger did leave himself a slight out.

"I don't want to nail myself to a position that I might want to change six months or two years from now," Kissinger said.

When he finally leaves office, Kissinger is known to be planning to move to New York to possibly teach and write.

In London, Richardson told reporters Tuesday that he had long ago made up his mind never to make plans for himself which depended on "a whole lot of contingencies beyond my control."

He added: "I do not spend much time thinking of next month or next year."

'Goof' Jeopardizes 9,000 Jobs

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The jobs of about 9,000 Army employees at installations in 11 states are in jeopardy because of an inadvertent omission in a House-passed bill.

Some congressmen who voted for the bill are now lobbying in the Senate to get it changed to provide money for the jobs, several congressional sources said.

The accidental omission of $65 million for the jobs at Army equipment maintenance facilities came in the defense appropriations bill passed overwhelmingly by the House on Oct. 2.

The congressmen lobbying in the Senate represent districts affected by the accidental cuts, the sources said. These congressmen are not speaking out publicly on the issue because they don't want their constituents to know they voted to eliminate jobs in their own districts, the sources said.

"The best solution would be for the Senate to quietly put the money back into the bill," one congressional aide said.

"Due to an error by the House committee staff four lines were dropped on page 138 of the bill and no one noticed at the time. There was no intention to drop the money from the bill," another congressional aide said.

"It was a lengthy, tedious bill and somebody just made a mistake. Then the error just got by everybody and the bill breezed through the committee and breezed through the House."

Later, the Army discovered the omission and notified the congressmen representing the affected districts, who started contacting senators.

The bill now is awaiting action by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Police Roundup

reported in Benton Harbor.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Doris Hill, 160 Catalpa avenue. Police said her husband, Charles, 25, declined medical treatment after an incident at their home about 6 p.m.

Police also reported Leroy Lawson, 64, of 718 Buss avenue, was treated for a stab wound in his shoulder and released from Mercy hospital.

Cuts Supplies

NEW YORK (AP) — The continuing strike by paper mill workers in Canada has cut into the newsprint supplies of U.S. newspapers, but their levels are still at a record high, industry observers say.

The strike over higher wages and fringe benefits has closed about 24 mills, which account for 52 per cent of Canada's newsprint production. Canadian mills supply about 65 per cent of the newsprint used in the United States.

Julie May Be Permanent TV Fixture After Trip To China

Q: I saw Julie Nixon Eisenhower when she replaced Barbara Walters on "Not for Women Only." Is she going to continue her television career? — S.A., Pittsburgh, Pa.

A: Julie is one Nixon who won't stay holed up in San Clemente. She is currently negotiating for a syndicated and-or network variety talk show following her return from a visit to China with husband, David Eisenhower.

Q: Is Russian author Alexander Solzhenitsyn a rich man now that he is living in the capitalist West? — O.J., San Diego, Calif.

A: He is generally considered to be at least a millionaire. "The Gulag Archipelago" is a world-wide best seller and the royalties for all his books are estimated to have totaled about $5 million. It is anticipated he will soon be picking up another million or so on his latest book, just published in Rome, which has been eagerly awaited and should bring fat contracts for national rights from every corner of the globe.

Q: I've written a great screenplay. What are my chances of getting to see it on film? — L.W., Elkhart, Ind.

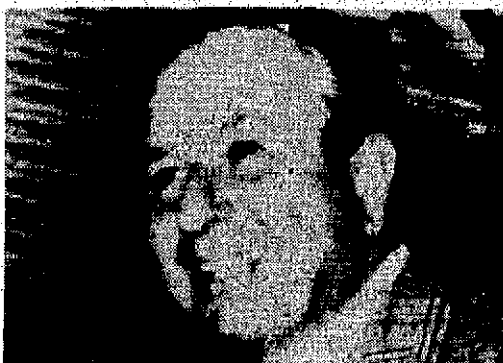

A: Frankly, not too good. It seems every writer wants to come up with the great American screenplay — more than 10,000 scripts are registered at the Screenwriters' Guild each year. Columbia Pictures chief David Begelman advises us his studio gets an average of 250 screenplays a month — even though the major studios combined make only about 100 films a year and the independent companies another 60.

Q: When articles on hit stars appear in the magazines, do the actors have any power over what is written? — V.N., Des Moines, Iowa.

A: Usually not, but if the star is big enough, sometimes editors will let them see and approve all quotes attributed to them. Recently, however, the Ladies Home Journal broke all precedent and gave a star the kind of OK-approval usually granted only to Presidents. Katharine Hepburn had quote approval, content approval, photo approval, caption approval and the right to cut out several pages of material about herself and Spencer Tracy.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: So why is lashing out at whom these days? Well, Hollywood is talking about that maverick moviemaker who seems to believe in the old adage that his wife should be struck regularly — like a gong. And he's known on screen as such a big peacemaker.

BEGELMAN: He gets 250 scripts a month.

Q: With all the current interest in mysticism and the occult, have they turned up any new proofs of extraordinary powers? — H.V., Rockford, Ill.

A: A Canadian researcher

JULIE: No San Clemente for her.

Ernesto Spinelli has come up with test results which suggest that very young children have a remarkable talent for mental telepathy. The youngsters studied picture cards bearing several images and tried to mentally transmit one of the pictures to another in their age group. Three-year-olds could accomplish this trick more than twice as often as chance would indicate. But as the ages increased the ability declined. Spinelli thinks that perhaps telepathic powers reside in primitive areas of the brain and are pushed aside as language ability comes forward.

Quiz: Some Hidden Reasons Behind Those Headaches

'The Silver Fox' And How He Made It

In the last decade we have lost faith in the American Dream, the Horatio Alger promise that hard-working individuals rose from rags-to-riches. Yet, success stories continue to fascinate us, particularly those involving "self-made" men and celebrities.

This week's cover story features one of those self-made men who's a star as well — country singer Charlie Rich. His sleek, distinguished looks have earned him the nickname, "The Silver Fox," but he's worked hard for 20 years to gain a national audience and reputation. Read about his bouts with alcoholism and his mercurial marriage.

Find out why he has never recovered from the death of his brother many years ago. One of the fastest-growing industries today is country music, so you won't want to miss this interview with one of its most intriguing personalities — the rich Mr. Rich.

Read it Saturday in Family Weekly, a regular feature of The Herald-Palladium.

Teen's Foot Mangled By Shark

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — A teen-ager whose foot was badly chewed by a 6-foot-long shark says he will paddle his surfboard back into the Atlantic Ocean as soon as his 30 or so stitches are taken out.

"I've seen sharks out there all the time, and I never thought they'd bother me," Scott Lee Hurst said Monday from his hospital bed. "But I'll go back out when my foot gets well."

Hurst, 18, from the inland city of San Mateo, said he was surfing at Crescent Beach south of here Sunday and was about 45 feet out in water when the shark lunged at him.

"I saw him out of the corner of my eye. He jumped out of the water, grabbed my foot and started pulling me backwards. I knew I had to stay on the board or else he'd get me."

"I grabbed for the board and kicked real hard. After I got my foot out of his mouth he made a big splash and went back down. I knew I had to get to shore."

"I was scared he was going to come back. My foot didn't bleed until I got in."

Friends rushed him to a nearby hospital, where doctors treated the 10-inch-deep gash.

Oble (Bill's Gay 90s) Dart says Adam had it easy keeping Eve happy. How often did she see a neighbor wearing a more expensive fig leaf?

Pei Sandwich of Frances (Pen & Pencil): Bruno: Steak slices (paper thin), Swiss cheese, lettuce and sharp mustard on thin toasted brown bread.

Joe Levine, tossing a party for the entire population of Deventer, Holland, which will be used to portray Arnheim in his film, "A Bridge Too Far," was told he'd be hust to 43,000 people? "When you get over 25,000," said Joe, "who's counting?"

Girl-Watching: Former model Barbara Carrera in "The Master Gun-fighter" (Her Carrera's taking off!). . . "Barry Lyndon,"

starring Ryan O'Neal, will be Warner Brothers' Christmas attraction. (Yule be glad to know!) . . . Helpful Hints: Two card tables with tape wound around the adjoining legs will provide a sizable buffet or dining table when required.

SMATTERING OF SIGNS: If bargaining with a Gemini, be on your toes — for he's a smart operator. Cancerians are apt to be more fickle than steady in love affairs before marriage — but once the vows are taken, it's "for keeps."

Capricorn mothers are always warning their children to be careful — they seem to be continually anticipating some harm. Unless an Aquarian has been taught to keep his word, he is likely to promise you the world, and never give another thought to it. When a Sagittarian is "running in luck," he is apt to be very lucky; conversely, when the tide changes, he is deluged with woes.

Teen's Foot Mangled By Shark

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — A teen-ager whose foot was badly chewed by a 6-foot-long shark says he will paddle his surfboard back into the Atlantic Ocean as soon as his 30 or so stitches are taken out.

"I've seen sharks out there all the time, and I never thought they'd bother me," Scott Lee Hurst said Monday from his hospital bed. "But I'll go back out when my foot gets well."

Hurst, 18, from the inland city of San Mateo, said he was surfing at Crescent Beach south of here Sunday and was about 45 feet out in water when the shark lunged at him.

"I saw him out of the corner of my eye. He jumped out of the water, grabbed my foot and started pulling me backwards. I knew I had to stay on the board or else he'd get me."

"I grabbed for the board and kicked real hard. After I got my foot out of his mouth he made a big splash and went back down. I knew I had to get to shore."

"I was scared he was going to come back. My foot didn't bleed until I got in."

NOW SEE HERE! By Bert Bacharach

FADED PHRASES: "They gave him the horse laugh." "He has rocks in his head" and "They made money hand-over-fist." . . . Bianchi & Margherita's restaurant makes women's lib happy. It also lists itself as Margherita's & Bianchi! . . . Obie (Bill's Gay 90s) Bart says Adam had it easy keeping Eve happy. How often did she see a neighbor wearing a more expensive fig leaf? . . . Pet Sandwich of Frances (Pen & Pencil) Bruno: Steak slices (paper thin), Swiss cheese, lettuce and sharp mustard on thin toasted brown bread. . . . Joe Levine, tossing a party for the entire population of Deventer, Holland, which will be used to portray Arnheim in his film, "A Bridge Too Far," was told he'd be host to 43,000 people? "When you get over 25,000," said Joe, "who's counting!" . . . Girl-Watching: Former model Barbara Carrera in "The Master Gun-fighter." (Her Carrera's taking off!). . . . "Barry Lyndon," starring Ryan O'Neal, will be Warner Brothers' Christmas attraction. (Yule be glad to know!). . . . Helpful Hints: Two card tables with tape wound around the adjoining legs will provide a sizable buffet or dining table when required.

SMATTERING OF SIGNS: If bargaining with a Geminian, be on your toes — for he's a smart operator. Cancerians are apt to be more fickle than steady in love affairs before marriage — but once the vows are taken, it's "for keeps." Capricorn mothers are always warning their children to be careful — they seem to be continually anticipating some harm. Unless an Aquarian has been taught to keep his word, he is likely to promise you the world, and never give another thought to it. When a Sagittarian is "running in luck," he is apt to be very lucky; conversely, when the tide changes, he is deluged with woes.

Three years old and still growing. The Michigan Lottery's 50¢ game.

The Michigan Lottery celebrates its third anniversary this month. Since it began in 1972, the Michigan Lottery has awarded over one million dollars per week in prizes—most of that to holders of 50-cent "green" tickets. The "green" game is still very popular, despite competition from other Michigan Lottery games.

Get a couple of "green" tickets this month and help us celebrate our birthday. Or play the "automatic" way for up to 52 weeks with a subscription in our "Chance of a Lifetime Club". Join as often as you like. Or sign up a friend for a Club membership. It's the perfect holiday gift. Maybe you, or a friend, will win your share of the $1,000,000 at stake each week.
